The Rev. Don Klarup prepares for Sunday's dedication of a new stone at the gravesite of the First United Methodist Church founder.

Methodists pay tribute to first church leader

By LISA GUTIERREZ
Argus Leader Staff

Members of the First United Methodist Church this weekend will mark the resting place of the Englishman who founded their church.

The church's founder, the Rev. Thomas Cuthbert, is buried in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. There, a new marble headstone tells part of the story of the circuit rider who traveled through the Dakota Territory, bringing the Methodist discipline.

From a handful of people, First United has grown to its current 2,300 membership. Cuthbert's pioneering spirit is alive today as the Methodist church continues to grow and expand its ministries, First United's pastor, the Rev. Don Klarup, said.

"I think it's just the spirit of commitment to Christ and the church that would prompt someone to be a pioneer in the church's ministry," Klarup said.

Cuthbert, born in Yorkshire, England, came to the United States in the late 1860s. He came ahead of his wife, Emily, and their two children, whom he left in England while he settled in. The Cuthberts eventually had six children.

"He came over just because he was missionary minded," Cuthbert's granddaughter, Emily "Nellie" Jones Brisbin of Medford, Wis., said. Her mother, Flora Belle Cuthbert Jones, was born in Canton, the first of the six born in the United States. "He came from a family of missionaries. He had a couple of nephews who went to Africa as missionaries."

When he got here, Cuthbert found wilderness. In a letter to his family, he wrote of the land where

"strawberries grew wild and people ate a broad leaf grass (lettuce) and liked it."

According to a church history composed by Nancy Veglahn, Cuthbert had been in the United States only two years before he came to the then-Dakota Territory. He was 41 when he settled a claim just across the Sioux River near the old fairgrounds east of Sioux Falls.

After preaching in Sioux Falls in the morning, he would ride an Indian pony named Jack to Canton and preach there the same evening. Other points on his circuit were Beloit, Hudson and Elk Point.

Cuthbert was a circuit rider, a preacher who would ride from settlement to settlement. Methodists were able to move with the frontiers because of the circuit riders and laymen who came with the homesteaders. Klarup said an old adage says that the circuit riders were there to greet the pioneers.

Brisbin said her grandfather did something similar in England, where she said he was a type of free-lance minister who would travel from village to village. She said he probably didn't have a church of his own in England.

But he started one in the new country, in the fall of 1871. Cuthbert organized First United's first congregation at the old Army barracks, officially known as Fort Dakota near the current Phillips Avenue and Fourth Street.

By this time Cuthbert had brought his family over from England. They settled in a home 2½ miles south of Sioux Falls. Cuthbert had been appointed pastor of the Sioux Falls circuit by the Des Moines conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

In an address given on the 75th anniversary of the church in 1947, Cuthbert's son, the Rev. A.R. Cuthbert, recalled some of the earlier days in the family's part dugout and part sod house. He described his father as a preacher who went to extremes to serve.

"During the following winter, Father was called to some distance west of Canton, S.D., to perform a marriage ceremony," he wrote. "The trip was made on a handmade sled from timber cut along the river — no box, just slabs to sit on. Father wore boots, and when his feet got cold he ran alongside the sled. The snow was a foot deep, and no trail broken.

He arrived in time for the wedding.

"Next morning the groom informed him he had no money but could give him a sack of Irish potatoes. These were accepted, and they were placed on the sled for a 25-mile trip home — the temperature being minus 25."

The Rev. Thomas Cuthbert died in 1905.

The headstone for Cuthbert's grave will be dedicated following the church's 10 a.m. service Sunday. A bronze medallion on the marble stone designates his as the grave of a pioneer in the Methodist church.

Discovery after nearly 2½ years of marriage that her husband had another wife led Monday to annulment proceedings being filed in district court by Mary E. Gayheart against Arnold Edward Gayheart.

Spooner Advocate ad for the J.W. Brisbin Saloon – at Walnut Avenue & River Street – “Wines, Liquors & Cigars.” From Spooner, Wisconsin: A History to 1930, by Sharon Tarr [undated, unpagged]

Obituary;

The death of John W. Brisbin, which occurred at his home in this city on Saturday, March 2, at 10:30 p.m., marks the passing of one of the very earliest settlers of this community, a man who watched this section develop from practically a wilderness into its present state.

Deceased came to this locality forty-three years ago, at a time when Spooner was unknown, the settlement then being at the Chandler Crossing, north of this city. It was through the efforts of men like he that a trail was blazed for later generations and that the community was built up into its present prosperous condition.

John Wilson Brisbin was born on a farm near Chicago, Ill., on October 23, 1855, being therefore 73 years of age at the time of passing. He spent the early years of his life in Illinois, moving to Iowa with his parents when a youth. He grew to young manhood there and was married to Francis Bicknese at Greene, Iowa, on March 7, 1877.

They came to this place in 1886, later moving onto a homestead sixteen miles west of Spooner, near what is known as Middle McKenzie Lake, spending a number of years there, and then returned to Spooner to establish a home and have resided here since.

Possessed of a cheery and friendly disposition, deceased was well known throughout the community and enjoyed the good-will of many friends and associates. During the past number of months he was confined to his home with illness, patiently awaiting the hour when he succumbed to the ravages of his ailment, cancer.

The funeral was held Monday of this week, at 2:00 p.m., from the Roberts Mortuary, Rev. Acker of the M. E. church conducting the last sad rites. Interment was made in the Spooner cemetery.

Surviving are the widow and one son, Frank, of this city, also two grandchildren. Two sons and two daughters preceded their father to the grave.

No sooner does the United States declare war in early April 1917 than Frank's mother Frances springs into action. In the 20 Apr 1917 Spooner (WI) Advocate, she suggests the women of Spooner organize to make bandages for soldiers and sailors.

Notes:

Wartime:

Charles F. Brisbin of Spooner, along with Lon Rhoades of Spooner and Frank G. Peterson of Shell Lake, enlisted in Captain John H. Holtz’s militia company in advance of being drafted, as reported in the Spooner (WI) Advocate of 6 Jul 1917. His enlistment date is given as 18 Jul 1917, on his Veterans Administration Military Index card. Brisbin & Peterson joined fellow Tuscania survivors Davis, Edwards, McCarty, Paulson and Taylor, who had enlisted earlier.

“Spooner Advocate” 15 Mar 1918, letter written 10 Feb 1918 from “somewhere in England” reports on his joyful reunion with fellow Spoonerite & Tuscania survivor, Frank Marino, whom he had heard was dead. “On the way over we had quite an experience so I suppose I can tell you all about it as the papers are full of it by now.” Torpedo hit after men went below after supper. All the lights went out. The men were ordered onto the top deck. “The men marched out to the deck in a grand style. Of course, lots lost their heads, but the majority took it rather cool.” - “Some of those that got excited and jumped over board were crushed between the life boats and the ship. But our boys stood fast on the boat and waited until our boats came down.” - “Every one that saw us leave thought we would turn over but we happened to get a bunch at the oars that were good, so we went alright.” Frank got on a lifeboat which carried 60 to 70 other men, nearly double its capacity. He had no hat or coat so decided to take his turn at an oar to keep warm. “But it was the longest and hardest row I ever had.” Picked up after 1 hour by torpedo boat, then relocated to a camp in Ireland. “I was lucky. I did not even get my feet wet, and I am alive and all right. The Kaiser hasn’t gotten us yet and isn’t going to. His first trial was a poor one,”. He lost everything he had & has not had a shave since, because his razor was one of the items lost. He had been anxious about the fate of Frank Marino, as everyone told Brisbin that Marino was dead. On the reverse side, however, Marino had been notified that Brisbin was dead. When Brisbin met Marino coming down the road, “Well it was like a couple of girls meeting.” In Ireland, the American soldiers were “used like kings, we were given every comfort they have.”

“Spoooner (WI) Advocate” 29 Mar 1918 – in a letter to his parents written Feb 1918, Frank asks them to send him lots of Prince Albert tobacco, which is scarce. Without any money as there has been no payday for a while, the payroll being lost when the ship sunk. He is eagerly awaiting payday as he needs that new razor and other items. The unit is quarantined due to the mumps some soldiers have, and he is rather bored, a hike being his only excitement. Lying around is getting old, and he is eager to drive a truck.

“Spoooner Advocate” 19 Apr 1918 - letter from Frank written in March from England. “The weather today is the nicest I have seen for over a year. It makes me feel as though I was back in dear old Wis.” He said if someone says it’s a good condition for an air raid, then it is a nice moonlit night. He does not yet know when or where he is destined to go. A reminder to parents: don’t forget to send as much American tobacco as they can.

A letter home to his parents written 3 Jun 1918, reports seeing aerial combat between a German and an American pilot, with the American pilot downing the enemy plane – and artillery fire bringing down another German plane. In a 23 Jun 1918, letter to his parents, he reported making the “quickest move I ever made in my life” when he fell flat on the floor because of an incoming shell.

His letter of 10 Jul 1918 says he has not slept for 3 days – and he caught himself falling asleep while driving. Driving must be done without the use of car lights. In a reference to the Tuscania, Frank assures his father that the Germans have now shot at him on sea and on land – and missed.

Frank’s daughter Charlene recalled that her father said he was pinned down while driving a supply truck & was without water. He and another soldier went to a nearby stream and took a drink, not realizing it was red with blood from men and animals. Although Frank immediately spat out the water, he found himself hospitalized for six months, suffering fever and reducing in weight to about 90 pounds. The other soldier swallowed the water – and died.

Post-war:

A mail carrier in Spooner before the war, he took a job as head motorman for Rick's truck line in Spooner in Jul 1919.

In Apr 1920, Frank, who had been working at the A.C.A. store in Spooner, was named manager of the Cumberland branch. He returned to the Spooner post office by Sep 1921 & was working there in 1926.

On 4 Jul 1919, when the American Legion is organized in Spooner – Engwald R. Moe Post No. 12 – Charles F. Brisbin is a charter member. The Veterans of Foreign Wars post – Dodge-Gilbertson-Carlson Post #1028 - is formed in Spooner on 29 Mar 1923 & he is a charter member. Nellie Brisbin, Frank's first wife, is a charter member of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 1028, formed 6 May 1933.

Charter member of the Spooner City Band in Aug 1919, along with fellow Tuscania survivors Frank Marino & Guy Paulson. He serves on the Washburn County Fair Association board of directors in the 1920s.

Frank returned to the Post Office. The 9 Sep 1921 Spooner (WI) Advocate announced that Frank Brisbin & fellow veteran Joe Butters had finished numbering the houses in Spooner and so would begin free mail delivery on 15 or 16 September 15 1921, with Frank and Joe as the mail carriers. Frank and Joe are thanked on the front page of the 25 Jan 1925 newspaper for their "commendable service" during the Christmas mail rush of 1924, delivering all packages with "extra good" service. This thanks is repeated for the 1926 Christmas rush.

Frank and Nellie build a new home on Hazel Street (8th Street) in Spooner WI in autumn 1922. He serves as a pallbearer for the funeral of World War I veteran, Vernon LaPage, who drowns along with his younger brother Louis William ("Billy") LaPage, in Shell Lake (Shell Lake, Washburn WI) while duck hunting 4 Nov 1923. Following the death of Frank's father John W. Brisbin in 1929, Frank and his family moved into his parents' home.

In early Aug 1919, Frank Brisbin along with fellow Tuscania survivors Frank Marino and Guy Paulson, became charter members of the Spooner City Band, a cornet band. Frank serves on the Washburn County Fair Association board of directors in the 1920s.

In Apr 1927, when a National Guard unit returned to Spooner after the absence of several years, Frank Brisbin became a sergeant. Among the Howitzer Company, Sergeant Brisbin ranks among the top in pistol firing in 1927. He is still a member in Feb 1931.

Frank is at National Guard training camp in 1927 when he receives news that his son Donald was born on 20 Jul 1927. Since he cannot wait to get home with the rest on the Saturday morning troop train, he leaves camp the night before, eager to see his new son. One of his camp duties: he and his "detail" had picked blueberries around Camp Douglas, to be made into pie by Mess Sergeant Nick Scalzo.

In 1929, following his father's death, Frank and his family moved into his parents' home.

Robert ("Bob") Ramsdell recalled that in July 1929, while he was still in high school, that postal employees Brisbin, Robert A. Cuthbert & Joseph J. Butters had to go to summer camp of the National Guard, so Bob was a substitute that summer for Butters. "The following year I subbed for Frank Brisbin." He served as a substitute until 1931, when Butters died. "His vacancy was then filled by Frank Brisbin."

As the supply sergeant of the Howitzer Company of the National Guard, Frank is kept busy outfitting the Howitzer Company men with new uniforms in 1929 - and busy teaching the National Guardsmen useful skills. "A suggestion, mothers" recommended the Spooner (WI) Advocate of 30 Jan 1930. "When son wants a button sewed on let him do it as Sgt. Brisbin has taught them how." In 1930, Frank is again responsible for making sure the troops go to camp with the correct clothing & equipment, and for handling it once the unit has returned home.

In 1929, Sergeant Frank Brisbin scores high in pistol firing in the National Guard Howitzer Company unit. In Oct 1929, he qualified as a sharpshooter. He seemed to use his good marksmanship in a duck-hunting expedition in Oct 1929, bagging 20 ducks along with his hunting partner, Herman Ganske.

During the 1930 federal inspection of the unit, Sergeant Brisbin receives a commendation for "the appearance and care of clothing, equipment and lockers."

The 16 Oct 1930 Spooner (WI) Advocate announced that Frank and Harry Davies had purchased from G.H. Ross the property formerly occupied by the Gardner Chevrolet Company on Railroad Avenue adjoining the Advocate office on the north; the building on this property had burned down several years earlier. Excavation work had started on a new 25-by-46-foot building. The new business of partners Brisbin and Davis would be a modern service station for tire sales and service; washing, polishing and painting cars; and a filling station selling gasoline and oil. Davies was Frank's brother-in-law, married to Nellie Jones Brisbin's younger sister, Fortense Lois (Jones) Davies.

Frank aids Sheriff J.J. Waggoner following the 13 Apr 1931 armed robbery of the Spooner State Bank by two Minneapolis men. When the duo flee the scene and head to Evergreen Township, Washburn Co. WI, Frank becomes part of the posse. One of the robbers is picked up by Frank and his companions while the wanted man is walking on the highway. The two robbers had conspired with the assistant bank cashier and two young men of Spooner, who were University of Minnesota students and part of a six-piece popular dance band in the area, to rob the bank.

Now a series of rapid changes occurs in Frank's life.

He reenlists in the National Guard in Feb 1931. He opens the new D & B Super Service Station along with partner Harry F. Davies in Mar 1931 – telephone number 95. But in early Jun 1931, he announces he is retiring from D & B, selling his share to partner Harry Davies. On 24 Jun 1931, Frank purchases the Arnes general store in Barronett, Barron WI, purchasing the stock and business from Matt Arnes. The Brisbin family moves to Barronett during the last days of June 1931.

Since he is leaving Spooner, Frank resigns from the Howitzer Company Wisconsin National Guard when he relocates. His fellow Spooner mail carrier, Joseph J. Butters, died unexpectedly on 15 Sep 1931, so there is likely an employment opening, as Frank returns to Spooner with his family on 18 Nov 1931 & he returns to his position at the Spooner post office. A manager is installed for his store at Barronett.

In late Jul 1932, Frank and his father-in-law L.J. Jones draw considerable interest when they launch their new sailboat on Spooner Lake, the first instance, or at least the first in many years, notes the newspaper, that someone has sailed on this lake.

In February 1933, Frank, Guy Paulson and Frank Marino head by car to Chicago for the fifteenth anniversary of the Tuscania's sinking and a reunion of survivors. "Bris" first entertained his traveling companions with fishing stories, then switched to hunting stories. Paulson, who said people know how he likes to talk, was unable to get a word in edgewise, as Bris told his stories and Marino challenged him at every opportunity.

Once in Chicago, the three Spoonerites phoned former Spoonerite and fellow survivor Harry ("Stub") Edwards, who invites them to stay the night with him or with his sister, Lillian Edwards Russell. The Edwards siblings live in Franklin Park, Illinois. After attending the reunion of Tuscania survivors, the three get to enjoy a Spooner reunion in Franklin Park with an Italian dinner at the Edwards home – and get to stay a few days longer because of a blizzard.

And his marriage to Nellie fails. Nellie registers for a divorce on 21 Mar 1934, which is granted 26 Aug 1936. By the time of her father's death on 31 Aug 1937, Nellie is listed in the obituary as Mrs. Nellie Brisbin, indicating she was no longer married.

"Spooner Advocate" of 16 Oct 1930 announced that Frank & his brother-in-law Harry Davies (married to his wife's sister) had purchased property on Railroad Ave. in Spooner to open Brisbin and Davis, an automobile service station. The D & B Super Service station opens in Mar 1931, but in Jun 1931 he sells his shares to his partner. On 24 Jun 1931 Frank purchases the Arnes general store in Barronett, Barron Co. WI, and his family moves there & Frank resigns from the National Guard. On 18 Nov 1931, Frank returns to Spooner with his family & resumes a position at the Spooner post office.

He leaves Spooner (and his wife & two children) in 1935, accompanied by Alvina Zandhuizen. The couple lives in Iowa.

The 1940 census lists Frank and “wife” Alvina farming and living in Williams township, Koochiching MN. The couple married 4 January 1942 in Beltrami County MN. During World War II, Frank and Alvina moved to Vanport City, Oregon, a “temporary” city near Portland, where they worked as pagers on Liberty ships at the Portland shipyards for three months. It was here in Vanport that their daughter, Charlene Ann Brisbin, was born 22 Oct 1944. The couple returned to farm in Clementson until Frank’s death in 1966.

Charles Franklin Brisbin died at his home south of Clementson, Minnesota, on Monday, 19 Jul 1966, having gotten ill in May 1966. His funeral was held in Clementson Lutheran Church on 21 Jul 1966 & he was buried in Clementson Community Cemetery in Lake of the Woods County, Minnesota, in Row 3, Lot 5. Clementson MN lies on the U.S.-Canadian border on the Rainy River.
