Washington Gives Out Names of Ones Not Lost on Transport.

Washington, Feb. 9.—At least one of the three Grand Rapids soldiers aboard the transport Tuscania, sunk Tuesday night by a German submarine, is known to have been saved.

Included in a list of several hundred survivors given out today by the war department is the name of Henry Brondyke, 312 Fourth-st., Grand Rapids, Mich.

The fact that Albert A. Battlinga and William W. Eaton, the other two Grand Rapids men listed as being on the transport, have not yet been announced as being survivors is no indication that they lost their lives, as the names are still streaming across the cables to Washington.

Not until the entire list is in will the war department be able to check up and determine those who gave up their lives in the cause of liberty.

William Schrader of Byron Center is among those rescued.

Paul J. Czrenahowski of Dorr, Mich., also is given in the list as being a survivor and a number of men from other cities and towns about the state likewise are included.

BUERMANN AND JOHNSON SAFE

Local Man Talks with Two Who Were Believed to Be on Tuscania.

George F. Cornell, 2009 Division-ay., S., who visited his son, a member of the Grand Rapids National Guard unit, at a camp in New Jersey this week, reported Friday that he talked with Lieut. Roy W. Johnson and Lieut. Cline S. Buermann as late as last Tuesday. He believes both men are still in the eastern camp.

Word from Washington Thursday night was to the effect that Warren Kusterer of this city, a member of headquarters company, 107th engineers and who also was believed to be on the Tuscania, was not listed among the Michigan men who sailed on that ship.

The names of Albert A. Bettinga and Henry Brondyke do not appear in the Grand Rapids city directory, neither is there any record of them at the local recruiting stations or at the War Aid bureau. Mrs. Agnes Brondyk, 855 Watkins-st., said Friday that she had a nephew, Henry, but had not heard from him in several years. It is believed both Bettinga and Brondyke enlisted in some other city and gave Grand Rapids as their home address.

HURLED TO DEATH BY TRAIN.

CHELSEA, Mich., Dec. 5.—While walking east on the west-bound track between this place and Francisco, at 6:45 yesterday morning, Henry Sager, aged 41, was struck by eastbound passenger train, No. 36, and instantly killed. No. 36 had crossed to the west-bound track to get by a wreck that blocked the eastbound track at Chelsea, and Sager evidently did not notice the train as he was not expecting it on that track. Sager was a clerk in Walz's store at Francisco, and is survived by a widow and seven children.

Two seven-branch candelabra held lighted pink tapers to illuminate the church and pink and white gladioluses banked the altar. Nosegays of pink and white flowers marked the pews.

Mrs. Helen T. Stoddard played traditional organ music. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

Her gown featured a portrait neckline with cowl collar inset with lace and the bodice formed a V at the waistline. Unpressed pleats of the skirt fell to ballerina length. She wore a three-strand pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom, and a pleated lace cloche to hold her fingertip length veil of nylon tulle. She carried a white Bible on which a white orchid was fastened.

Attendants Wear Pink

Barbara Harlow and LoWayne Kay were bridesmaids for their friend. They wore gowns identical to the bride's in pale pink. Each carried a nosegay of maroon daisies.

Robert Brondyke of Jackson was his brother's best man. Serving as ushers were Allen Harlow, Carl Shepard and Clyde Barnes, San Diego.

Melvin Brown, tenor, sang "O Promise Me," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" adapted to Sibelius' "Finlandia."

Man leaves pipe bombs in trunk of wife's car

By Troy Guthrie
The Republic

Three pipe bombs found in a car's trunk Friday probably wouldn't have gone off in the trunk, but police estimated the pipe bombs were the equivalent of six hand grenades.

The bombs were not related to any militant cause, police said. It is believed the car's owner made them out of curiosity and didn't realize how dangerous they could be or how illegal his actions were.

Michael Kleinhenz, 28, of Hope admitted to Bartholomew County Sheriff's Department that he made the pipe bombs of various lengths from a few inches to about 10 inches long.

Illegal to make, possess
Making, possessing or hurling a bomb is a federal offense, said Sgt. Greg Duke, the sheriff's department detective working the case. Paperwork has been given to Bartholomew County prosecutor's office, and Kleinhenz is facing federal charges. He wasn't incarcerated Friday.

The charges will be determined by the prosecutor's office, Duke said.

Kleinhenz told police he made the Pyrodex black powder-filled bombs, unsuccessfully tried to detonate one in a creek and then put them in his trunk. His wife drove his car Friday and brought it to Midas because she believed the brakes didn't work properly.

A frightening find

Midas technicians opened the trunk to get a tool for removing the car's wheels and noticed galvanized steel tubes that looked like pipe bombs, Duke said.

Ron Brondyke, the shop's manager, called Maj. Kenny Whipker, the department's chief deputy and an acquaintance of Brondyke's, to see if the description sounded like pipe bombs. Whipker confirmed Brondyke's suspicions and officers headed toward Midas, Duke said.

Kleinhenz's wife had left the shop, and she was stopped by county and Columbus police officers at 25th Street and Hawcreek Boulevard. Besides the pipe bombs, extra containers of black powder and fuse and the remaining portion of a cloth for packing the powder in the pipe bombs were found in the trunk.

Bartholomew County Sheriff's Department seized three pipe bombs constructed by Michael Kleinhenz, 28, of Hope Friday afternoon.

*BOMBS

Capt. Steve Shireman, the sheriff's department's trained bomb technician, determined the pipe bombs weren't likely to go off without lighting the fuses because they would require more jostling than simply riding in the car.

No agenda behind bombs

When questioning determined Kleinhenz's wife knew nothing about the pipe bombs, police contacted him at work in Greensburg. Kleinhenz came home for questioning and consented to a search of his home, Duke said.

No other explosive materials were found.

"He cooperated fully with us and he told us he wasn't unhappy about anything and planning to use the pipe bombs for any political agenda or anything like that," Duke said. "He was just tinkering, experimenting. After it didn't go off in the creek, he got it out and just put them in the trunk."

Kept safe

Shireman put the pipe bombs in an approved secured container later Friday. They will remain there until they are safely detonated, he said.

The largest of the three devices would probably carry a punch comparable to three hand grenades, Shireman said. The other two pipe bombs likely had the blast power of a total of three more grenades, he said.

Black powder is highly volatile, but it can be purchased at several stores that sell hunting and firearm supplies, Duke said.

Although the powder is easy to obtain and small amounts used in ammo for hunting isn't as dangerous, it isn't anything to take lightly.

Bad memories

The incidents aren't related but the situation reminded police of another bomb found nearly two years ago against the outside of Bartholomew County Courthouse. The courthouse bomb remains the sheriff's department's biggest unsolved criminal case, Duke said.

That bomb — high-explosive tolex encased in PVC plastic pipe — was found in late September 1996 against the building's east side. It was mistaken for a tool being used by construction crews.

Bomb experts from Marion County Sheriff's Department countercharged the bomb and deactivated it on the courthouse lawn.

A device that was believed to be a manufactured explosive was also found a month earlier than the courthouse bomb at the post office. The item was ruled a fake.
