Spotlight shines on 25 longtime couples

The Colonial Manor Civic Club in New Port Richey, Fla., recently honored 25 couples who have been married for 50 years or longer.

The length of marriages ranged from 50 years to 64 years. Frances and I were among the honorees, having been married 59 years.

The couples were the guests of honor at the club's annual Sweet-heart Party.

The Goldtones, an instrumental and vocal group of 25 women

Huron Happenings
Paul Soini

from nearby Palm Harbor, performed such favorites as "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Baby Face," "Yes, Sir, That's my Baby," and "Alexander's Rag-time Band."

Maurice W. Roach, a friend from my Port Huron boyhood days, died Feb. 7 after a long illness.

Maurice and I were classmates from 1918 to 1923 at Washington School and Port Huron High School.

We continued our friendship after our school years, meeting from time to time in Port Huron and occasionally in Bad Axe.

When Maurice was inducted in 1983 into the Port Huron Sports Hall of Fame as a star basketball player, I attended the ceremony.

Two members of my graduating class at Port Huron High School also have died.

Fletcher P. Meade died Jan. 20 in Concord, Calif., after a long illness and Selina Harbaugh Wonderlic died in December in Baltimore, Md.

There are about 30 of the 100-member Class of 1923 still living.

Lynch Got Sentence.

Mathew J. Lynch was arrested in Port Huron by Police Captain Collins on a charge of printing, publishing and distributing obscene literature manifestly tending to the corruption of the morals of youths. Lynch pleaded guilty in the circuit court before Judge Law who sentenced him to one year in the Detroit House of Correction. Lynch never had any steady means of employment. After the Labor Leader, which he published for a time, became extinct, he interested himself in matters pertaining to labor organization. He later embarked in the printing business in the employ of C. E. Patterson and was engaged as a distributor and solicitor for the Standard Publishing Co. at the time of his arrest.

This is the man, who with another fellow named McPherson, a discharged employee of the Sanilac Sugar Refining Co., of Croswell, went around to the beet growers trying to negotiate with them for so-called claims against the Sugar Company which never materialized.

1958 divorce from Stanley Bailey – “Lansing (MI) State Journal” Wednesday 10 Sep 1958 p 2

The broken limbs on the pine trees above lean in the direction of the tornado which crippled the trees and stripped Lyman Bailey's home of its windows, part of its roof and many of its shingles. At right is Bailey and a side view of his home, the sky still dark and threatening above them.

Olivet families will rebuild

'Not the end of the world'

By HELEN CLEGG
Staff Writer

OLIVET—He sat on a downed tree, calmly eating from a paper plate and sipping coffee. Beside him was a flatbed truck loaded with four diesel tractors — all on their sides.

Behind Norm Heddon, at 6457 McDonald Rd., was a house that had fallen in, an upside down car and a trailer in pieces in the swamp. Yet seven people in his family survived Saturday's tornado — with little more than scratches, cuts and bruises. Two are hospitalized.

"This isn't the end of the world," he said. "We'll keep right on living. Without a doubt I'll rebuild right here. We've got the well and septic tank here; you have to go from what you have left. There won't be enough insurance but it will help."

Lying by the rubble apparently unhurt, Laddie was still guarding his heap of a home while several men worked with chain saws. A new tractor and the house roof and a fence were somewhat damaged.

"After seeing some people down the road, we are awful lucky," said Mrs. Shoemaker.

THAT SEEMED to be the attitude of most people Sunday. They would stand by their badly damaged houses or outbuildings and point down the road to someone else worse off.

Neola Bailey, 5115 Marshall Rd., and her husband, Lyman, ran Bailey's Foster Care Home for six aged men. When she tried to close the door, the wind threw her against something in the kitchen and broke her arm. The house is unlivable.

A deputy sheriff living nearby took her and one injured man to the Charlotte hospital; the rest were transferred to the Eaton County Medical Care Facility.
