HIS WAR COMRADES WILL CARRY COFFIN

"Buddies" of John J. Trapp, thirty-eight, native of Flushing, who narrowly missed death together when the liner Tuscania, carrying their outfit, the 213th Aero Squadron, to France, was sunk by a German submarine off Ireland, January 24, 1918, will act as pallbearers at his funeral tomorrow.

The Flushing man's death yesterday in the Naval Hospital, Brooklyn, after a long illness with heart trouble, recalls the sinking of the Tuscania, and the narrow escape of a number of Flushing men in the outfit, who swam and floated about on the ocean for hours before being picked up by other ships.

Mr. Trapp was thirty-eight and a son of Mrs. Alice Trapp and the late George Trapp, well-known Flushing lawyer. He leaves a wife and two children. During the last five years he was employed by the Franklin Auto Company in Syracuse, N. Y.

He was a member of William A. Leonard Post, American Legion, Flushing. Besides his mother, wife and children, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Joseph McLaughlin.

The funeral will take place from Mrs. McLaughlin's home, 142-30 Roosevelt avenue, Flushing, at 3 p. m. tomorrow, with the Rev. George F. Taylor, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment in Flushing Cemetery will be directed by William C. Williams.

The pallbearers will be Commander Anthony Abarro of the Legion post, Lester McKenna, David Lowres and Lawrence Doyle.

Members of the post will attend a service at 8 o'clock tonight in Mrs. McLaughlin's home.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR JOHN J. TRAPP

Flushing Comrades Pay Final Tribute to Tuscania Hero.

Several of his comrades who were with him on board the transport Tuscania when it was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland on Jan. 24, 1918, paid final tribute yesterday to John J. Trapp, 33, of Flushing, who died Thursday in the Naval Hospital, Brooklyn, of heart trouble.

Trapp and his associates, all of them residents of Flushing, were members of the 213th Aero Squadron and were on their way to England when their transport was sunk.

Funeral services for Trapp were conducted yesterday in the home of his sister, Mrs. Joseph McLaughlin, 142-38 Roosevelt ave., Flushing, by Rev. George Ferrand Taylor, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Flushing. Members of William A. Leonard Post, A. 4., of Flushing, led by their commander, Anthony Abarne, attended the services and also the burial in Flushing Cemetery, where a firing squad of regular U. S. Army soldiers from Fort Schuyler fired the salute over the grave and a bugler sounded taps.

The Rev. Peter C. Schroeder chaplain of Leonard Post and of the American Legion in Queens, conducted the Legion services at the McLaughlin home Friday night and also at the grave yesterday.

The other Flushing young men who were with Trapp on the Tuscania when it was sunk were Anthony Abarne, Lawrence Dovie, David Lowrie, Lester McKenna, William Clabby, Richard F. Outcault, jr., son of the originator of Buster Brown cartoons; Joseph Crawford and Lawrence Smith.

Trapp was born in Flushing and was a son of the late George Trapp, who conducted a wheelwright business there. His uncle, the late John J. Trapp, was a well known lawyer in Queens. For five years Trapp lived in Syracuse, where he was connected with the Franklin Automobile Company. He leaves his wife, two children, his mother and one sister.

New York Men Aboard Tuscania

John J. Trapp, private, Mrs. George Trapp, mother, 197 Amity Street, Flushing, N. Y.

"New York Tribune" Friday 8 Feb 1918 p 2

Among the first men reported safe were five out of the score of Brooklynites on board. They were Sergeant E. G. Dubuque, Sergeant George O. Muller, Sergeant Washington G. Davies, Corporal John F. Eberhard, Jr., and Alvin J. Cook. Long Island men who cabled news of their arrival at Irish ports were Robert Blumberg, of Jamaica, John J. Trapp, of Flushing, and Douglas J. East, of Mineola.

"Brooklyn Times Union" Friday 8 Feb 1918 p 1

The parents of ten well-known young men of Flushing are awaiting word from the Government as to whether or not their sons were on the torpedoed transport Tuscania. The young men enlisted in the 213th Aero Squadron at Mineola several weeks ago and it was reported by some of the parents yesterday that they had sailed for France two weeks ago. No word has been received by any of the parents as yet. The 213th Aero Squadron was one of the units that was sent to France on the Tuscania. The young men from here who joined that unit are Edward Duffy, Lawrence Smith, Lawrence Doyle, David Lowerre, Anthony Abarno, Richard Clabby, John Trapp, Lester J. McKenna, Joseph Crawford and Richard Cutcault, jr., son of the noted cartoonist.

A cablegram received at five o'clock yesterday by George Trapp, of 197 Amity street, Flushing, from his son, John J. Trapp, leads the parents of the Flushing boys, who were on board the torpedoed transport Tuscania, to believe that they have arrived safely at some English port. Young Trapp's cablegram read: "Arrived safe. Trapp." It was dated February 6. The home of Mr. Trapp was visited last night by the parents of nine other Flushing boys, who enlisted in the 213th Aero Squadron about six weeks ago. Ten of the boys left Flushing at the same time and it is believed that they sailed about January 23.

A large number of those who have cabled their safety are members of the 213th Aero Corps. Among them are Charles Ambler, son of Mrs. Lillian Outhouse, State Road, Ossining; Private Harold R. Stevenson, son of Harry Stevenson, Sea Cliff, N. Y.; Private Frederick R. Rathgeber, of 180 Purdy Street, Long Island City, formerly employed by Steinway & Sons, who is twenty-six years old, and was a Boy Scout master before he enlisted; Private Harold Conklin, son of George M. Conklin, of Oyster Bay; Corporal John F. Eberhard, twenty-two, of 247 St. Nicholas Avenue, Brooklyn; Corporal Henry J. Shaw, son of Mrs. Clara B. Shaw, of Mineola; Private William S. Mackintosh, son of William B. Mackintosh, of New Rochelle; Private Walter C. Friedman, twenty-two years old, of 737 Lexington Avenue, formerly a taxi driver and an amateur pugilist known as "Battling" Friedman; Lawrence Bedrosian, son of Christian Bedrosian, of White Plains; Private John J. Trapp, son of Mrs. George Trapp, of 197 Amity Street, Flushing; Private Robert Blumberg, son of Mrs. Rae Blumberg, of 63 Allen Street, Jamaica, and Private Wynne E. Abel, twenty-four, who worked for his father at 196 Duane Street.

John J. Trapp of Flushing Rescued From Tuscania

Flushing, March 4.—John J. Trapp, who was one of the twelve Flushing boys on board the torpedoed troopship Tuscania, pays his respects to Fritz and his undersea boats in a letter to his mother, Mrs. George Trapp, of Amity street. Trapp, who is a member of the 213th Aero Squadron, was the first Flushing boy to be accounted for following the disaster.

"Just a few lines to let you know that I am safe on land somewhere in Ireland," writes Trapp. "We sure did have some experience. You know Fritz with his undersea boats is something terrible. Well, all you could hear on the boat before he got us was the old saying, 'don't let him see you.' At about 5:45 P. M. he saw us and we got it and he got us right. Well, I was in a lifeboat for two and a half hours before we were picked up, and then we were brought to a little town in dear old Ireland where we were taken care of. We were the first Yanks to reach Ireland and we got a fine reception. I lost all my clothes.

"We are going to leave Ireland today, but I don't know where we're going. I think the rest of the Flushing boys are in a different camp. There is only one of the other boys here with me now and he is Clabby. I guess I will see the rest of them today if they were saved.

"All the papers over here were full of the news and if I can send the piece from the paper I will do so. I sure thought we were gone, but God was with us and we were saved, and believe me, we know we are in a war now."

"Wife" Helen Hadden – annulled

Double Elopement and Wedding.

Two daughters of Col. Archibald Hadden of Bayside, Borough of Queens, ran away to Weehawken a week ago yesterday and were married by Justice of the Peace Farrell. The announcement of the double elopement came from John J. Trapp, who married Miss Helen Hadden. His chum, Edward J. Duffy, married Miss Florence Hadden. The latter pair were married first, with the first pair acting as witnesses. The newly married Duffys then acted as witnesses to the Trapp wedding.

"A FRAME UP," SAYS MRS. TRAPP'S FATHER

Bayside Woman Is Held in
$2,000 Bail on Pocket
Picking Charge.

HER MAID IS ALSO HELD.

Archie Hadden Declares That New York Police Are Persecuting Him.

Mrs. Helen Trapp of Bayside and her colored maid, Mary Crawley, were held for the Grand Jury by Magistrate Fitch in the Flushing police Court yesterday afternoon, charged with picking the pocket of Mrs. Carmelo Jiammello, an Italian grocer of 142 Washington street, Flushing. According to the Jiammello woman Mrs. Trapp and her maid called at her place of business in a large automobile. She asked for something on a shelf in the rear of the counter and while the Jiammello woman was getting it, she claims that Mrs. Trapp put her hand in her pocket and took $15. She then left the store and with the colored woman jumped in the automobile and went away.

Mrs. Jiammello managed to get the number of the automobile and notified the police, who discovered that the machine was registered in the name of Helen Hadden. This is Mrs. Trapp's maiden name, the police claim.

Eugene N. L. Young, who represented the two defendants, refused to put them on the stand, after Mrs. Jiammello had told her story. Mrs. Trapp was held under $2,000 bail, while bail in the colored woman's case was fixed at $1,000.

After the bail had been furnished by a security company Mrs. Trapp started from the courthouse with her father and maid. As they entered their automobile a man, who said he was a detective attached to the Brooklyn Central Office, stopped Mrs. Trapp and informed her that she was the woman he had been looking for.

"This is a frameup," said Archie Hadden, the father of the Trapp woman. "The police are trying to put my entire family in jail."

After considerable discussion Mrs. Trapp consented to accompany the detective to the 169th Precinct, Brooklyn.

During the discussion with the detective Hadden referred to the testimony given several days ago by several stool pigeons who were examined by Assistant District Attorney Smith of Manhattan, in the police perjury cases now being prosecuted by District Attorney Swann. These stool pigeons told of an alleged plot on the part of some detectives to murder Hadden, who was for years proprietor of the German Village, a Manhattan resort which was closed about a year ago by the police. Hadden lives at Bayside.

Mrs. Izzo Fails to Identify Her in Court.

When Mrs. Rose Izzo, the complainant against Mrs. Helen Trapp, daughter of Archie Hadden, who had brought about the arrest of Mrs. Trapp and her negro maid, Mary Cawley, on a charge of grand larceny, failed to identify the defendants in a "line up" at the Coney Island Court this morning, Magistrate Reynolds discharged them.

Mrs. Izzo charged that on July 13, 1915, Mrs. Trapp entered her grocery store at 2865 West Sixteenth street, and while her husband was waiting on a negro customer, stole $400 from a pocket in her skirt.

MRS. TRAPP'S MAID ACCUSED

Employer Declares She Stole
Diamonds Worth $5,000.

Mrs. Helen Trapp, daughter of Archie Hadden of Warburton avenue, Bayside, who was arrested twice last week, charged with picking pockets, appeared yesterday before Magistrate Fitch in the Flushing police court against her negro maid, Mary Crawley. She accused her of stealing diamonds valued at $5,000. The maid was held in $1,000 bail for examination on Thursday.

The maid was arrested with Mrs. Trapp on the two occasions she was placed under arrest. On one of the charges they are awaiting the action of the Grand Jury in Queens while on the other they were discharged.

MRS. TRAPP AGAIN TRIES TO GET HER MAID FREE

Mrs. Helen Hadden Trapp, of Bay-side, daughter of "Archie" Hadden, failed for the second time yesterday in an effort to secure the release of her former colored maid, Mary Crawley, now locked up in the Queens jail at Long Island City. The maid is held on two charges, under $1,000 bail in each case, for the Grand Jury, following examination before Magistrate Fitch.

Mrs. Trapp and the maid were held a week ago on a charge of being implicated in the loss of a bank roll by an Italian grocer named Carmeno Jaemmalli. Both were released on bail secured by Mrs. Trapp's father.

Two days ago Mrs. Trapp made a charge against her maid of having stolen her jewels, and after the maid was held by Magistrate Fitch, she attempted to withdraw the charge. Yesterday she appeared before District Attorney O'Leary in Long Island City, and offered a surety company bond for the release of the maid. District Attorney O'Leary refused to agree.

MRS. TRAPP CAN'T GET BAIL.

But Judge Humphrey Extends Period of Grace to Saturday.

Long Island City, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Helen Hadden Trapp, of Bayside, and her attorney, Eugene N. L. Young, were unable yesterday to secure bail for Mrs. Trapp in the sum of $5,000 on the grand larceny indictment returned by the Queens Grand Jury. Judge Humphrey last Saturday had fixed yesterday as the time when the bail had to be forthcoming. During the afternoon, with the consent of District Attorney O'Leary, Judge Humphrey fixed next Saturday as the date when the bail would have to be given in order to preserve Mrs. Trapp from incarceration in the Queens jail.

"Brooklyn Times Union" Tuesday 1 Aug 1916 p 8

Mrs. Trapp at Last Freed.

Judge Humphrey Holds Special Session and Accepts $5,000 Surety Bond.

Long Island City, Aug. 11.—County Judge Humphrey convened a session of his court yesterday to consider an application for bail made by Mrs. Helen Hadden Trapp, of Bayside, who has been indicted for grand larceny on a charge of taking a pocketbook and money from Carmella Jamelli, a grocer of Washington street, Flushing. At the request of District Attorney O'Leary, when Mrs. Trapp was arraigned two weeks ago, Judge Humphrey fixed bail at $5,000. Mrs. Trapp was then granted additional time to get bail, and obtained a second adjournment last Saturday.

Yesterday Mrs. Trapp appeared in court with her attorney, Eugene N. L. Young, and presented a bond of the National Surety Company. This bond was acceptable to District Attorney O'Leary and Judge Humphrey and Mrs. Trapp was at last liberated.

District Attorney O'Leary said the trial of Mrs. Trapp would be held the latter part of September or first part of October. A principal witness will be Mrs. Trapp's colored maid, Mary Crawley, who is now held in the Queens jail, having been unable to obtain $5,000 bail.

O'LEARY ANNOUNCES FIRST TRIALS OF FALL TERM

District Attorney Denis O'Leary completed yesterday the preparation of the calendar for the first day of the fall term in Judge Humphrey's court, which will be Monday, Sept. 11. On that day four defendants will be called for trial—Helen Hadden Trapp, of Flushing, charged with stealing $14 from an Italian grocer's wife in Flushing; Philip Smith, colored, of 29 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, Manhattan, charged with cutting Lacey Nelson, also colored; Salvino Parno, charged with cutting and attempting to rob Louis J. Meyers, of 160 Bleecker street, Manhattan, in the woods, near Hollis, and Harry Everding, of 14 Hallett street, Astoria, charged with having stolen plumbing and gas fixtures from a house under the care of Peter A. Leininger, of 30 Cooper street, Long Island City.

MRS. HELEN TRAPP'S TRIAL SET DOWN FOR OCTOBER

District Attorney Dennis O'Leary yesterday placed the trial of Helen Hadden Trapp, of Flushing, accused of grand larceny, on the calendar of the Queens County Court for the first week in October.

Mary Crowley, Mrs. Trapp's former colored maid, who will be a witness in the case, is still locked up in the Queens jail.

PROFESSIONAL BONDSMEN MADE TO FLEE QUEENS

Professional bondsmen have fled Queens as the result of a commission which District Attorney O'Leary recently gave Assistant District Attorney William F. Ryan to bring prosecutions in all forfeited bail bond cases and take judgments against those bondsmen who had failed to produce defendants when called for trial.

A large number of such cases were found, the last one being that of the National Surety Company, which failed to produce Mrs. Helen Hadden Trapp, of Flushing, early this month.

MRS. TRAPP'S MAID FREED.

Mistress Who Accused Her Forfeits Own Bail.

Long Island City, Nov. 15.—Mary Crawley, a young colored woman, claimed as the maid of Mrs. Helen Hadden Trapp, of Flushing, was released from the Queens Jail yesterday, because Mrs. Trapp, who had charged her with stealing jewelry, failed to appear before the Grand Jury.

Mrs. Trapp has been indicted for grand larceny for the alleged taking of a pocketbook containing $14 from the wife of an Italian storekeeper in Washington street, Flushing. She was released under $5,000 bail, which she forfeited. Attorney Eugene N. L. Young, who represents Mrs. Trapp, says he knows nothing of her whereabouts.

Indicted for Larceny, Woman Is Put in Jail

Mrs. Helen Trapp Is Ordered Locked Up on an Old Charge

Mrs. Helen Trapp, formerly of Bayside and a daughter of Archie Hadden, who was well known as a hotel proprietor of Manhattan, was locked up in Queens County jail at Long Island City last night on an order issued by Judge Burt J. Humphrey in the Queens County Court on the application of District Attorney Dana Wallace. Mrs.

Trapp is under indictment for grand larceny.

The indictment was found in July, 1916. When Mrs. Trapp pleaded not guilty she was released at that time in $5,000 bail, which was furnished by a surety company. The indictment charges that on July 1, 1916, Mrs. Trapp went into a grocery store at 142 Washington Street, Flushing, which was conducted by Carmelia Giamelli, and that after she had given the woman an order she took a pocketbook which was lying on the counter. Mrs. Trapp entered a vigorous denial of the charge at the time that she was arraigned. It is said that she blamed a colored servant, who accompanied her to the store, for the theft of the purse.

Mrs. Trapp was formerly prominent in Bayside society.

SUES WIFE WHO IS IN QUEENS JAIL

Husband of Woman Accused of Larceny Says She Was Married When He Wed Her.

Mrs. Helen Pratt, daughter of Archie Hadden, former proprietor of the German Village in Manhattan, was made defendant in an action brought in the Supreme Court, Long Island City, by her husband, John Pratt, to annul his marriage. The papers in the case were given yesterday to Sheriff John Wagner, of Queens. Mrs. Pratt is now in the Queens jail awaiting trial on an indictment charging larceny.

She is alleged to have taken $15 from a woman in Flushing on July 1, 1916. She jumped her bail and was arrested two weeks ago in front of the Criminal Court Building in Manhattan. Pratt, in his complaint, alleges that he married his wife in Weehawken on Feb. 13, 1914, she giving the name of Helen Hadden, and he has since learned that at that time his wife was married to James Regan, they having been wed at the City Hall, Manhattan, in July, 1913, she at that time giving her name as Ella Hadden.

Mrs. Pratt will soon be brought to trial in the County Court on the larceny indictment.

John Pratt sues to annul marriage to Helen Hadden, who is in jail on larceny charges, whom he married 13 Feb 1914 – claiming she had married James Regan in July 1913 – this would have made her marriage to John Jacob Trapp in Feb 1914 also invalid – “Brooklyn Citizen” Saturday 19 Mar 1921 p 2

John Jacob Trapp begins annulment action against Helen Hadden, claiming she was married to James Regan when he married her 14 Feb 1916 – "Brooklyn Daily Eagle" Saturday 19 Mar 1921 p 3

SAYS GIRL SHARED IN CRIME.

Boy Accused of Theft Turns Against His Companion in Court.

Magistrate McAdoo looked down over the bench of the Harlem Court yesterday upon a young man and a young girl who stood before him accused of acting as accomplices in the theft of a roll of bills from the pocket of Meyer Goldschmidt, a grocer of 2,619 Eighth Avenue. The boy was Garry Glatt, who lives with his parents on West 112th Street. The girl was Florence Hadden, the daughter of Archibald Hadden, proprietor of the German Village on West Fortieth Street.

The story was that Glatt and the girl went for a stroll last Thursday afternoon, and the course of their stroll took them past the grocery store of Mr. Goldschmidt. The proprietor himself answered the questions of the girl as to the price of oranges, or some such fruit stand conversation. A little later he felt his roll of $132 yanked from his pocket and saw young Glatt fast disappearing up Eighth Avenue. Goldschmidt ran in pursuit as fast as he could, but his speed was impeded by the necessity for yelling forth his loss and his accusation at the top of his lungs. Patrolman Corrigan of the West 125th Street station blocked the flying Glatt's retreat. The sum of $132 in bills was found in the street in his path.

Florence Hadden was arrested later, for when the grocer got his breath he told the police of the girl who had been in Glatt's company at the time he approached the store, and the detectives were able to worm her name out of the young fellow.

The whole matter was to be thrashed out in court yesterday. Glatt had been fretting in the captivity of the lock-up. Florence Hadden had been out on bail. She arrived in court, fresh and pretty, from the straw hat that only half concealed her fair hair to the tips of the little black low-cut shoes she wore. She had a lawyer with her and a lawyer's assistant. Glatt had nobody especially designated to look out for his interest, and though the lawyer's assistant tried to do what he could for him, Glatt felt abused.

Things were going smoothly for the girl. There was no weighty evidence against her. She had merely been with Glatt. That was all the grocer knew. By her own story she had been walking with him in all innocence of his purpose. The case looked dark enough against him, but there seemed to be no very good reason for holding her. Her lawyer stepped forward and in a genial manner urged the court to dismiss the charge against his client. In less time than it takes to tell it Glatt was on his feet.

"She knew that we went to the fruit stand to steal his money," he cried with all the power of his agitated voice.

The lawyer started a flood of protest.

Magistrate McAdoo lifted his hand.

"Hold on," he said, and then leaned toward the still raging Glatt. "Do you want to turn State's evidence?" he asked.

"Yes," was the answer. "I want a square deal."

"All right, you'll get one," said the court, and Glatt began his story.

In the end, Magistrate McAdoo held both in $2,500 bail for the Grand Jury on the charge of grand larceny, and the same van carried them both away from the court. Bail was furnished later for the girl.

WOMEN PRISONERS PUZZLE THE POLICE

Two Arrested as Pickpockets in Hoboken Send for Aid to Prominent Men Here.

Two young women, who had attracted much attention in the poorest quarter of the Italian colony in Hoboken last evening, as they went from shop to shop, because of their fashionable dress and the diamonds they wore, finally entered the shoe store of Michael Brancano at 521 Madison Street. A few minutes later both women emerged on the run, with the proprietor in pursuit. The chase ended at the Fourteenth Street ferry to Manhattan, when the shopkeeper called a policeman and had the women arrested, charging one of them with attempting to pick his pocket. The prisoners said they were Helen Hadden and Dolly Hadden, sisters, living at 1,070 Third Avenue, Manhattan.

When they were searched by a matron at Police Headquarters a small leather bag was found tied around the waist of each of the women, in both of which were some $3,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry. A partial list made by the police was a diamond brooch with a large solitaire diamond and ten smaller diamonds and a cluster brooch; a large diamond set in a ring, a diamond bracelet set with six diamonds and a ruby, seven small diamond rings, one lavallere set with fourteen diamonds and a ruby, gold hat pin with pearl and diamond setting, gold locket with twelve diamonds, small watch with twelve diamonds, small watch with diamond centre, and other smaller diamonds and jewelry, together with $50 in cash.

Helen Hadden, who said the jewelry belonged to her and her sister, told the police that they were on their way to a reception and had taken the jewelry to wear. Brancano pressed the complaint against them and they were locked up pending a further investigation on the charges of disorderly conduct and attempting to pick pockets.

One of the girls asked the police to telephone to Archibald Hadden, "Bryant 5415," and when they compiled the telephone operator reported that the telephone at that number had been discontinued. Then a request was made to call Senator Fitzgerald of Manhattan. The gold locket, set with twelve diamonds, contained the photographs of a man and a boy.

Tenants of 1,070 Third Avenue, the address given by the women, said that no one named Hadden lived there, neither did they know any one dwelling in the house answering the description of the girls.

When the young women were told that the telephone had been discontinued at the addresses they gave they wrote a note to Archibald Hadden of 270 West Fortieth Street, Manhattan, which the police forwarded by a messenger. Later a man who said he was the father of the prisoners appeared with a letter addressed to Thomas McLaughlin, Assistant Street Commissioner of Hoboken, who furnished $500 bail for each of the women for their appearance before Recorder McGovern in Hoboken to-day.

The father of the girls refused to make any statement and hurried away from Police Headquarters with his daughters.

Assistant Street Commissioner McLaughlin said the letter to him was from a prominent business man of Manhattan, who could easily obtain $100,000, but whose name he had been requested not to divulge. The youngest girl, said McLoughlin, was the wife of a wealthy business man of Manhattan, who owned a $50,000 home at Bay Ridge, Brooklyn.

HADDEN SISTERS OUT ON BAIL.

Pair Arrested in Hoboken Will Be Examined To-day.

Recorder McGovern of Hoboken put over yesterday until to-day the examination of Helen and Dolly Hadden, arrested Monday night, charged with attempting to pick the pocket of Michael Brancano, a bootblack of 521 Madison street. They wore jewelry worth $3,000 at the time.

After telephoning to State Senator Fitzgerald of Manhattan, who was not in town and the number of "Archibald Hadden, Bryant 5415," the prisoners sent a message to "Archibald Hadden, 270 West Fortieth street, Manhattan." Later a man called at the station and said he was their father. The bond of Thomas McLaughlin, assistant Street Commissioner of Hoboken, who accompanied him, was accepted.

FIFTY MEN SLAKING THIRST ARE DISTURBED

Dry Law Agents Raid Rosedale
Hotel and Arrest Proprietor.

The patient vigilance of Federal Prohibition Agents Connelly, Hayden and Collins was rewarded to-day following an all-night watch from the corn fields on the twenty-five room hotel of Archibald Hadden at Ocean avenue and Merrick road, Rosedale, when they observed a man approach the rear room of the hotel, rap twice and enter. The agents arose from their cramped positions and did likewise. When they entered they found fifty men lined up against the bar and seated at tables drinking liquor.

"What will you have, whiskey or gin?" queried the proprietor without waiting for the order.

Two drinks of whiskey were selected and the proprietor informed he was under arrest for selling and maintaining a public nuisance.

When the agents flashed their shields the patrons of the place scurried to cover and, in the general scramble, the proprietor got away. He later returned and was arrested. Taken before Justice of the Peace New, in Lynbrook, he was held in $1,000 bail for appearance in the United States Court. A quantity of liquor was seized.

Nassau Hotel Man Gets Year in Penitentiary

Mineola, May 21.—County Judge Lewis J. Smith yesterday sentenced Archibald Hadden, proprietor of the 101 Ranch Hotel at Rosedale, to one year in the penitentiary and also fined him $500.

Hadden was convicted by a jury of running a disorderly house.

ARREST INDICTED MAN

Mineola, L. I., Dec. 27—Archibald Haddon, proprietor of the 101 Ranch, a hotel in Rosedale, was arrested today by the county police and arraigned before County Judge Lewis J. Smith, before whom he pleaded not guilty to a charge of maintaining a disorderly house. He was held for trial in $5,000 bail, which he did not furnish. Haddon was arrested several months ago following a visit to his place by the county police, but while in the custody of a policeman he is alleged to have sneaked away and kept away. He was subsequently indicted.

Henrietta Trapp

Henrietta (Henri) Kultchar Trapp, age 99, of Saranac Lake, NY, "checked out" on Tuesday, January 24th at her home at Will Rogers.

Henri was born on January 2, 1924 in Galesburg, IL, the daughter of Eugene Frank Kultchar and Marjorie Mason Kultchar.

Henri's mother passed away when she was 10, and she went to live with her "Aunt" Julia (a cousin) in Evanston, IL. Henri also spent time during the depression in Goshen, CT, on Four Winds Farm, owned by her Aunt Teddy and Uncle Chris. She attended a one room schoolhouse, and rode her favorite cow, Brownie. After graduating high school, Henri spent a year in California picking grapes for the war effort. She then moved to Fayetteville, NY, where she lived with her eldest sister, Mary. She worked during the day and attended Syracuse University at night.

Later, when living at the YWCA and working at the Post Standard, she met George Trapp on a blind date. They were married in 1950. Soon after, they bought Kempwyk, an 18th century farmstead in Cleveland, NY, on the North Shore of Oneida Lake, where they raised two children, Susan and Jeffrey. The family enjoyed their woods, sailing on the St. Lawrence, and vacationing in Lake Placid, NY. Henri became a driving instructor, George was an engineer with GE, both in Syracuse. Jeff tragically died in a work accident, just before the birth of his son, Jason. Susan had a son, Mason, and a daughter, Mackenzie. Henri and George loved spending as much time as they could with their grandchildren.

In 2002 following the death of George, Henri recreated her life, moving to a townhouse in Lake Placid. She volunteered at the hospital, delivered Meals on Wheels, walked dogs at the Humane Society, and attended the Unitarian Church in Saranac Lake. She supported Native American causes. She was an avid bridge player and knitter, knitting countless lap blankets for charity. And Henri loved animals.

She liked to feed apples to the deer. Her favorite saying was "I don't know how to use a computer, but I can milk a cow."

In her later years Henri moved to Will Rogers where she was a beloved member of the community and greeted everyone with "Hello Love."

Henrietta is survived by her daughter Susan Trapp of North Stonington, CT; nephews and nieces Bill (Sally) Stout of Bloomington, MN, Dick (Ann) Stout of Boy River, MN, Geri Stout of Rice Lake, WI, and Patty Frick of Green Valley, AZ; 3 grandchildren: Jason (Nikki) Misner of Holley, NY, Mason Charter of Brooklyn, NY, and Mackenzie Charter of Guelph, Ontario; and 2 great-grandchildren: Shaelyn Misner and Aiden Misner. She was also predeceased by her sisters, Mary Stout, and Dr. Elizabeth Kultchar, and her nephew, David Stout.

At the request of the family, funeral arrangements will be private. In lieu of flowers, Henri requested that milkweed be planted to attract Monarch butterflies. Donations can be made to the Tri-Lakes Humane Society, P.O. Box 1111, Saranac Lake, NY 12983, in Henrietta's memory.

Obituary of Henrietta Hultchar Trapp, widow of George Lawrence Trapp -

<https://www.legacy.com/us/obituaries/name/henrietta-trapp-obituary?id=38788731>

My wife Marilyn Gahm is a history researcher in Spooner WI. You are listed as a niece of Henrietta Hultchar Trapp in her January 2023 obituary.

Marilyn, who is not on Facebook, has been researching the World War I soldiers who were aboard the torpedoed troopship Tuscania, which sank 5 Feb 1918. One of the soldiers who survived was John Jacob Trapp. He had two children: George Lawrence Trapp (who married Henri Hultchar) and Marguerite (Madge) Trapp, who married Abdel Hamid el-Damaty of Egypt. He published research on soil science.

My wife would appreciate any information on Marguerite's death date/location and life in Egypt, should you have this data available. Madge was born 16 Jan 1928 in NY. My wife contacted a man from Spooner WI who has lived in Cairo, Egypt, for many years in his job with the U.S. State Department and he was able to provide some more information.

Marilyn can be reached at 715-635-7679 and would be glad to visit you in Rice Lake.

Thank you for considering her request.

Last year's class graduated 99 foreign born students from 38 countries.

Of the 35 foreign students who earned degrees two did not receive their diplomas in person. They are Abdel Halim El-Damaty, of Tanta, Egypt, and Daare Aamlid, of Skarpnes, Arendel, Norway, who left in May to return to their homes, being in absentia.

Mr. El-Damaty received his B.S., from Fouad University in Cairo in 1940, his M.S. in 1949 from Maryland and received his Ph.D. in soils this year. He will teach in the College of Agriculture at Ibrahim Pasha University. "One of my ambitions," he said, "is to come back again to the United States, to which I am deeply indebted."

Father:

George Trapp.

Flushing, Aug. 28.—George Trapp, who for thirty-five years conducted a wheelwright shop at Broadway and Farrington street, Flushing, died early this morning at his home, 197 Amity street, after an illness of six months. Mr. Trapp was born in Bayside and was the son of the late George and Marguerite Worster Trapp. He was married thirty years ago to Miss Alice Storer, a native of London, England, who moved to Flushing about thirty-five years ago. Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Madge McLaughlin, of Flushing, who before her marriage was an actress, and one son, John Trapp. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. C. V. Garrison, of Montauk, and Mrs. C. S. N. Stewart, wife of an Episcopal clergyman of New London, Conn., and one brother, Frederick Trapp, of Whitestone. John J. Trapp, who was one of the best known lawyers of Queens County, who died several years ago, was a brother of the deceased. Funeral services will be held at his late home Saturday night.

Parents' marriage: 16 Sep 1885 Douglaston, Queens NY

Bigamous marriage:

“Spouse”: Helen (Ellen/Ella Josephine/Nellie) Hadden

According to the 1900 census, “Nellie” Hadden was born Aug 1866 in NY.

She was the daughter of Archibald (Archie) Haddenm, 5 Apr 1859 Manhattan NY – 15 Apr 1945 Manhattan NY (F: 230451627) & Elizabeth (Lizzie) Appleton (1865 Manhattan NY – 13 Mar 1928 Brooklyn, Kings NY, F: 230451806). Archie Hadden married Lizzie Appleton on 15 Apr 1877 in Manhattan NY.

Archibald Hadden’s name appears in Newspapers.com several times during encounters with law enforcement. He operated the German Village, a resort in Brooklyn NY, until it was closed by the police ca. 1915. He had served two terms in NY’s Sing Sing Prison (1882 & 1885) & was a hotel proprietor, often in trouble with the law for illegal gambling & drinking operations.

His daughter Helen & her sisters are also in newspaper articles for theft and pickpocketing. On 14 Feb 1914, Helen Hadden elopes with John Jacob Tripp & her sister Florence simultaneously elopes with Edward J. Duffy. They serve as witnesses to the wedding of the other couple in Weehawken, Hudson NJ. John’s and Edward’s parents are furious.

Florence Hadden has also appeared in the newspapers charged with a crime.

Helen Hadden Trapp is arrested in Jul 1916, along with her Black maid, for theft. Helen jumps bail but is apprehended in Mar 1921. Meanwhile, her maid, who was incarcerated while Helen was free on bail, is released.

When Helen is apprehended, a man named John Pratt sues to have his marriage to Helen Hadden annulled, claiming that, using the name Ella Josephine Hadden, Helen had previously married James Regan in Manhattan NY in Jul 1913, making Pratt’s marriage to her on 13 Feb 1914 in Weehawken, Hudson NJ, invalid.

John Jacob Pratt also realizes the marriage of Helen Hadden & James Regan in 1913 makes his 14 Feb 1916 marriage also invalid, and he sues for an annulment.

On his 5 Dec 1917 WWI draft registration, John Jacob Trapp says he has a wife who is not dependent.

Census records for the Hadden family:

1900 Manhattan NY

Spouse: Lillian Koerner Trapp Lyman, 7 Feb 1892 NY - 8 Jan 1970 NY.

Daughter of John W. & Anna Koerner. Anna Koerner died 18 Jul 1957 in NY.

In the 1920 census for Ilion, Herkimer NY, Lillian (27 NY) lived with parents John (49 NY) & Anna (49 NY) Koerner.

Lillian remarried after John's death, between the 1940 & 1950 censuses. She is still referred to as "Lillian Trapp" in a Dec 1943 Elmira NY classified ad she placed about lost items. Might she be the "Lillian Tropp" who married 19 Oct 1946 in Brooklyn NY – groom's name not listed.

Lillian's 2nd husband was Paul Solon Lyman. He was born 2 Jul 1901 in Deep River, Middlesex CT & died 22 Aug 1954 in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Paul was the son of George Elisha Lyman (1874-1975) & Emma Estelle Smith (1875-1956). He had earlier married Lela/Leta C. Seifried on 27 Jan 1923 in Oneida Co. NY.

Leta C. Lyman later married Roy L. Stafford, son of Roy Stafford & Mary James, on 24 Feb 1945 in Susquehanna Co. PA. Leta, b. 11 Jan 1905 Steuben Co. NY, died 9 May 1953 in Rome NY.

Paul & Lillian were living in Buenos Aires where Paul was an instructor for Remington Rand Corp. when he died. The first death record indicates his body was being held for shipment back to the US for burial, but the next record indicates Paul was buried in the British Cemetery, Quilmes, Partido de Quilmes, Buenos Aires, Argentina. Not on Find A Grave as of 3 Apr 2023.
