SMUGGLER DIES IN BATTLE ON BORDER

By Associated Press.

LAREDO, Aug. 27.—As a result of a pitched battle between American officers and Mexican smugglers about 1 o'clock Thursday morning near Tordilla Ranch, 18 miles northwest of Laredo, near the Rio Grande River, one of the smugglers was killed, another was shot through the foot and leg and is a prisoner in the Webb County jail; and another lost an ear, which was severed in the fusillade. Officers found the ear on the prairie after the fight.

The slain smuggler was an unidentified elderly man. Officers discovered him after the struggle face downward with a rifle in his hand.

The wounded man has been identified as Jesus Soto, an old offender, who was at liberty on bond after his capture last May with 179 bottles of contraband liquor in his possession. He is in the county jail with a bullet wound in his right foot and in his left leg.

The third member of the party, whose ear was severed during the shooting, has not been found.

Those who participated in the battle were Chief Deputy Sheriff Joe Fierros, Customs Inspector John Chamberlain, Immigration Inspectors Gene Tumlinson and John Chamberlain Jr., and State Rangers Wallace and Lott.

The smugglers' car contained about 200 bottles of tequila.

When daughter Betty Gene was born in Feb 1927, Eugene's occupation was "immigration inspector" – "Fort Worth (TX) Star-Telegram" Thursday 27 Aug 1925 p 1

RIO GRANDE OPALS.

Some Very Valuable Stones Found on a Ranch Above Laredo, and Investigation Will Be Made.

A recent dispatch to the Houston Chronicle from Laredo says:

Opals have been found on the Tumlinson ranch, about 50 miles above Laredo. The person who found them is Peter Tumlinson, and he believes that the hills along the Rio Grande are rich with opals similar to the specimens he discovered.

Several were shown to the Chronicle correspondent in the rough form and did not appear to be other than some ordinary stone, but when one that had been polished was shown it proved to be of a grade second only to the highest grade of Mexican opal. On holding this specimen to the sun it gave back the beautiful changes of color which a fine opal generally produces.

Mr. Tumlinson stated that all he found were upon the surface of some rocky hills in his pasture, and that he had not yet dug beneath the surface to see what he could find there. However, he was confident getting many valuable opals.

It is not surprising in the least that opals have been found in this portion of the state, for it is not far from here into Mexico, where they are plentiful.

The person who develops a successful mine of this rare stone in Texas will make a fortune, for they can be easily mined, polished and sold at a profit here, all below the cost of importing them.

Old Three Hundred

The "Old Three Hundred" were 297 grantees who purchased 307 parcels of land from Stephen Fuller Austin in Mexican Texas. Each grantee was head of a household, or, in some cases, a partnership of married men. Austin was an American approved in 1822 by Mexico as an empresario for this effort, after the nation had gained independence from Spain. By 1825 the colony had a population of 1,790, including 443 enslaved African Americans.^[1] Because the Americans believed they needed enslaved workers, Austin negotiated with the Mexican government to gain approval, as the new nation was opposed to slavery. Mexico abolished it in 1837.

Galveston Conductor Was Stabbed to Death

(Houston Post Special.)

GALVESTON, Texas, Nov. 15.—Ed J. Howard, a street car conductor on the Twenty-ninth and Avenue M line, was stabbed to death Thursday night. The stabbing was done by a negro and two men are in the hands of the police, being held on suspicion. A negro's hat was found just outside of the car and one of the men when found was bareheaded. The hat fits the bareheaded man.

The killing was the result of an altercation over a fare which the negro is alleged to have failed to pay. There were three negro passengers on the car at the time of the stabbing, including the one who did the killing.
