HOMER VINEYARD IS KILLED BY TRUCK

Met Death On Highway
Near His Home
Sunday Night.

Tragedy again visited this section Sunday night, when Homer Vineyard, aged thirty-seven years, was struck and killed by a truck on Highway No. 15, within a few hundred yards of the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Vineyard, who live about four miles northeast of Mesquite. He was walking along the highway, towards the home of his parents, when struck by a truck.

After being hit by the truck he was picked up and taken to Dallas in a private car but was met by an ambulance in East Dallas and taken to a hospital in that city, but was found to be dead when the hospital was reached.

Homer Vineyard was born in the community where he was killed, on Sept. 22, 1884, and the longest time he was ever away from that section was during his service in the world war, where he served with credit and bravery. He saw active service in the war and once was shipwrecked in a calamity that took the lives of many other soldiers.

Generous and kind by nature, Homer Vineyard had many friends, to whom his tragic death brought sincere sadness.

He was converted in early life and joined the Baptist church at Long Creek.

He was converted in early life and joined the Baptist church at Long Creek.

He is survived by his wife Mrs. Annie Vineyard, a daughter, Frances, aged nine and a sister, Mrs. Stanley H. Grubb of Tyler.

He is the last of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Vineyard to go this year, as another son, Lawrence Vineyard, brother of Homer, died only a few months ago. Their only child now is Mrs. Grubb.

Funeral services were held at the home of his parents Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. H. Wynn of Dallas and Rev. L. B. Jenkins of Mesquite.

Interment was at Long Creek cemetery. McCullough Undertakers in charge of arrangements.

Life:

Lady Is Hurt.

A Mrs. Headrick arrived here yesterday from her home near Quinlan, on the 12:05 motor car. A few minutes later, she got in John Vineyard's buggy, to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law, W. J. Bennett. Homer Vineyard was with her and when he untied the horse, it started to run. Mrs. Headrick attempted to get out of the buggy and fell against the curb, inflicting a painful gash in the back of her head.

MESQUITE BOYS AMONG TUSCANIA SURVIVORS

Homer E. Vineyard of Mesquite, Was On Transport Tuscania Sunk By German Submarine.

Homer E. Vineyard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vineyard of Mesquite, route No. 2, was among the American soldiers on board the Tuscania, which was sunk by a German submarine off the Irish coast Thursday night of last week. It was known that he had sailed on this ship and his name was printed in the list of those on board, but his name did not appear in the first several lists of known survivors, hence great apprehension was felt in regard to his safety. It was not known definitely whether or not he was among the rescued until Sunday morning, when his parents received this brief but important telegram from the War Department at Washington:

"Officially reported that Homer E. Vineyard is saved."

Homer E. Vineyard is 23 years of age. He was drafted last September and left on the 21st day of that month for Camp Travis, at San Antonio, where he was assigned to Co. F, 359th Infantry. Not long before the date that the Tuscania sailed he was transferred to Camp Merritt, New Jersey, where he remained until he sailed on the Tuscania, with other soldiers, for France.

The Tuscania carried a total of 2,897, all of these being troops except the crew of 190 persons. As this is written it is not definitely known just how many were saved, but dispatches from Washington indicate that the War Department has strong hopes that the loss of life will be less than 100.

The rescued men were landed at various Irish ports, and the news from there indicates that they were given a royal welcome and are being showered with kindnesses.

The community rejoices with Mr. and Mrs. Vineyard that Homer was among those that were saved.

Since the first contingent of soldiers went over in June of last year, a great many ship loads of soldiers have been sent over but the Tuscania is the first one to be sunk by a submarine, and the loss of life was so small, compared to the number on board, that as an achievement, Germany appears to have accomplished very little except to arouse the fighting spirit of the United States. Reports from training camps over the country show that the boys are now more anxious than ever to get a chance at the Kaiser's huns. This is especially true of training camps in Michigan, as many of the boys on the Tuscania were from that state.

Tuscania Survivor Reached Home Sunday

Homer E. Vineyard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vineyard, reached home Sunday from Camp Travis, where he received his discharge from the service.

He landed at New York on April 11, and was sent from there to Camp Travis, where as stated, he was given his discharge.

It will be remembered that Homer went over on the ill-fated Tuscania, which was sunk by a German submarine and for a time it was believed here that he was lost. However, he got away from the Tuscania, with other soldiers, in a lifeboat and was later picked up by a convoy and landed on the Irish coast. From there they went to England and thence to France, where he saw considerable active service at the front. He brought home with him, as a souvenir, a German war pistol, which he took from a German officer, when he and other U. S. soldiers surprised and captured some Germans in a dugout.

En route to the United States, the ship on which Homer sailed, had an accident to its rudder and for several days the ship floated about at will on the ocean. Finally another ship came along and the necessary repairs were made so that his ship could proceed on its journey home.

Joseph A. Amburn's Body Laid To Rest

The body of Joseph A. Amburn, notice of whose death on June 28 reached his loved ones here early last week, arrived Thursday night on train No. 4, accompanied by Sergeant McDermott.

A large crowd of town and country people gathered at the station in honor of the brave boy who gave his life in the service of his country. The air tight box was taken to the Humphreys & Vanston undertaking parlors to be opened, and then the casket was taken with the remains to the home of his uncle, Ed D. Paschall, east of town.

Joseph was born February 6, 1895, near New Hope. His parents died when he was just a child, leaving him with only a sister, Miss Nellie Amburn, who survives him. He made his home with relatives until entering the service of his country in September, 1917. He was first sent to Camp Travis. In February, 1918, he was taken ill with pneumonia. Not having fully regained his strength he was put to hard drilling, from which he contracted tuberculosis and was sent to Fort Whipple, at Prescott, Arizona.

Funeral services were conducted Friday, July 4, at 11 a. m. at Long Creek by Rev. C. D. Montgomery. The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery there, where tribute and honor was paid the boy's memory.

The pallbearers were all ex-soldiers, as follows:

Emmett Coats, Homer Vineyard, Chas. Cunningham, Oleh Groves of Garland, Buford Batts and Steve Caldwell.

Sergeant McDermott stood at attention at several different times during the funeral service and the large flag that was sent draped on the casket was buried with him, which is a custom in time of peace.

The love and respect that his comrades had for him was shown by the beautiful floral offerings which were lavished upon the casket and grave.

Sergeant McDermott left in the afternoon following the funeral for Prescott.

He has paid the great price for the freedom of the world, but he has died the death of a hero—one of the bravest of the brave—in the service of the land of the free and the home of the brave.

A FRIEND.

Child Killed On Christmas Day

A two year old Mexican girl was killed on highway No. 15, at a point about three or four miles northeast of Mesquite, at 5:00 o'clock Saturday morning, when the car in which she was riding with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alberto Gonzales of Dallas, was side-swiped by another car going in the opposite direction.

The child was hurled from its mother's lap to the concrete roadway. The accident occurred almost on the same spot where Homer Vineyard was killed a few days earlier.

The other car was driven by C. T. Harlow of Cross Plains. Gonzales and his family were driving to East Texas to spend Christmas with relatives.
