WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14.

—Press dispatches today from Scotland, checked with information at the war department, reveals that five soldiers from Washington, members of the Sixth battalion, 20th engineers, victims of the Tuscania, were among those whose bodies washed ashore on the coast of Scotland, and were buried there.

The first four were buried in a single grave containing 78 soldiers. This leaves seven state of Washington soldiers of the same battalion still unaccounted for. They, their next of kin and addresses are:

(Special to The Herald)
ANACORTES, Feb. 16.—Captain William H. Kasch has received his appointment from the United States shipping board and is ordered to report February 15. He was appointed third mate on a large steel steamship, built by a Seattle firm recently, which sails soon for the East coast to load big guns for shipment to France. Mr. Kasch is a graduate of the United States government school at Bellingham.

Mrs. E. J. Carroll, of Manchester, Montana, is visiting Mrs. D. J. Davis.

D. J. Davis went to Bellingham last Thursday to have his eyes treated.

J. A. Sloan, of Seattle, is a visitor here today.

The local Elks have a gold star in their service flag. Robert F. Warren, who was a victim of the Tuscania disaster, was a member of the lodge here. The flag on the Elks' home is at half mast in his honor.

ROBERT WARREN LISTED AS SAFE

Private Robert F. Warren of Seattle, first included among the list of victims of the Tuscania sinking, is reported safe.

The Schwager-Nettleton company, where he worked as bookkeeper, last night received a message saying that Warren has been officially reported saved from the Tuscania, but details were lacking.

In early reports, Warren was included in the unaccounted for and was finally listed as a victim, with five other Western Washington men.

His mother, Mrs. Julia Warren, and sister live at the Ravenna apartments, 1734 Terry.

Earlier reports said he was buried in Scotland – this erroneous report says Robert is alive –

Echoes from the Firing Line

The record of the part the boys of Whatcom, Skagit and San Juan counties played in the World War, which is being prepared by Louis Jacobin, publisher of the Honor Roll, 401 Sunset building, contains a volume of facts of peculiar interest to Northwestern Washington. The Herald has been given permission to print from time to time some of the unusual features of this record.

The records of The Honor Roll contain the names of 136 boys from Whatcom, Skagit and San Juan counties who gave their lives in the cause of liberty during the world war. The following list is the first ever compiled for three counties and is more nearly authentic than any previously published. It lists the names of eighty-one boys from Whatcom, forty-six from Skagit and nine from San Juan.

HUGH WARREN PASSES AWAY

Hugh Warren, a veteran boat-builder of Anacortes, passed away at the Anacortes hospital last Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock after a stroke of paralysis the day before.

Last week he finished building himself a new gas-boat and on Thursday he started for Everett with a load of salmon from the E. A. Philips trap. While near LaConner he was stricken with paralysis and was picked up by passing boats and rushed to Anacortes for medical treatment.

Hugh Frazer Warren was born in Canada 58 years ago and spent much of his life in Wisconsin where he followed the trade of boatbuilder. Twelve years ago he came to Anacortes with his family and operated a boat shop at the foot of Q avenue, building a number of vessels of the local fleet.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Julia Warren, a sister, Mrs. Laura Stitt of Orting and brother Will Warren of Texas besides the following family: Mrs. J. M. Cavanaugh of Anacortes, Robt. Warren of North Yakima, Roy Warren of Great Falls, Montana and Mrs. Bessie Wilgus of Seattle.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Haugen chapel at 2 o'clock under the auspices of Anacortes Aerie No. 249, Fraternal Order of Eagles, of which he was a member. The services were conducted by Rev. V. C. Evers, pastor of the Methodist church, and interment was in Grand View cemetery.

POPULAR ANACORTES COUPLE IS WEDDED

Miss Eva Putrow-Warren United to Mr. Jas. Cavanaugh at High Noon Today.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES CAVANAUGH.

(Special to The Herald.)

Anacortes, Wash., Feb. 19. — At high noon today at the home of the groom in this city the Rev. Father Wood officiated at a ceremony which united Miss Eva Putrow-Warren to Mr. James Cavanaugh. Both young people are well known in Bellingham, Seattle and this, their home city. The groom has grown up here, having attended school for a number of years, since which time he joined his father and brother in the shingle manufacturing business. He is a popular lodge man and prominent in the local fire department, of which he has been a member for a number of years. In Miss Warren, the popular verdict is that "Jimmy" has captured the prettiest girl in the state and certainly if the young lady's popularity is to be taken as a criterion, this is easily true. The wedding ceremony, which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cavanaugh, sr., on Fifth street, was followed by a wedding dinner. Miss Hattie Cavanaugh assisted the bride through the ordeal, while Mr. John Broderick supported the groom.

The ceremony was performed under a magnificent wedding bell formed of ivy, holly and beautiful white roses. Miss Warren looked charming in a dress of white taffeta silk covered with hand-made lace, while her bridesmaid, Miss Cavanaugh, wore a complete suit of white. She was given away by her brother, Mr. Robert Warren. Mrs. W. A. Lowman rendered Lohengrin's beautiful wedding march as the happy couple were escorted to their place beneath the wedding bell, where they were met by the Rev. Father Wood, who performed the ceremony according to the Roman Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren left for a trip to the different Coast cities. After returning they will be at home to their friends in a new residence on Twentieth street on the south side.

The happy couple were the recipients of many handsome and beautiful presents from friends in this city, Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend and Bellingham.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lowman, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Baer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. V. Funk, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. William McNutt, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Warren, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Maurice Flite, of Everson; Miss Sadie Cavanaugh, of Tacoma; Miss Bessie Warren, Miss Hattie Cavanaugh and Miss Flynn and the Messrs. Roy Warren, Charles Wilkes, of Tacoma; Robert Stubb, Robert Warren and Mr. Wally Funk.

FUNK.

A large crowd of admiring friends were at the depot when the train pulled out, amid a shower of old shoes and rice.
