The following list of Texas survivors of the Tuscania disaster off the Irish coast last Wednesday was received by the war department:

Excerpt – “La Meschebebe” (Lucy LA) Saturday 16 Feb 1918 p 1

Father:

The White Pond neighborhood in the southwestern portion of Barbour county, and, adjoining neighborhoods of Alabama and Georgia were visited by a most disastrous cyclone on Monday night of last week, which destroyed many lives and a vast amount of property.

Mr. R. J. Richards a well known and prosperous farmer on the Abbeville road was killed outright. Below we give a condensed account of a part of the cyclone's dreadful work :

Several negroes on Richards' place were wounded badly.

Giles Richards' wife's foot was mashed about away.

Some of the out-houses of Alonzo Richards were swept off.

Robt. Espy lost every house he had on his place and his wife's ankle was broken.

William Parrimore's wife's thigh was broken. He lost every house on his place.

Every house on Col. Milton Smith's place was blown away except his dwelling.

Thomas Espy's corn crib and gin and screw and everything except his dwelling house was blown away.

Mrs. Alfred West, Allen West, William West and — West, all lost their homes and everything they had.

West Richards' dwelling house, crib and in fact every house on his place were swept away.

Tom Sewell, colored, lost his house. Judge Daniels, Jake Glasgow, Henry Knight, Howard Daniel, all colored lost their houses.

Alsly Smith's leg was broken. Hilliard Neal's leg was broken. Margaret Richards' arm was broken and three or four others, names unknown.

George Outlaw lost his home. Bethel Church at White Pond, was carried off, and two churches of the colored people were swept away also.

Every house on Mr. Sherrod Belcher's place was swept away. He lost all of his corn, meat, household and kitchen furniture; hurt badly himself, his wife's knee was broken, and his aunt's, Miss Polly Richards, thigh was broken and was amputated, from the result of which she died.

Mr. J. S. Espy lost completely all he had except about fifty bushels of corn. His house was a very large frame house, and it was destroyed, and what cannot be explained, Mr. Espy, his wife and children and two other persons were in the house at the time and none of them were hurt. One young man, a Mr. Williamson, who was in the house, was blown three hundred yards but was not hurt.

The well-informed Abbville correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser thus speaks of the dreadful storm :

We began to experience the worst about 4 o'clock on Monday evening, and by night it was terrible. But we could see that we were not suffering as our neighbors were north of us, where the gigantic tornado left its furrow. We could see that nothing the imagination could invent was half as horrifying as that which we saw was going on. Though twelve miles away, we could hear the deep, roaring and continuous thunder which bespoke death and devastation in its tones; the earth under our feet fairly trembled. The discharge of electricity was so rapid and so vivid that one could have readily perused a newspaper. It frowned savagely, and every flash bore destruction. The storm lasted about ten minutes; its effects will be felt about ten years.

It killed Mr. Bud Richard, he having been crushed to death by his house being blow down upon him. He was a good, responsible and enterprising citizen. His wife was seriously wounded, two or three of the children were hurt, and thus she is left a widow and homeless, while her children are left homeless and fatherless. Four or five of his laborers were seriously injured: one of his laborers is missing and cannot be found. His dwelling house, store house, barn and stables, gin and screw, every grain of corn, his meat, cotton and guanoes all were swept away.

Mr. Giles Richard's new house was also blown away. He and several of his family I am informed, were wounded. Every thing he had was swept away, as was his son's, Bud Richard. Lewis Holmes' house was carried off also. This is all the houses and people that were hurt that have been reported so far.

All along the tornado's route, shoes, hats, clothing, bed clothing, bedsteads, or at least parts of same, kitchen furniture, corn and fodder, and, in fact, everything about a farm house, were found at various places, in gullies, ditches, and on trees, all along where the storm traveled.

The storm was very extensive. In Butler county it destroyed about twenty homes. Up in the neighborhood of Auburn and Opelika it did great damage, and at Cuthbert, Ga., and vicinity it was very destructive.

A public meeting of the citizens of Eufaula was called at the Opera House last Thursday to raise funds for the relief of the sufferers by the great storm. Committees were appointed to wait on the people, and altogether over six hundred dollars were raised, some of our citizens generously giving as high as twenty-five and fifty dollars. Capt. John A. Walker and Mr. E. Frank Davis, the committee on the part of the citizens of Eufaula to distribute the funds raised, visited the scene of the storm in southwest Barbour, Saturday, and they say that the storm's work beg-gare description. Some farms are literally raised. They saw one farmer who owned forty acres and he told the committee that he would sell out for five dollars. The storm struck Barbour county at Texasville, twenty-three miles from Eufaula, and there began its terrible work. Messrs Walker and Davis took with them Saturday $808, the amount raised in this city for the sufferers. The money was distributed among those most in need in sums ranging from five to twenty-five dollars, and it will do great good.

No such misfortune has befallen the people of this section in a long time and let us hope that it will be many years before it is repeated.

Mrs. Alfred West, Allen West [Morris's father], William West & another West lost their homes & all possessions in a tornado in the White Pond neighborhood in SW Barbour Co. AL 3 Apr 1882, - Alfred (Morris's grandfather) had died 19 Mar 1882

More Particulars of the South-east Alabama Storm.

ABBEVILLE, ALA., March 20.

Editor Advertiser: From those who saw the cyclone which passed over the country about 12 miles above here, we learn that a dark, smoky substance preceded the cyclone, smelling like the odor of burnt sulphur and gun-powder; this was followed by a phosphorescent substance, that was so brilliant that a pin could have readily been seen on the ground. The wind and hail followed the latter. Its effects have already been partly told you. We have been to see what the damage was, and we find in addition to what has already been told you, the following people and houses have been injured by the storm:

Every house on Mr. Sherrod Belscher's place has been swept away. He lost all of his corn, meat, household and kitchen furniture; hurt badly himself; his wife's knee was broken, and his aunt's, Miss Polly Richards, thigh was broken and was amputated, from the result of which she died.

Giles Richards' wife's foot was mashed about off.

West Richards' dwelling house, crib and in fact every house on his place were swept away.

Some of the out-houses of Alonzo Richards were swept off.

Mrs. Alfred West, Allen West, William West and—West, all lost their homes and everything they had.

Mr. S. Espy lost completely all he had except about fifty bushels of corn. His house was a very large frame house, and it was left a confused mass, and what can not be explained, he and his wife and children and two other persons were in the house at the time and none of them were hurt. One young man, a Mr. Williamson, who was in the house was blown three hundred yards and yet was not hurt a particle.

Robt. Espy lost every house he had on his place and his wife's ankle was also broken.

Thomas Espy's corn-crib and gin and screw and everything except his dwelling house was blown away.

William Parrimore's wife's thigh was also broken. He lost every house on his place.

Every house on Col. Milton Smith's place was blown away except his dwelling.

Tom Sewell, colored, lost his house. Judge Daniels, Jake Glascow, Henry Knight, Howard Daniel, all colored, lost their houses.

Several negroes on Richards' place were wounded badly.

Alsy Smith's leg was broken. Hilliard Neal's leg was broken. Margaret Richards' arm was broken, and three or four others, whose names we were not able to learn.

George Outlaw also lost his home. Bethel Church at White Pond, Alabama, was carried off, and two churches of the colored people were swept away also.

The route of the storm is wider at some points than at others, showing that it expanded and contracted. Another peculiarity about it was, that it rose in some places, as we found at some points the pine tops were wrenched off and the shrubbery below was not hurt, and at other points everything was completely swept before it. We would like to have a scientific explanation from some of Alabama's learned men. Why this black substance and phosphorescence as above described, and why this contraction and expansion, and why this rise and fall of the cyclone in its course?

The neighbors of the sufferers are lending every aid in their power. Over one hundred were aiding to-day in building fences, houses, and putting the roads in a passable condition.

Great was the ruin and destruction, and it is hoped that such will never happen again.

This all happened in about five miles of the storm's route. We could not learn the particulars from further points.

Yours,

G.

Death of Mrs. Allen West.

To the Editor of the TIMES.

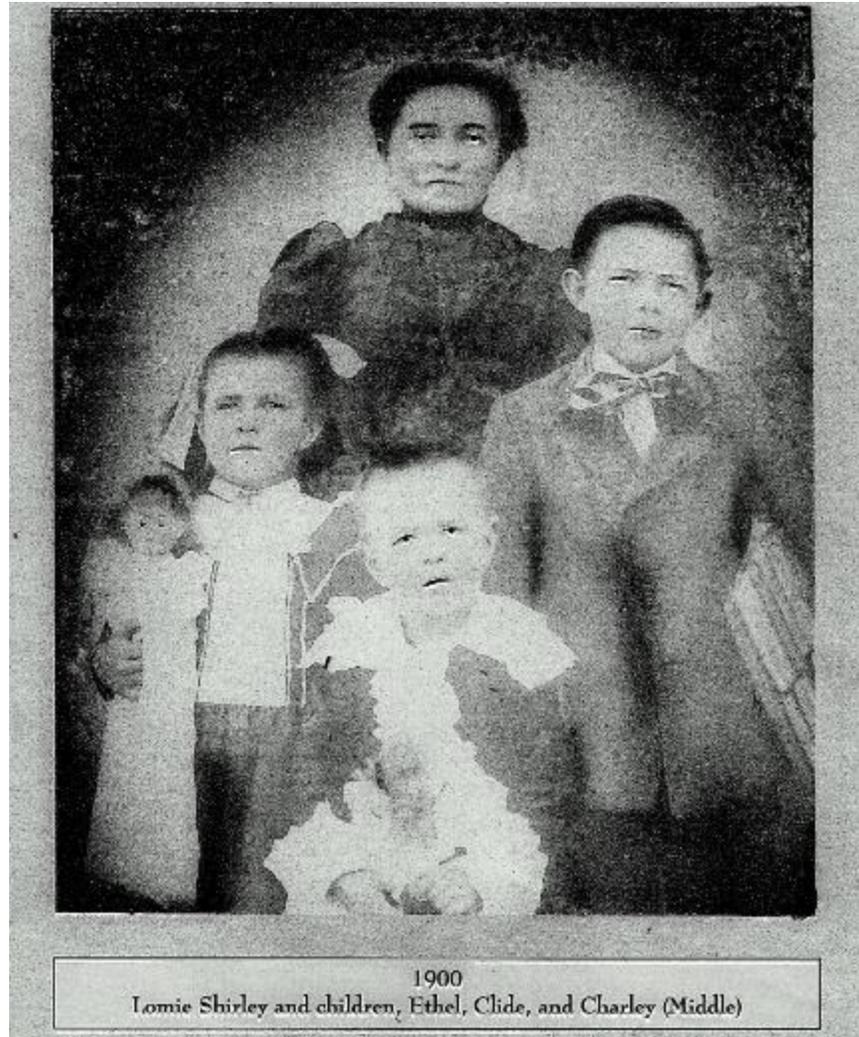

The angel of death visited the family of Mr. Allen West on the 25th of October and took away his devoted wife, the loving mother of six children. Her death has cast a gloom on the community. She was a good Christian woman and was ever ready to administer to the sick and to furnish necessaries to the needy about her. She was 40 years old and had been a wife since 1869. Peace to her ashes and the consolation that only christianity can give to those who mourn.

A FRIEND.

GETS SIX YEARS IN PENITENTIARY.

Joe Jimmerson, charged with the murder of Ed Searcy, the particulars of which are familiar to our readers, was convicted and sentenced in the circuit court at Clayton to six years in the penitentiary.

The Times learns that it was a compromise verdict—some of the jury were for assessing a longer number of years and others for a shorter term, and compromise verdict was given as stated above. The jury had the case under consideration from Thursday evening until Friday afternoon. The case will be appealed to the supreme court.

Clayton News.

Clayton Record.

Our town had a decided scare from small pox last week, but, happily for us all, it has now subsided and no further alarm is felt.

Joe Jimmerson, tried at the last term of the court and convicted of manslaughter in the first degree for killing Ed Searcy, left on last Friday morning for Speigner's to begin his sentence, imprisonment for six years. Thus it is that a famous case is ended. Mr. Jimmerson is a good man, and his case is a rather unfortunate one. He has the good will and sympathy of the citizens of this community who trust that his lot may be as easy as circumstances will allow.

“Elba (AL) Clipper” Thursday 18 Jun 1903 p 6

Joe Jimmerson, a Free Man Again --Pardoned by the Governor.

Joe Jimmerson is again a free man. The governor, on Friday, issued his pardon. The trouble, which caused Mr. Jimmerson's conviction, is fresh in the minds of the people. He was convicted of manslaughter and was sentenced for six years, eight of the jurors agreeing to the verdict if they would all unite in an application for a pardon. Nearly one thousand names were on the petition for a pardon. It is understood that friends met him here and escorted him home yesterday.
