Six Fighting White Boys in Service
Oakland Mother Proud of Sons

Mrs. C. W. White of Oakland and her six fighting sons, who are all doing their share to whip Germany. Mrs. White laughs when she thinks of the peace proposals of the Kaiser.

EXEMPLIFYING the spirit of American motherhood, Mrs. C. W. White of 533 Twenty-second street, Oakland, laughs at the Kaiser's peace proposal, for she has six stalwart sons in the service of their country.

In the White home the service flag bears six stars. The flag shows the Army, the Navy and the aviation branch. The stars are for Horace R. White, 19 years old; Arnold White, 21; Milton Orest White, 24; Emmett Selden White, 26; Wiley James White, 29, and John Clarence White, 31. Somewhere in France, somewhere in Siberia, somewhere in the great Government timber forests of the Northwest and in an aviation camp, are the addresses of the six White boys.

ON BOARD TUSCANIA

Emmett White was on board the ill-fated Tuscania when it was torpedoed. He saw several of his companions swept to a watery grave. He was reported as missing. For two weeks his mother grieved, thinking that her son had gone to his death off the Irish coast. Then came word from a port in Ireland that he had been saved. Vowing vengeance for the death of his Tuscania pals, young White went through his aviation training, and at last accounts he was sending his greetings to the Kaiser via the bomb route. His Tuscania quarters card is a valued souvenir in the possession of his mother.

Horace R. White, the "baby" of the family, enlisted in the Navy. He was assigned to transport duty on the Logan. On his second trip he saw his brother Arnold "grinning" at him from a bunch of "rookies" sent aboard. Today Horace and Arnold are in a Siberian port.

Wiley White is at Taylor field, Alabama, doing the "nose dive," the "falling leaf," the "tango twist" and other stunts to qualify him for a birdman. He hopes to meet his brother Emmett in the battle sky of France.

HELPING TO MAN GUNS

Helping to man one of the big guns of the United States artillery in France is John Clarence White. He has lost count of the tons of steel that he has helped to send hurtling into the German lines.

Last, but not least, is the story of how Milton Orest White is doing his bit. He chose the "Grizzlies" and was accepted. He became ill in camp, and when the Grizzlies went overseas he was transferred to a limited-service outfit. Today he is hewing timbers in the woods of Oregon, getting himself into condition to rejoin the scrapping Grizzlies.

The father, C. W. White, is a machinist at Hayward. Two other sons are within the draft call. They are Arthur B. White of San Francisco and C. W. White Jr., City Attorney of Hayward. There is one daughter in the White family, Mrs. W. F. Webber of Redding.

The most welcome caller at the White residence these days is the postman. Hardly a day passes but that the mother receives word from the fighting White boys. The father says the family has contributed to each of the four Liberty loans and is a 100 per cent institution in that respect.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

Emmet White Will Have to Face Charge of Assault With Deadly Weapon.

As the time draws near for the preliminary examination of the young men who created the disturbance at the skating rink last Sunday evening, the charges against them are being increased until the grave one of assault with a deadly weapon has been preferred. The defendant charged with the above crime is Emmett White, the man now confined in the county jail, and the one who so unmercifully beat up Andy Sheridan with a skate during Sunday night's fracas.

Sheridan has been suffering severely

Sheridan has been suffering severely from the injuries he received during the battle, and is really the one injured the most. When White struck Sheridan the flat part of the skate struck him full in the right jaw, and as a result two of Sheridan's teeth were knocked out and the jaw and upper portion of his face turned black and blue. Some idea of the force of the blow may be imagined when it is stated that it was over an hour before the young man was able to even get upon his feet, and then he had to be taken home in a hack.

Coffey means to prosecute the offenders to the fullest extent of the law, and it is very probable that Connelly and Baker will have more serious charges than those now placed against their names to face when they come up for preliminary examination Friday morning. The interest in the case has not abated in the least, and the evidence seems so positive that there does not seem to be any chance for the ruffians to escape. A battery charge will very likely be sworn to by Manager Coffey this morning against Baker, and when that young man comes before Justice McKnight he will undoubtedly have to plead on this charge also. Coffey states that Baker was the first one to strike a blow, and it was the quarrel between Baker and young Edgington which was the beginning of all the trouble.

VALLEJO ROUGHS TO BE TRIED

NAPA, Nov. 30.—The preliminary examination of five Vallejoites, charged with disturbing the peace at the Napa skating rink last Sunday night, was held this morning before Justice McKnight. The defendants are Connelly, Baker, White, Jordan and Elpine, and they are represented by Attorney E. S. Bell. They all pleaded not guilty and demanded jury trials. Besides charges of disturbing peace Emmet White will have to face an accusation of assault with a deadly weapon, as he unmercifully beat Andy Sheridan, who had gone to Manager Coffey's assistance, over the head with a pair of steel skates, knocking out several of his teeth and rendering him unconscious for over an hour. After the trial this morning Constable Allen arrested Baker on two warrants for battery.

FOUND GUILTY.

Jury Returns Verdict Against Emmet White Charged With Assault.

Emmett White, one of the young men charged with disturbing the peace and assault with a deadly weapon, was arraigned for trial in Justice McKnight's court Thursday morning. As the defendant was one of the rowdies who created such a disturbance at the skating rink on Sunday evening, November 25th, a large crowd was present to hear the testimony.

The selection of a jury to try the case consumed the major portion of the morning, but finally J. Caraway, C. Bockman, G. W. Lord, G. E. Martin, F. L. Brown, W. B. Gebhard and L. S. Knox were chosen and the trial was begun. Attorney Ed. Bell represented White and District Attorney Benjamin appeared for the prosecution.

The prosecution called Ernest Coffey, Ernest Sikes, Andrew Sheridan, William Edgington, Alice Flood and Maude Birge to the stand, and the testimony of all was very similar with the exception of Sikes. This witness testified that he was chased by the defendant and Harry Baker across the skating rink and that he had only saved himself from getting a drubbing by getting out of the window. He was the most important witness, as his testimony brought out the fact that the defendant had been of a fighting frame of mind on the evening in question. Manager Coffey told how the trouble started and gave as the cause the fact that he had requested the defendant and his friends to desist from skating so rapidly.

Coffey could not tell of any other reason why the quarrel was begun or of any of the facts after the fight started, as he said he was kept too busy warding off the blows of his opponents.

The other witnesses stated they had seen the defendant in the hall, but there was a variance of opinion as to whether or not he had engaged in the trouble.

The only witness called for the defense was Emmett White, the defendant himself. His testimony was to the effect that he was busily engaged in taking off one of his skates when he was suddenly struck from behind, but he could not state who his assailant was. The defense then rested, and the case was argued and submitted.

It took the jury about fifteen minutes to decide that the defendant was "guilty as charged," and Justice McKnight set the time for sentence as next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The defendant was put under $200 additional bonds and taken into custody by the Sheriff.

THREE JAILED AFTER CHASE.

Found acting suspiciously at Eighth and Howard streets, three men were jailed after a chase in which Patrolman T. Joyce fired two shots. The three prisoners were part of a crowd that first attracted the attention of the officer. The prisoners gave the names of Harry Hughes, Emmet White and Joseph Conlon and were charged with disturbing the peace. After the arrest it was learned that the men had participated in an assault on Ah Louie, a Chinese laundryman who was badly beaten, the police allege.

Fear For Trinity Men

WEAVERVILLE (Trinity Co.), February 11.—It is feared here that two young men of Trinity County were on the ill-fated Tuscania—Emmett White, son of Charles White, and Walter Jotter, brother of E. V. Jotter. The former is in the 158th Aerial Squadron, and the latter, whose home is really in Berkeley, had written that he was about to sail "over there" with the engineers.

TRINITY SOLDIER AMONG THE DEAD ON TUSCANIA

WEAVERVILLE, Feb. 14.—A message received here this morning announced the death of Emmett White on board the Tuscania, which was sunk off the coast of Ireland. White is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White, pioneers of Trinity county. He joined the army three months ago and was with the 158th Aero Squadron on the big transport that went down in the ocean. White worked for several years on the Valdora gold dredger near here.

(Special to The Searchlight.)

WEAVERVILLE, February 14—

There is no foundation for the report that Emmett White of this place, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, former residents of Weaverville now living in Hayward, went down with the "Tuscania."

Charles White wrote to friends here two days ago that his son "might" have been on the vessel, but as his name does not appear anywhere on the list of survivors or those who perished, the "guess" of the father was wrong.

Not on list of dead or living, so his parents conclude Emmet was not on Tuscania –

Another S. F. Man On Tuscania Safe

Word was received yesterday from Washington to the effect that forty-four American soldiers who sailed on the Tuscania and who had not been accounted for since the ship was torpedoed February 5, were found to be survivors when the Associated Press list of Tuscania missing were checked against all available official records.

Among the forty-four officially reported as survivors is one San Franciscan, Philip S. Richter. Richter prior to his enlistment was relief chauffeur to Fire Chief Murphy and was stationed at Engine Company 34, 1148 Ellis street. Emmet S. White of Weaverville was another Californian on the new list of survivors.

TUSCANIA SURVIVOR PRAISES RED CROSS

Emmet C. White, a nephew of J. A. White of Reno, was among the survivors of the Tuscania disaster and in a letter home he commends the Red Cross very highly for the work it did for the survivors of the ill-fated transport. He writes:

"I am just sending you these few lines to let you know that I am safe and well. I was on the Tuscania when she was torpedoed but got off without getting my feet wet. I landed on the coast of Ireland. I am in England at the present time but do not know how long I shall be here. The people of Ireland certainly treated us royally.

"Very few of the boys in the squadron I am in were lost. I want all my folks to thank the Red Cross for me and all of the soldiers for they certainly have done a lot for me, and all of us."

REDDING BOY WHO WAS ON "TUSCANIA" TELLS HIS EXPERIENCES

The following letter from Emmet White, who enlisted in Redding last fall—a brother of Mrs. W. F. Weber of this city—appeared a few days ago in the Hayward Review, the parents of White residing in Hayward.

On Active Service, American Expeditionary Forces, February 13, 1918.
Dear Mother and Father—I am just sending you these few lines to let you know that I am safe and well. I was on the "Tuscania" when she was torpedoed, but got off without getting my feet wet. I landed on the coast of Ireland.

I am in England at the present time, but do not know how long I shall be here. The people of Ireland certainly treated all of us royally.

How are the rest of the boys getting along? I answered Wiley's letter before I left and addressed the letter to Memphis, Tenn., as he was there when I heard from him last, but perhaps he has been transferred to some other camp. About the only way we brothers can keep track of each other while we are in the service is through letters from home. It is so easy to write home and so pleasant to hear from each other in that way.

Very few of the boys in the squadron I am in were lost, but I suppose you will get all the news from the papers long before you receive this letter. I want all my folks to thank the Red Cross for me and all of we soldiers for they certainly have done a lot for me and for all of us.

Eureka Teachers Group Supports Adams In Jenne Hearing Report

Eureka Teachers Association members today went to the support of School Superintendent Harold W. Adams against the claims made public by the Ethics Commission of the California Teachers Association that Adams showed "distinct" prejudice in his eagerness to believe all negative reports in the James Jenne teacher fitness case.

Said Mrs. Elizabeth Odean, president of the ETA, today:

"The general feeling is that there was only a minority of the Eureka teachers that felt there was some bias. The majority of the teachers in the ETA felt that Mr. Adams has not agitated in any way . . . (to show) that he was biased."

The ethics commission report on Jenne revealed to the public yesterday, was made at the request of the ETA. However, the ETA has to date taken no official stand on the Jenne case.

The ETA, according to Mrs. Odean, represents more than 75 per cent of the elementary and secondary level teachers in Eureka.

The board of directors of the ETA was to meet in special session this afternoon to clarify further their stand on details of the ethics commission report. ETA spokesmen said they would prepare a complete statement covering their feelings on the report.

Meanwhile, Superintendent Adams could not be reached for further comment on the allegathere was some variation in the estimate of the gravity attached to this error."

"Revocation of Jenne's credential," the report said, "would represent an unnecessary loss of a good teacher to the profession."

But, the report pointed out that "Due to the seriousness of Mr. Jenne's error . . . in the community, he could best serve the interests of the teaching profession in Eureka . . . by placing his resignation at the disposal of the Board of Education, regardless of the outcome of the credential hearings."

Another conclusion cited by the ethics commission was that Jenne's basic "mistake" was that as a leader of the boys he had to be "one of the boys" in the initiation rites.

One specific charge the report made was:

"Distinct prejudice exhibited by the superintendent in his eagerness to believe all negative reports regarding Jenne, and the contrast between his evaluation of Jenne's teaching and that of all who actually have observed his work."

The report was signed by Dr. Harry Griffith, ethics group chairman, and a professor at Humboldt State college; George "Mike" Whelan, Crescent City; Mrs. Ruth White, Weaverville; and Frank F. Zeek, Ukiah. All are school officials in their respective cities.

tions in ethics commission report, which not only rapped Adams but some county officials. They were not identified by name. And Adams was only referred to as the "superintendent."

Superintendent Adams, commenting to reporters last night on the ethics group allegations, asserted that his "big concern in this whole matter is the welfare of the boys and girls of Eureka and the state of California." He declined further comment.

CTA Findings

The ethics group, after an investigation that began last February and testimony from more than 30 witnesses, came
