Blood Bank Truck Hits Logging Rig

WOLF CREEK—(AP)—Dozens of pint bottles of donated Red Cross blood were smashed on the highway pavement near here Tuesday in a collision between a Red Cross pickup truck and a loaded logging truck.

State police said the Red Cross vehicle, driven by Robert H. Widman, Portland, came upon the slow-moving truck pulling up a steep grade on the Pacific Highway near Sexton Summit.

The smaller vehicle smashed into the rear of the loaded logging rig. The cargo of blood-filled pint bottles spilled onto the pavement and smashed.

The Red Cross truck was en route from Coos Bay to Grants Pass on its regular blood distribution rounds to hospitals. It had left Portland Monday morning with a full load of 120 pints of blood, after processing in Portland for redistribution in areas in which the blood had been donated.

A spokesman for the Red Cross blood bank in Portland said he could not determine at once how many pints of blood were lost in the mishap.

Virgil E. Henseley, Grants Pass, the logging truck driver, escaped injury.

Bay Soldier Is In New Field Drill

HACHINOHE, Japan — A battle was re-lived on Northern Honshu Island recently and although not a shot was fired, the unique training maneuver left the 40th Infantry Division with valuable semi-combat experience for its defense of strategic Japan.

The only participants were intelligence personnel from the 224th Regimental Combat Team, and among them was Cpl. Richard E. Widman, 1937 Sherman Ave., North Bend, Ore.

The "battle," which lasted round-the-clock for 48 hours, was a major campaign actually fought by American troops in Korea during the encirclement of the Iron Triangle. Battalion, regimental and division intelligence posts were operated during the exercise.

Every message used in the maneuver was word-for-word, a message which had been sent under the pressure of combat by the troops in Korea. Every "situation" map was a detailed map of the Korean battleground.

Besides adding realism to a training exercise and acquainting selected enlisted men with Communist tactics in Korea, the exercise was designed to:

Show how information about the enemy was collected in actual combat from prisoners of war, patrols, front-line troops and aerial observation;

Train the men in the collection, integration, evaluation, and rapid delivery of the information to higher headquarters;

Provide experience in keeping up-to-the-minute "situation" maps on the size, equipment and location of enemy units, pillboxes, gun emplacements, etc.

As a member of the 40th Division, Cpl. Widman is part of a security force for the vital island fortress of Japan.

Five Veterans Return Monday

Five southwestern Oregon veterans of far eastern service were due to reach San Francisco Monday aboard the transport Marine Serpent. Aboard were Pfc. Junior T. Frederick, Sixes; Sfc. Joseph H. Magill, Powers; Pfc. David C. Rowell, Bandon; Sgt. Richard E. Widman, 1937 Sherman avenue, North Bend, and Cpl. Chester C. Zumwalt, Myrtle Point.

Despite five solid days of bargaining with a commissioner of the federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, talks between Menasha Corp. in North Bend and striking members of the Association of Western Pulp and Paper Workers broke down Sunday.

The strike continued in its 225th day today — the longest paper strike on record in the Northwest, according to Commissioner Pat Leyden.

Both sides in the extended dispute indicated "disappointment" that the talks didn't bring settlement, and Leyden told both parties he would be willing to come back.

In what he described as an "unusual" step for a mediator, Leyden Sunday presented both sides with a four-point written document in an effort to break the deadlock.

Both Leyden and union representatives reported that the company rejected — in total — the recommendations and the union accepted them.
