OREGON AGGIES MEET MONARCH TEAM SATURDAY

Williams to Pitch for O. A.
C; Goddard May Start for Locals.

The Oregon Aggie baseball team will cross bats with the West Portland Monarchs of the City League tomorrow afternoon on the Vaughn street grounds at 3 o'clock.

"Bicky" Williams, former Jefferson high school star, will pitch for the O. A. C. team and Goddard will likely start the game for the West Side team.

There are a number of Portland players in the Aggie team. Among them being "Blossom" Seely, former Jefferson high school player; Ade Sieberts, who twirled for the Christian Brothers' team two years ago, and "Blinky" Morgan, ex-Jefferson star.

The line-up of the Aggies will be: Williams and Sieberts, pitchers; Weller and Hayes, catchers; Goble, captain, first base; Smith or Hutt, second base; Fryer, third base; Morgan, shortstop; Loof, left field; Baldwin or Groce, centerfield, and Seely, rightfield.

Nick Williams, former manager of the Portland Colts, was coach of the Aggies until Wednesday when he resigned and departed for San Francisco.

BICKY WILLIAMS TO BE A BEAVER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 30.—

"Bicky" Williams, star pitcher for the Oregon Agricultural College team at Corvallis, has been signed by W. W. McCredie, owner of the Portland Coast League team. The deal was closed through Scout J. J. Richardson today. Ray Alexander of Idaho and Al (Lefty) Hartman, from Washington State College at Pullman, also will join the Beavers' pitching corps when the team returns north next week.

Hugh W. Bean, Prineville.

Peter H. Audistad, Milwaukie.

William R. Bell, Coquille.

Tuscania Sinking Angers Werner

"Dick" Werner, whose chief social function while at O. A. C. last year was to enthuse pep for victory into the fighting forces of the big school, has resigned as county agent of Clackamas county, and will leave at once for France to join the fighting forces of the country. An Oregonian report has it that he is bent on avenging the death of his former school mate, "Bicky" Williams, the clever baseball heaver of the Beaver team, who was lost on the Tuscania. His successor has not yet been named.

Incorrect report of his death – "Corvallis (OR) Gazette-Times" Thursday 14 Feb 1918 p 1

Tacoma Pitcher Was on Tuscania

"Bickey" Williams, the young Oregon university pitcher who signed with the Tacoma Tigers in 1916, pitching part of the season here, was on the Tuscania but was saved, according to word received here. Williams is a member of the 20th engineers. The pitcher did not play ball last year, preferring to stay in college, but is still the official property of the Tacoma club.

"Tacoma [WA] Times" Saturday 16 Feb 1918 p 6

"Bicky" Williams of Tigers Was on Board the Tuscania

"Bicky" Williams, right-hand pitcher and property of the Tacoma Baseball club, was on board the torpedoed Tuscania but was saved, according to word that reached Marse Russ Hall yesterday. Williams was a member of the 20th engineers, which organization he enlisted in late last summer, and for the past several months had been in the east. Harvey Newell, former third sacker for the Centralia club in the old State league, and now owner of a billiard room in Portland, was the one to impart the news of "Bickey's" whereabouts to the local baseball boss.

Williams did not play with the Tigers last season, but is listed on the Tacoma club's suspended roster. Hall grabbed Williams fresh from the University of Oregon in June, 1916, and "Bickey" finished the season with the Bengals, pitching a good brand of ball. He didn't report last spring, owing to the fact that he wanted to complete his education, and as a result was placed on the suspended list. Williams is a promising young pitcher, and if he comes out of the war right side up it is probable that he will be among those present on the Tacoma team.

"Tacoma (WA) Daily Ledger" Saturday 16 Feb 1918 p 5

'BICKEY' WILLIAMS SAFE

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 22.—Word has been received here by a brother of "Bickey" Williams, the Oregon Agricultural college pitcher, who was supposed to have been lost on the Tuscania, to the effect that "Bickey" is alive and well.

"Fresno (CA) Morning Republican" Saturday 23 Feb 1918 p 15

Four in U. S. Service.

Four Tigers are in their Uncle Sam's service and are now busying themselves with something more weighty than baseball. Consequently these men were not forwarded contracts but are held on the suspended list. They are "Bicky" Williams, pitcher; "Lefty" Schroeder, pitcher; Joe Connolly, outfielder, and Bill McIvor, pitcher and utility man. Williams was on board the ill-fated Tuscania, but was saved and is now "over there" preparing for the big scrap. He is a member of the 20th engineers. McIvor and Connolly are in the national army at Camp Lewis and expect to leave for France any day now. Schroeder enlisted with the Oregon volunteers last summer and is now over there preparing for duty in the trenches. Although all are good ball tossers, Hall is tickled to death that they have answered the call and is proud of this quartet.

"Tacoma (WA) Daily Ledger" Sunday 3 Mar 1918 p 16

TWO mighty good games of baseball were played Sunday on the Vaughn street grounds in the preliminary doubleheader for the 1919 city championship. The first affair went to Wayne Francis Lewis' Standifer Shipbuilders by a 3 to 1 score, while the McDougal-Overmire aggregation copped the second fracas from the Columbia park contingent, 5 to 1.

Jocko Krause opposed "Bicky" Williams in the first engagement, and it was a pitchers' battle from the start to finish, Standifer getting six hits off Williams and the losers nicking Krause for three safeties. Standifer scored first in the second inning, and in the fifth Marty McNichols started the fireworks by dropping a fly ball in left field. Two runs counted soon after. The Hesse-Martin delegation made its only score in the sixth on Thompson's hit. Krause struck out 1 and Williams 4.

Gus Fisher made his debut before semi-pro fans of Portland in the first frame of the second game and his single started the scoring. McDougal-Overmire put across two more runs in another frame. Frank Koontz pitched good ball for Columbia Park, but his support weakened at critical stages and when runners were on bases there was no one on hand to punch out a hit against Herman Pillett, except for one frame.

Next Sunday Standifer and the Mc-

Former Star O. A. C. Moundsman Puzzles Harvey's Minstrels

Baker, Sept. 24.—"Bicky" Williams, formerly of O. A. C., and last year with the Southwestern Idaho league, proved a puzzle to Harvey's Minstrels, who dropped an eight inning game to Baker Sunday to the tune of 10-5. Williams toyed with the darkies throughout the game, striking them out at will and allowing them hits only when he wished to please the bleachers by injecting spirit into the game. Time and again he allowed the visiting entertainers to fill the bases, and then would tighten up and strike out three in a row. The local nine played like veterans, and were behind the pitcher throughout the game, which was called early to allow the actors to doff their uniforms and don their pink and green for a matinee.

Beaver Owners Swinging Lusty Battle Axe; Looks Like Big Shake Is Coming

PORTLAND, Dec. 8.—The announcement that Don Rader, Beaver shortstop and utility infielder last season, had been disposed of for a cash consideration to the Beaumont club of the Texas league by "Judge" and Walter McCredie may be taken only as a forerunner as to some shakeups that are coming in the Beaver ranks before the start of next season.

tryout next spring.

If Denny Williams does not go to college it is likely that he will journey south with the team and his older brother, Bicky Williams, is also wanted. Denny takes care of one of the garden positions, while Bicky is the moundman of the family. McCredie also likes the work of "Speck" Burke, former Jefferson high school star.

NICK WILLIAMS PUTS SQUAD TO WORK

Moose Jaw Club Training Now at Pendleton.

PENDLETON, April 11.—Nick Williams, with the major part of his Moose Jaw squad, began spring training here Saturday.

Nick reached Pendleton Saturday morning, where players, gathered from pretty well all over the Pacific coast, greeted him and immediately got into working clothes. Preliminary arrangements had previously been taken care of by "Junk" Walters, Moose Jaw first baseman, who had been on the ground for several weeks.

Before the training period is over Williams will have looked over a total of 25 baseballers here.

His squad, complete, follows:

Pitchers—Bicky Williams, O. A. C and Tacoma in P. I. league; Bill Lesher, holdover; Al Bonner, former Spokane Indian; Charles Cummings, Three-I league; "Walter Johnson" Walser, Spokane; Harry Husen, John Heim and J. Ault, bushers.

TEAMS STRENGTHENED

The Vets-American Legion team has been greatly strengthened by the acquisition of Doc Besson and Drake in the box, as well as having acquired several other players who will make the team one of the fastest in the city. Coach Lowry of the Vets and Manager Hunter of the Woodlawn team have had several practice sessions this last week in preparation for the game today, and a lively tilt is expected. Neither manager has announced the batteries to be used, and selections will be made just before the start of the game. This contest is scheduled to start at 1 p. m. sharp.

Immediately following the first game will be the Standard Oil-American Railway Express setto. The Standard Oil boys have been greatly strengthened by the addition of Bicky Williams and Emery Webb in the box, and they looked like an altogether different ball club last Sunday when they played Nicolai Door. American Railway Express has been in a slump lately, and Manager Van Gilder is hoping for the best in today's match. Van Gilder lost a good pitcher in Kenny Scott, but is hoping that Helman will show the form in today's game that he did in early season starts.

"Oregon Daily Journal" Sunday 17 Jul 1921 p 16

The reorganized Longview baseball team plays the Aurora, Ore., team at Longview Sunday. The team is now managed by Frank Gowdy, who has assembled a nifty looking crew of tossers. Pitchers are Myers, recently of a New Jersey college team; Hilton from Bellingham and Bicky Williams, former O. A. C. star; catcher, Andrews; 1b, Fisk; 2b, Derks; ss, Wilson; 3b, Burns, formerly of Astoria; outfield, Morrison, Johnson, Fix and Stabler.

Hawley Is Buried in Portland

Funeral services were held Friday in Sacramento for George W. Hawley, former Oakdale resident who died suddenly Tuesday of a heart attack. The remains were shipped to Portland, Ore. for interment.

Hawley resided here at the Palms for two years during the construction of the Woodward reservoir, and had many friends in Oakdale. He was employed as resident engineer by the South San Joaquin Irrigation district. Later he served the East Bay Water Co. at Oakland, until 1929 when he became deputy state engineer in charge of dams over the state. He is survived by his wife, Sara Nancy Hawley, a brother and a sister.

Article Talk

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Evon Daniel "Denny" Williams (December 13, 1896 – March 23, 1929) was a professional baseball player whose career spanned eight seasons, three of which were spent in Major League Baseball (MLB) with the Cincinnati Reds (1921) and Boston Red Sox (1924–25, 1928). Over his MLB career, Williams batted .259 with 46 runs scored, 85 hits, four doubles, three triples, and 18 runs batted in (RBIs) in 120 games played.

Williams spent the majority of his career in the minor leagues with the Moose Jaw Robin Hoods (1920), Joplin Miners (1921), Mobile Bears (1922–24, 1926–27) and Baltimore Orioles (1928). During spring training in 1929, Williams was a member of the minor league Portland Beavers when he was killed in an automobile accident. He stood at 5 feet 8 inches (173 cm) and weighed 150 pounds (68 kg). Williams batted left-handed, while throwing right.

Early and personal life [edit]

Evon Daniel "Denny" Williams was born on December 13, 1896 in Portland, Oregon. His father, Daniel Williams, who was from Ohio, worked for the Glaser Glass Company in Portland.^[1] Denny Williams had six siblings: sisters Mary, Sarah and Catherine; and brothers John, William and Thomas.^[1] In October 1925, Denny Williams married Thelma Elizabeth Duff of Boston, Massachusetts.^[2]

Professional career [edit]

Early minor league career and Cincinnati Reds (1920–23)

Early minor league career and Cincinnati Reds (1920–23) [edit]

Before the start of the 1920 season, Williams was signed by the minor league Moose Jaw Robin Hoods of the Class-B Western Canada League.^[3] On the season, he batted .322 with 158 hits in 117 games played.^[4] He finished second in the league in hits behind Chicken Hawks.^[5] At the end of the season, the Major League Baseball (MLB) Cincinnati Reds purchased Williams from the Moose Jaw club.^[3] On March 5, 1921, Williams reported to spring training with the Reds.^[6] During spring training, he played right field for the first time in his career.^[7] Towards the end of spring training, the United Press International speculated that Williams would be the Reds' starting outfielder going into the regular season.^[8] He made the Cincinnati club out of spring training.^{[9][10]} On April 15, Williams made his MLB debut as a pinch hitter against the Pittsburgh Pirates.^[11] Six of Williams' appearances with the Reds that season were as a pinch hitter and four of them were as a pinch runner.^[11] Defensively, he played one game in left field.^[11] Williams' last MLB appearance of the season came on June 1, against the St. Louis Cardinals.^[11] With the Red that year, he went hitless with two strikeouts in seven games played.

In June 1921, Williams was farmed out by the Cincinnati Reds to the minor league Joplin Miners of the Class-A Western League.^[12] With the Miners, he batted .320 with 65 hits, six doubles, six triples and one home run in 56 games played.^[13] On July 29, Williams was released by the Joplin club.^[12] At the start of the 1922 season, Williams signed with the Mobile Bears of the Class-A Southern Association.^[14] On September 25, Williams hit a home run in the tenth inning, which gave Mobile the win against Fort Worth Panthers in the 1922 Dixie Series.^[15] The Mobile club won the Dixie Series that season.^[16] Williams batted .298 with 187 hits with 25 doubles, seven triples and four home runs in 137 games played that season. He was tied for third with Snake Henry in hits in the Southern Association.^[17] He returned to the Mobile Bears in 1923.^[18] On the season, he batted .328 with 212 hits, 33 doubles, four triples and one home runs in 160 games played. He led the Southern Association in hits.^[19]

Boston Red Sox and later career (1924–28) [edit]

At the start of the 1924 season, Williams re-signed with the minor league Mobile Bears of the Class-A Southern Association.^[20] However, early in the season he was purchased by the MLB Boston Red Sox to be used as a reserve outfielder.^[20] He made his season debut as a pinch runner on April 23, against the New York Yankees.^[21] In that game, Williams scored a run.^[21] After three games in the majors that year, he was sent back down to the Mobile club.^{[21][22]} With the Bears that season, he batted .327 with 159 hits, 18 doubles, three triples, and three home runs in 120 games played. On August 27, Williams was recalled by the Red Sox.^[23] On September 8, in a game against the New York Yankees, Williams got his first MLB hit, a double, off of Bullet Joe Bush.^[24] Williams got four hits in five at-bats in on September 9, against the New York Yankees.^[21] On the season with Boston that season, Williams batted .365 with 17 runs scored, 31 hits, three doubles, four runs batted in (RBIs), three stolen bases, and 10 base on balls in 25 games played. He returned to the Red Sox in 1925. With Boston, he batted .229 with 28 runs scored, 50 hits, one double, three triples, and 13 RBIs in 69 games played.

On January 21, 1926, Williams was sold to the minor league Mobile Bears.^[25] On the season, he batted .352 with 215 hits 32 doubles, five triples, and two home runs in 155 games played. Williams finished second in the league in hits.^[26] He returned to the Mobile club in 1927.^[27] With the Bears that season, he batted .350 with 223 hits, 24 doubles, eight triples and two home runs in 157 games played. He led the Southern Association in hits that season.^[28] Williams spent spring training in 1928 with the Boston Red Sox and was expected to be the starting outfielder.^[29] His last MLB appearance came as a pinch hitter on July 18, against the Cleveland Indians.^[30] He had an appendix operation which caused him to miss some playing time that season.^[31] With the Red Sox that season, he batted .222 with one run scored, four hits and one RBI in 16 games played. After playing with the Red Sox in 1928, Williams joined the minor league Baltimore Orioles of the Double-A International League. On the season, he batted .313 with 47 hits, six doubles, two triples and one home run in 39 games played. In December 1928, Williams was sold by the Boston Red Sox to the minor league Portland Beavers of the Double-A Pacific Coast League.^[32]

Death [edit]

On March 23, 1929, Williams was returning to Portland, Oregon from spring training in San Diego with his Portland Beavers teammates when he was killed in an automobile accident.^[33] Two other players, Mack Hillis and Yats Wuestling, who were also in the vehicle were seriously injured.^[33] In total, six Beavers players were making the trip when their vehicle was hit by another causing them to veer off into an embankment.^[33] Williams was buried at Mount Calvary Cemetery in his home-town of Portland.
