resident of Ferron 25 to 30 years ago, and now with the Police Department of Cleveland, Ohio.

Recently, while County Attorney Wm. T. Litster was in the east attending the County Officers Convention, he called on Mr. Clell Cox at his home, 146 East Frambes, Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Cox is a former Emery county man, and has been making quite a name for himself with the large metropolitan police department at Cleveland.

He particularly wished Mr. Litster to convey his good wishes to all his friends here and ask him to invite Emery county people who might go through Cleveland, to be sure to stop in at his home and renew their friendship.

Life

A rousing dance was enjoyed by the young people last Friday night. A notable feature of the evening was a waltzing contest which was entered by quite a large number of couples. The prize was awarded to Mr. Clell Cox and Miss Ruth Hanson. The prize was an elegant fifteen-cent handkerchief—Evidently the funds were low.

FERRON TO HAVE A PEACH DAY

Ferron, Utah, Sept. 8.—Final plans have now been completed for the long anticipated Peach Day celebration at Ferron. The two days—Friday and Saturday—September 19 and 20, will be taken up with a huge celebration that will be the more creditable on account of it being the first of what it is expected to be an annual affair.

Baseball and football games, horse and foot racing, wrestling matches, and kindred sports will take up the daytime, while the evenings will be devoted to street carnivals and dancing. The horse racing promises to be a feature, as many notable entries have already been secured and many more are promised. Big prizes are promised in all events, the purse of $50 placed on the outcome of a wrestling match being but one. Clell Cox is the local champion of the wrestling game and will meet all comers.

The celebration is planned for such a time that the peach crop will be on in good shape. There will be free peaches for everybody. Special auto service from Price will take care of all up-state visitors and a good time is assured.

Sevier County Excursion Described in Detail

Col. L. C. Moore, Rochester Booster Gives Excellent Account in Detail of Emery-Carbon Excursion to Neighboring County.

We drove across the valley from Monroe to the crest of a hill where we obtained a magnificent view of the whole valley. On our return to Monroe, we passed through J. E. Magleby's farm where mammoth hay and grain stacks were to be seen, and stopped at the home of Lewis W. Jones where ice cream, cake, and punch were served on the lawn which was strewn with Navajo blankets and rugs. Everybody was feeling good and all indulged in jests and banter. Wrestling, dancing, and singing were also features of this stop, and Clell Cox rendered a very touching mission song. After viewing Mr. Jones' thoroughbred cows and sheep we departed for the Monroe hot springs where 100 suits had been held in reserve by the management for the use of the visitors.

Stanley Nelson and Will Hansen of Ferron left for Salt Lake Wednesday after taking the physical examination at the Price recruiting station. Mr. Nelson enlisted as a cabinet-worker in the aviation service, but just what branch of the aviation service Mr. Hansen entered, we were unable to learn. Levi Nelson and a Mr. Wareham, also of Ferron, tried to enlist but were unable to pass muster at the examination, it is reported. Gunnar Soderquist of Ferron, who has been employed in Salt Lake the past three months, also wired the local board for permission to join the navy on Friday. Listed at Price, while his wife, who was Miss Violet McCann, former Ferron music teacher, is understood to have taken up some kind of war work.

Castle Dale UT – in the next week's newspaper, it is explained that a power failure caused some lines to be missing from this story – which marries Violet McCann to Gunnar Soderquist and has her involved in war work – see next entry for the correction:

With the power fizzling out on us before we had our type all set last week, several errors crept into the matter, the volunteers writeup being one of the pieces to suffer. A line was left out in some unaccountable manner, with ambiguous results to Mrs. Clell Cox, formerly Miss Violet McCann, of Ferron. The item was intended to convey the fact that Mr. Cox had enlisted, we understood, at Price, but, the line bearing this part being left out, some parties chose to ignore the period ending a preceding item—with aforementioned funny results.

FERRON SOLDIER BOY SAFE

Clell Cox, the Ferron soldier boy who was aboard the ill-fated transport Tuscania, was landed safe, according to word sent to his folks at Ferron, by his wife, who is visiting in Columbus, Ohio. It is probable that Columbus lays claim to Clell as a daily paper at that place published his picture as one of the "three Columbus boys who were saved". This may account for the fact that he has not been listed among the men from Utah by the Salt Lake press.

Clell Cox, the Ferron soldier boy who was aboard the illfated transport Tuscania, was landed safe according to word sent to his folks at Ferron by his wife, who is visiting in Columbus, O. It is probable that Columbus lays claim to Cox as a daily paper at that place published his picture as one of the "three Columbus boys who were saved." This may account for the fact that he has not been listed among the men from Utah by the Salt Lake City press.

From Clell Cox of Ferron —

I just received a letter from my son Clell and am sending you a few notes from it. It was a very brief letter. He said he wasn't permitted to write much. Said he landed all O. K. and sent a picture of himself and seven others of his comrades in his company that landed the same time he did. They are all big husky-looking fellows. Said Uncle Sam was sure getting some men over seas and they were going to show the Germans what kind of stuff they were made of. Said one single American took 40 Germans prisoner, so what the rest them can do may be imagined. You bet they were going to give it to them hot and heavy.

He says a French soldier asked a German prisoner what the Germans thought of the war, the prisoner replying, "Well, you see we have God on our side and you have the Americans on your side."

Generally speaking, Clell seems to be quite encouraged in the war situation saying that "over there" they claimed the war would be over by July, but I guess we will have to wait and see. Clell and his company are located in England in the forestry work and wishes to be remembered to all of his friends.

FERRON

Our old friend and soldier laddie, Clell Cox is spending a couple of weeks with us visiting the home folks, shaking hands and renewing acquaintances with his many friends and relatives in Ferron. The people of the town under the auspices of the Ferron town board and Social committee gave him a real "Welcome Home" party, last evening (September 13th) in the Forest Grove park; where picnic, with melons and coffee furnished by the town, were served. A splendid program was rendered, after which Mr. Cox related some of his "Over Seas Experience," to which the people listened with intense interest; especially when he told of his being on board the Tuscania at the time she was torpedoed off the coast of Ireland.

OFFICER SLAIN BY TIRE THIEF

Columbus Policeman Victim of Prisoner's Gun

By Post State Wire.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 5.—Prosecutor Don Hoskins announced today he would call a grand jury immediately to indict Willard N. Jordan, 30, Ashland, O., who killed Leslie M. Green, patrolman, after a battle with three police officers Sunday.

Jordan was thrown into a cell and held incommunicado immediately after the killing of the policeman, the father of three small children.

Clell H. Cox, Green's companion officer on the patrol wagon, was recovering today from a bullet wound in the cheek, suffered in the tussle with Jordan.

The prisoner had been arrested by Earl Heise, detective, for tire theft. Heise called a patrol wagon and turned the man over to Green and Cox.

Jordan, the officers said, reached into a side pocket of his car, drew a revolver and killed Green, who had followed him.

Heise said Jordan then fired several shots at him, but he did not return the fire, fearing he would strike several bystanders.

Jury Disagrees, to Save Ashland Man from Chair

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2 — A Christmas present in the form of a jury disagreement, assuring him that an electric chair will not take his life before another holiday season has passed, had been delivered today to Willard N. Jordan, 30, reputed Ashland bandit charged with shooting a policeman.

After deliberating six hours and 15 minutes, the jury of 10 men and two women hearing his case was dismissed late last night when Foreman Clark A. Hunter told Judge Robert P. Duncan that no verdict had been reached.

The disagreement became a Christmas gift when Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins announced that Jordan will be retried during the January term of court. It would not be possible, he said to summon another venire of 60 prospective jurors and retry the case before Christmas. Jordan was sent back to jail to await retrial.

Fourteen ballots were taken by the jury, which disagreed on the question of whether mercy should be extended to Jordan, who is accused of shooting Patrolman Leslie M. Green here on Oct. 4 during a scuffle with another policeman, Patrolman Clell H. Cox.

At no time during the jury deliberation was there any consideration of finding Jordan guilty of less than first degree murder, according to reports at the court room.

F. W. Cox Family Holds Reunion at Ferron Reservoir

FERRON—A three-day reunion of the F. W. Cox family was held at the Ferron reservoir July 22, 23 and 24. A high percentage of this line of the Cox family was in attendance, members coming from California, Ohio and many points in Utah. It was the first reunion held by this family group for 32 years.

Programs and entertainments were enjoyed each evening in the amphitheater at the reservoir, with songs, speeches, jokes and stories as main events. During the days visiting and games were indulged in.

Clell Cox, formerly of Ferron but now living in Ohio, was a prominent character telling interesting stories of police and detective work in Ohio, where he has been on the police force for over 20 years. Clell is also a world war veteran, having nearly lost his life when the transport he was aboard was torpedoed and sunk in the Irish sea, costing the lives of 300 buddies.

A family organization was effected to carry on through the coming years.

Columbus Resident Renews Acquaintances In Towns Of Emery County

Clell H. Cox, of Columbus Ohio, Well-known former resident of Emery County, has been visiting for the past four weeks at Ferron.

Mr Cox left Emery County in 1917 and went to Columbus, where for 26 years he was a member of the police of that municipality. He is now retired from that service and is, in his own words, "a man of leisure"

Mr Cox is a brother of Mrs Deborah Huntsman of Ferron and of Les Cox, Nevada.

He came here in company with Morris Singleton, who drove a new district school bus west from the factory.

In Castle Dale Tuesday, Mr Cox grew reminiscent, pointing out the location of bases on the old baseball diamond on Castle Dale 'square', and recalling occasions when he played on it.

He will be present at the Ferron Peach Day celebration where he anticipates meeting other acquaintances.

TURN IS CALLED ON BUM WRITER Someone is evidently trying to cause a teacher of Emery county some annoyance for the News Advocate has just received a letter purporting to have been written by that lady. That it could not have been written by a teacher is evident from its glaring violations of the rules of grammar, rules that the third graders know. The first bunch of words is absolutely no sentence and has a plural verb with a singular subject. The second set of words meant for a sentence is not properly punctuated and is an insult to any editor. Editors are not hired to suppress news. The last bunch of words could not be construed into a sentence by the wildest stretch of rules of grammar and the rotten spelling of the last word proves conclusively that the letter was not written by any person who has the least right to be teach-	ing school. We print the letter to show the queer things people will do under forged or fictitious names. We do know that there was a license issued about the date given but the pages were pinned together and that was sufficient evidence to us that Clerk Horsley thought there were reasons for not making it public and we do not know whether it was to the parties mentioned in this fictitious letter or not. Here is the letter: Ferron Utah October 21, 1917 Publisher Price Utah Dear Sir Licenses that were issued at Court House in Price, October 8, 1917 to C. H. Cox, Ferron Utah and Violet McCann Columbus, Ohio. Can I hire you to not publish them in your paper. I will be glad to pay you what you ask, for the favor. On account of my school position in Ferron is the reason of secrecy. Sincerely Violet McCann (Mrs) C. H. Cox

The editor publishes a letter supposedly from Violet McCann asking that her marriage to Clell Cox NOT be published – he figures it was faked because the grammar/spelling error would not have been written by anyone “who has the least right to be teaching school” – female schoolteachers of the time were often not allowed to be married women

Alden Staker of Lawrence, A. C. Hansen of Emery, Miss Violet McCann of Ferron, Ben Justesen and W. L. Guymon of Orangeville, and Ed Larsen and Carl Alger of Cleveland are owners of new Ford cars purchased through the Midland garage. Incidentally, these are the last cars to be had at the price of $416 as Alger Bros. received a wire this week telling them not to take any new orders at the former price and to cancel all undelivered orders until the new prices are announced. The amount of the raise is not known yet.

Ashland woman has 102 candles on her cake

By Cheryl E. Zupan
News Journal correspondent

ASHLAND — There will be singing and balloons, but it will be the cake that lights up festivities at Brethren Care Nursing Home in Ashland today.

Employees are planning to light each of the 102 candles on the cake for Violet Jane Cox's second birthday of her second century.

For the celebration, Mrs. Cox planned to sweep up her silver hair with ornate barrettes and to dress in royal blue, a color to match her eyes.

Lively and talkative, Mrs. Cox has been a resident of Brethren Care since breaking her hip at the age of 95.

She has always been full of energy.

"I always walked," she said. "I walked the dog, and sometimes, I just walked myself. I was also an avid gardener."

Her hearing is normal, and her words are crisp and clear. Often her stories are accompanied by a rolling laughter that compels others to join in and laugh with her.

Mrs. Cox, a missionary who studied and taught piano, has outlived her two sons, Clell and Rolin. She has fond memories of her music career, marriage and chil-

"Those certainly were the good old days," she said. "The smarter children could sit with the older ones, and the slower students could sit with the younger ones. All three of us teachers knew every single student in that school. And we knew them well! You can't say that about schools today. No sir."

Mrs. Cox said she enjoys her days at Brethren Care. She attends Bible studies, poetry readings and musical events. Her favorite poet is Robert Frost, and she enjoys all music.

Eighty-two years ago, as a student at the Columbus Conservatory of Music, she studied classical music. She said her parents had not had any problem with her desires to attend college. In fact, she said, they were thrilled with her decision to study piano.

Her parents had great confidence in her ability to succeed, she said, recalling that she always practiced piano diligently as a child.

"A half hour a day," she intoned. "That is what one must make their child do with any instrument or they will fail."

Her fountain of youth? Many things, according to Mrs. Cox, have contributed to her vitality and old age.

After more than a century of living, Mrs. Cox's memory remains sharp. She recalled her college days — in the early 1900s — when it was uncommon for a woman to get an education.

"Women did not dare smoke back then," she said. "Or go out unchaperoned at night. Or use rough language. I never even thought about doing any of those things," she exclaimed. "I just could not have considered it."

Memories come back easily to Mrs. Cox. She prefers the days of one-room school buildings, like the one she attended as a child. She was a missionary in a three-room building.

"One thing," she said, "is that I have never had bad habits. And the way I have kept my skin so young — I don't have many wrinkles as you can tell — is that I have never used any type of makeup. Never."

Mrs. Cox said, "I have enjoyed my life fully. I have a strong faith in God, and I have always enjoyed the people around me. I also like to listen to good poetry or literature. It is important, still today."

Applause will sound today as Mrs. Cox blows out the last of her 102 candles. And her friends and loved ones will be back to visit, chat or hear an interesting tale about Model-T's or women getting the vote.

DR. STANLEY DEWEY

REV. GEORGE SPINK

CLELL M. COX

Announced By President Glenn Clayton

Ashland College Appoints 3

ASHLAND — The appointments of Dr. Stanley E. Dewey as associate professor of political science, the Rev. George Samuel Spink as associate professor of Bible and Clell M. Cox as associate professor of art, were announced today by Ashland College President Glenn L. Clayton.

All three appointments are effective at the beginning of the 1964-65 academic year.

Assistant Director of Research in the Ohio Department of Taxation since 1956, Dr. Dewey has been an instructor in political science at the Ohio State University Twilight and Newark Branch, at Kent State University and Upsala College, East Orange, N. J.

THE POLITICAL science professor received his doctorate from Ohio State University, his master of arts degree from Kent State University and his bachelor of arts degree from Indiana University.

The Rev. Spink's academic work was taken at Temple University, Reformed Episcopal Seminary and Lutheran Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. He is working toward his doctor of philosophy degree in christian history in Temple Uni-ed Church of Christ since 1954. He has been secretary of the Ministerial Examining Committee and Philadelphia Ministerium and chairman of the Commission of Evangelism in Philadelphia.

Cox received both his bachelor of science and master of arts degree from Ohio State University. He has been affiliated with the Department of Fine Arts at Western Illinois University; Department of Applied Arts at the University of Maryland; University College, College Park, Md.; Ohio State University; and Western Illinois University, Macomb, Ill., where he is currently teaching. He has versity's Graduate Department of Religion.

AN ORDAINED minister in the United Church of Christ, the Rev. Spink has served as pastor of the Unit-is currently teaching. He has conducted workshops in Ohio and Indiana and has charge of adult education in service crafts program for the United Presbyterian Church of Columbus.

FEATURED ARTIST — Cliff Cox, of Columbus, uses water colors to record his impressions of nature on canvas. The artist, who says he's both a lover and an environmentalist, currently has 13 paintings on display at the Mansfield Art Center. The show will last through Aug. 19. (Photo by Otto Schmidt)

Artist of the Month

Society's Shallowness Upsets Nature Painter

By TOM BRENNAN

Clell Cox is a self-described loner. He's pretty cynical about the shape of society, but he says he's in an ideal position to alter that shape.

The position he's in is that of an artist. He paints nature with water colors and says that when he paints, he's really alive.

Cox is this month's featured artist at the Mansfield Art Center. His 15 portraits of nature will be on display through Aug. 19.

Cox explains that he's really upset with the shallowness of society. He believes that most people, including many artists, seldom look below the surface of things and seldom understand what they do see.

"We've got a trot society," Cox said. "The artist could slow and shape society by teaching people to be more sensitive."

The Columbus resident says his mild abstractions of plants, trees and landscapes reflect more than a casual interest in nature. He calls himself an environmentalist and says he was one before it became fashionable.

"I knew a long time ago that everybody was cutting down Christmas trees by the thousands but weren't bothering to replant them by the thousands," he said.

The artist has been painting since the 1940s and says his development as a painter was done slowly and carefully, the way it should be.

"Many artists that I see today lack a philosophic point of view. All they care about is attractiveness and whether or not the painting will sell," Cox said.

His advice to persons interested in being able to tell the difference between sensitive art and merely attractive art is that they will have to go through a long process of learning how to feel and understand creativity.

Cox says it has taken him almost an entire lifetime to develop an awareness of the relationship between line, color, shape and form. When he finishes a work, he says the product becomes his thoughts.

"The meaning I have for one of my paintings is constantly changing the same as I am. It grows as I grow in the medium," he said.

Cox said it seldom takes him longer than eight hours to finish a painting. He said he finished one of those in the show in 10 minutes. "When you're hot you're hot," he said.

Cox has both master's and bachelor's degrees in fine arts and art education from Ohio State University. He also has completed 65 hours towards a PhD in art.

He once taught in the art department at Astland College for about eight years. He has also displayed work in many of the member shows at the art center.

NORTHWESTERN Band Director Rollin Cox places emphasis on developing grade school pupils for a high school band. Rehearsing with Cox are (from left) Betty Young, Howard Smith, Kip Shadley and Jack Ferguson, all of West Salem.

He's Putting Northwestern's 'Flat' Music Program On The Right Pitch

By TED SHERARTS
Of Our Wayne County Bureau

WEST SALEM—Northwestern Local School District wanted a man who could roll up his sleeves and build a music program, practically from scratch. The man who seized the burden is Rollin Cox, a 37-year-old burley band director from Tallmadge.

When Cox arrived last Fall, instrumental music was at low ebb. The only uniforms were a few mismatched pieces from days previous to the consolidation of Congress, West Salem and Chester 10 years ago.

Some uniforms were red and blue; others were blue and white and all were in poor condition.

* * *

Because Northwestern does not have a football program, there has been little demand for a marching band. There are Summer events, however, for which Cox hopes to be prepared.

* * *

THE BOARD approved the five-year plan and appropriated $2,000 for band instruments and pledged $2,000 a year for the following four years.

Northwestern's inventory of

THROUGHOUT the District, only 81 pupils were in the instrumental program and the Northwestern High School band numbered some 25.

The Music Mothers Club had 13 members, when Cox arrived. In Cox's first semester, the Music Mothers Club was changed to the Band Boosters Club and the membership skyrocketed to 150. The instrumental program swelled to 187. Uniforms of a style worn by drum and bugle corps are being made by the Booster Club to tide the band over until marching band uniforms can be purchased.

To achieve these first steps, Cox and volunteers knocked on the doors of every home in the district for donations. Donors received memberships in the Booster Club. The donations, ranging from 25 cents to $100, helped bring the uniform fund to $2,000. However, an additional $3,000 must be raised.

Cox's biggest selling job was to the Board of Education. He presented a five-year plan with a goal: "A perfect music program for a 60-piece band."

"Our immediate goal is a presentable marching, musical organization," said Cox.

Because Northwestern does school band instruments, when Cox started, included four melophones, two of which were playable; three bass horns, one of which was playable; three bass drums, four snare drums, two clarinets, one of which was playable; three saxophones, one flute and two trombones, neither of which were playable.

"I found a helicon, one of the first Sousaphones ever produced, and a trombone stamped 'U.S.P.' which means it was obtained from a Federal prison, probably as a surplus item," said Cox.

* * *

TO STIR up interest in band music, Cox produced a vaudeville show for pupils and parents in November. It featured a former band leader and Cox in a madcap variety, blowing on all instruments.

"It was a goofy show, but we had a lot of fun and got the point across, I think," said Cox.

"Once we get on our feet, we play for anybody anywhere. All we'll need is an excuse to march," he said.

Cox was band director at Tallmadge for three years before coming to Northwestern. Before that he taught in Fairfield County and Toledo. He is a graduate of Otterbein College and a native of Columbus. He and his wife have two children.

MISS WALMSLEY

HELEN L. WALMSLEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walmsley, 1733 Twelfth st., Cuyahoga Falls, will be a summer bride.

Her fiance is Rollin M. Cox, son of Mrs. Violet J. Cox, Columbus. He was graduated from Otterbein College and teaches instrumental music.

Miss Walmsley is a graduate of Ohio State University and is head nurse and clinical instructor of Cleveland City Hospital.

Frederick Walter Cox,
Emery County Pioneer,
Dies at Home in Ferron

FERRON—Funeral services will be held Friday, at 2:00 p. m., for Frederick Walter Cox, 78, who died at his home Monday morning. He was born in Manti, Utah, Sept. 1, 1856, a son of Frederick Walter and Lucy Allen Cox. He was married to Maria Louisa Stevens, February 25, 1884. They came here from Manti about 50 years ago.

Mr. Cox filled a mission for the L. D. S. church to the southern states from Nov. 1899 to February 1901. He was an active church worker, being a High Priest at the time of his death.

Mr. Cox's wife died when their fifth child was a baby. Several years later he married Viola Mortensen, who died a couple of years ago. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Deborah Huntsman, F. Leslie and Lloyd G., of Ferron; Clell H., of Columbus, Ohio, and Ross W., of Wyoming; also the following brothers and sisters: Arthur Cox, Ferron; Louis S. Cox, Payson; Louisa Tatton, Manti; and Roselyn DeMille, Monroe; and fifteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Louisa Cox, wife of Fred Cox, died last Sunday, from causes following childbirth. She was a most estimable woman and will be greatly missed. She was born in Paragotah, Iron county, (formerly known as Red Creek), on Oct. 19, 1865, being the daughter of Hiram S. and Debra L. Stevens. When 16 years of age she moved to Salina canyon with the family and in the fall of 1881 came to Ferron, where she resided up to the time of her death. On Feb. 21, 1884, she was married to F. W. Cox.* Her husband and five children survive her, the youngest being but a few days old. The funeral occurred on Wednesday and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Stepmother Lucy Hulda Woolman Norton Cox Hastings

KILLED BY A ROLLING LOG

John N. Norton of Orangeville Meets a Horrible Death.

John N. Norton, a former resident of Orangeville, was instantly killed at Sunnyside on Saturday morning while getting out timber. It appears that after the tree that killed the unfortunate man had fallen it lay in a position awkward for hauling off, and it was while directing his companions as to the manner of dragging it off that one end of the log swung from the stump, striking Mr. Norton on the back and knocking him over. While getting up the other end of the rolling log swung around and dealt him a frightful blow on the back of the head that crushed his skull and broke his neck.

The body was brought to Orangeville Sunday and interred the following day.

Deceased was born in Provo on April 12, 1853. He lived at Huntington for awhile before moving to Orangeville, about five years ago. Previous to that time he lived in Wayne county. About three years ago his Orangeville residence there caught fire one morning and burned to the ground. Shortly after that he and his family moved to Sunnyside. A widow and three children survive him. They were brought over to Orangeville Sunday by Joseph Babcock, whose wife is a sister of the deceased.

At the time of the accident Henry Davis and Henry Laramie were engaged with Mr. Norton in building a road, in the right of way of which the tree was dropped.

Will Norton, a brother, Harold Taylor and Matt Killian accompanied the remains from Sunnyside.

The funeral was well attended, the speakers being S. H. Cox, P. A. Childs and Andrew Andersen.

The widow and fatherless little children will reside at Orangeville. They are left in indigent circumstances, and have the sympathy of all.

The miners and other employees of the Utah Fuel company at Sunnyside contributed a generous purse to the widow of the late John Norton of Orangeville on last payday. The widow was the recipient of $600, which will establish herself and children in a comfortable home in Orangeville.

Frederick Cox funeral held Thursday Aug. 10

The funeral services for Frederick Leslie Cox, 74, who died Monday of last week at his home in Ferron, were held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Ferron ward chapel.

Mr. Cox was born February 23, 1887, in Ferron to Frederick Walter and Louisa Maria Stevens Cox. He married Maria C. Huntsman, July 30, 1907, in Ferron, later solemnized at the Manti temple. He was a retired construction worker and rancher.

Survivors include his widow, sons and daughters, Mrs. Kermit (Velma) Peterson, Ferron; Mrs. Frank (Pearl) Warthen, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Hurst (Rose) Thygerson, Orem; Frederick Hyrum (Ted), Challis, Ida.; Paul, Paris, Ida.; sister and brothers, Deborah Huntsman and Lloyd, Ferron, and Ross, Parowan.

Funeral services included two numbers by the singing mothers, a solo by Freida Behling, a trio and a quartet. Speakers were Leon Ralphs, Richard Behling and Sam Singleton. A tribute was given by a grandson, Michael Peterson, and remarks by Bishop Albrecht. Prayers were offered by L. W. Peterson and Mervin Duncan. The prayer in the home was given by George Huntsman and at the graveside by Kent Peterson.

Burial was in the Ferron cemetery under direction of Fausett Funeral Home.

F. W. Barnes, Miss Zella Hastings United Saturday

With a gaily decorated Christmas tree as the background and standing in a bower covered with Christmas "snow" and hung with Christmas bells, Miss Zella Agnes Hastings of San Francisco became the bride of Freborn Williams Barnes Saturday night at 8:30 with the Reverend Everett C. Thomson officiating. The ceremony took place at the home of Mrs. Peter Eckert, sister of the bridegroom, with the living room prettily decorated with cotoneasters and other trimmings carrying out the spirit of the season.

Accompanying the young couple at the altar were Miss Nancy Ford of Santa Barbara and George Vance Jr. of Lompoc. The bride was prettily gowned in tan-colored georgette and wore a corsage of small lavender chrysanthemums. Little Betty Jeanne, daughter of Mrs. Eckert, was ring-bearer, carrying the ring on a colored net cushion.

In attendance at the wedding were relatives and friends of the couple, including Mrs. Ethel Barnes, mother of the bridegroom, Mr. Ford of Santa Barbara and Mr. and Mrs. George P. Vance.

Refreshments were served following the ceremony, including a wedding cake, cut by the bride, the gift of Mr. Ford, father of the bridesmaid.

Late in the evening the newlyweds left for San Francisco, home of the bride, where they were to spend a short honeymoon. The couple will be at home next week to their friends in the Rudolph apartments. The bridegroom, popular known as "Bud" Barnes, is employed by the Vance Brothers Trucking Company here.

In the other fatal wreck, Walter Louis Briant Sr., 74, of 5025 Parks Ave., Salida, died from injuries suffered when his car slammed into three parked cars along Broadway, east of Elm, in Salida, about 3:55 p.m. Thursday.

The CHP had initially thought Briant suffered a heart attack and then crashed his car. But, following an autopsy Friday, the coroner's office said Briant died from severe head injuries suffered in the crash. Briant died about an hour after the accident in the emergency room at Doctors' Hospital, authorities said.

Private funeral services for Briant were conducted Friday at Franklin & Downs-Colonial Chapel. A native of Louisiana, Briant had been an area resident since 1945. He was a retired service station owner and operator.

Briant is survived by his widow, Jennie Briant of Salida; two children, Gail G. Klepper of Modesto and Walter L. Briant, Jr., of Hawaii; four sisters, and one grandson. Funeral services for Bodenhamer are pending at Salas Brothers Funeral Chapel.

Pre-war:

As a member of the Church of Jesus Christs of Latter-Day Saints (the Mormon Church), Clell participated in a mission. He was “set apart” 28 Oct 1913 to evangelize in the Southern states.

“Emery County Progress” (Castle Dale UT) 27 May 1916 p 4 (and other newspapers around this time) – “List Home Missionaries Ending July 30, 1916” – Nathaniel Crawford & Clell H. Cox, Elmo, June 11 – Mohrland, July 16

Wartime:

“Dayton (OH) Daily News” 8 Feb 1918 p 3 – Pvt. Clell H. Cox of Columbus OH is 1 of the Ohioans on board.

“Emery County Progress” (Castle Dale UT) 16 Feb 1918 p 8 – Clell Cox, Ferron soldier boy who sailed on the ill-fated Tuscania has been reported safe. Word was sent to his folks at Ferron from his wife, who was visiting in Columbus OH. The daily paper there laid claim to him, running his photo as 1 of the 3 Columbus boys who was saved. The Salt Lake City press has not listed him as being from Utah.

Post-war:

Shot in incident in which another policeman is killed – Oct 1931

“Piqua (OH) Daily News” 5 Oct 1931 p 1 – The grand jury will meet in Columbus today to consider if William N. Jordan, 30, of Ashland OH, should be indicted for killing patrolman Leslie M. Green, who was driving a patrol wagon to an arrest scene. Jordan struggled with 3 officers, killing Green & wounding patrolman C.H. Cox, Green’s companion in the patrol wagon. Jordan asked to get his coat from his car but instead got a pistol. Police did not return fire due to the presence of bystanders.

“Bucyrus (OH) Telegraph-Forum” 7 Oct 1931 p 2 – William N. Jordan was indicted by a Franklin County grand jury for 1st-degree murder for shooting Columbus patrolman Leslie Green on Sunday, 4 Oct. Clell Cox, a patrolman who aided in the capture, was called as a witness.

“Coshocton (OH) Tribune” 2 Dec 1931 p 7 – the jury agreed that Willard N. Jordan was guilty of 1st-degree murder but disagreed on giving him death in the electric chair or life in prison. Being deadlocked, the jury was dismissed & the case will be retried in Jan 1932.

“East Livingston (OH) Evening Review” 15 Jan 1932 p 1 – Jordan was convicted of 1st-degree murder but shown mercy; sentenced to life.

“Emery County Progress” (Castle Dale UT) 13 Sep 1946 p 1 – Clell H. Cox of Columbus OH, well-known former resident of Emery County, has been visiting the past 4 weeks at Ferron UT. He left the county in 1917 & moved to Columbus, where he was on the police force for 26 years but is now retired. He is the brother of Mrs. Deborah Huntsman of Ferron & Les Cox of Nevada. When he was in Castle Dale on Tuesday, 10 Sep, Clell reminisced about the bases on the old baseball diamond on Castle Dale square & recalled the games he played there. He will be present at the Ferron Peach Day celebration & hopes to meet old acquaintances.
