72 STARS ON NEW SERVICE FLAG Beautiful Emblem in Honor of Boys from St. John's Parish Unfurled A beautiful service flag was unfurled and blessed by the Church of St. John the Baptist Sunday afternoon, the exercises being held on the lawn in front of the priest's house. Previous to the exercises the St. John's Band, accompanied by the members of several of the Catholic orders, marched from their hall to the church. The services were impressive by their simplicity, Rev. T. J. Remy, S. M., officiated and delivered a magnificent patriotic address honoring the boys who have gone from the parish, several of whom have been wounded. During the exercises the choir, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Dolan, organist, sang "America," "The Mar-	seillaise" and "O Canada," the latter two in French. Patriotic airs were also rendered by the band. The flag, which contains 72 stars, honors the following boys from the parish in service:—Albert Parent, Capt. John Parent, Corp. Alfred Belanger (French war cross); Artheme Belanger, Stephen Dall, William Dugas, Martin Joyce (St. Pierre), Albert Kirouack, Eugene Levesque, Xavier Ouellette, Alfred Saindon, Amedee Bernier, Albert Boucher, George Carrier, Joseph Longtain, Henri St. Pierre, Ernest Benoit, John V. Stonycroft Hills Club is a member owned and operated golf course located in the heart of Bloomfield Hills.

In 1928, Theodore McManus, a local advertising executive and golf enthusiast, designed and built his own golf course on his land. Mr. McManus later donated a portion of this property to create Saint Hugo of the Hills church which was named in memory of his son, Hugo, who died at a young age. A few years later, he leased the golf course to Martin who gave it public access.

In the early 1950s, Inez Geitz assumed lease of the property from John McManus, Ted's son, and eventually purchased the property for $75,000. She married Don D'Onofrio, an assistant pro at the Country Club of Detroit. They continued to run it as a public course until 1958 when they made it private.

The D'Onofrios then sold it in 1960 to a group of members who eventually became the club's shareholders. The original property contained a log cabin which has since been replaced by the current clubhouse in 1991.

Lewiston Fishermen Are Rescued from Lake Auburn

Conrad and Laurent Rivard of 130 Oxford street, snapped near their home after they had brought back their salvaged canoe from Lake Auburn. The brothers were rescued after the canoe overturned and later the craft drifted ashore.

Conrad A. Rivard, 25, and Laurent Rivard, 21, brothers, of 130 Oxford street, were rescued from Lake Auburn, Thursday afternoon, by the prompt action of Dermont B. Crafts, 28, of 127 Holland street and Joachim J. Christman, 46, of 23 Elm street, Lewiston.

Essaying their first canoe trip in rough water, the Rivard brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Heleodore J. Rivard, were thrown into the water where their frail craft capsized. Though thoroughly exhausted by their experience, neither appeared to have suffered any permanent effects from their experience.

Crafts and Miss Verona K. Fehlau, also of 127 Holland street, were motoring along the shore road

DERMONT B. CRAFTS

Aided in Rescue Near Harlow's Point, Lake Auburn

from North Auburn when Miss Fehlau spotted the overturned canoe with a man clinging to it.

Crafts ran along the shore of Harlow's point until he found a rowboat. About 100 yards out, half way to the canoe, he found Laurent Rivard swimming toward shore. Because the boat was unstable, he cautioned Rivard to cling to the stern and brought him safely ashore. Rivard was then too exhausted to stand.

Other motorists, learning of the mishap, notified Christman who was fly fishing off the Townsend brook outlet. In his sponson-equipped canoe, with an outboard motor, Christman started out. He saw a hat and mackinaw floating but had difficulty in discerning the canoe because of the extremely high seas kicked up by the strong south wind.

He finally located it and managed to haul Rivard aboard. The latter also was thoroughly exhausted. He was unable to swim a stroke, he said.

Christman's fishing trip was both lucky and unlucky. He caught several salmon, kept his limit of four weighing ten pounds, and lost one, estimated to weigh five pounds, because he lacked a landing net. And, when he hauled Rivard over the side of his canoe, the latter fell on and broke a $20 fly rod.

Lewiston Man Drowns When Boat Overturns, Allen Pond

Roland W. Plourde, 31, of RFD 2, Crowley's Junction, Lewiston, drowned at Allen Pond, Greene, Wednesday night, when he, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Maurice Leclair, lost his balance while casting and overturned the boat in which three men were fishing. In the boat besides Plourde were his two brothers-in-law, Clarence W. Tardif of 79A Lisbon Road, and Leo Caron, with whom Plourde resided.

The trio started out fishing about 5:30 P.M. Leclair said he was told Plourde stood up in the boat to make a cast, lost his balance and tipped the boat over spilling the three men into the water. His companions told the chief deputy that Plourde came to the surface only once.

Joachim J. Christman of 23 Elm Street, Lewiston, a cottager at the lake, saw the excitement and went out to give aid. Tardif and Caron swam to shore and Christman recovered Plourde's body in about 15 feet of water. Plourde's wrist watch stopped at 7:25 P.M.

The sheriff's office was notified at 8 P.M. and Leclair with Deputy Russell arrived at the pond about 8:25. Attempts to revive Plourde by artificial respiration failed and Dr.

Romeo A. Beliveau of Lewiston was called as medical examiner.

The victim's body was brought to the Pinette funeral home here.

The victim is survived by a widow, the former Loretta Caron. They were married seven years ago. He is also survived by a brother residing in New Hampshire.

A World War II veteran, Mr. Plourde recently was discharged from military service and was not as yet employed. He saw three year's service in the European theater.
