Harrison, Raymond Cornelius
1899 WI – 1940 WI

Cottage Grove is waiting for the day when its first war hero will come back to tell all about it. When Raymond Harrison returns he will have a story to relate which in variety of experience will be approached by that of few American soldiers. Harrison, who was one of the survivors of the torpedoed Tuscania, is also a member of the Wisconsin-Michigan division which was first to fight on German soil. He is the son of Albert Harrison, building contractor.

SOLDIER BROTHERS HAVE FULL SHARE OF EXCITEMENT

Oscar Harrison.

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Harrison, Cottage Grove, have had their full share of experiences in the war. Both are still overseas.

Raymond, aged 19, was aboard the Tuscania when it was torpedoed, Feb. 5, 1918, and his name was among the first survivors. Since then he has seen service on every active fighting front in France. He was transferred from the 32nd division to the 101st Supply train, 26th division, and has been driving a truck carrying supplies to the front lines. His parents expect a message soon announcing his arrival at an eastern port.

Oscar, aged 25, has been over the top three times in some of the biggest battles, as a member of the 64th Infantry, 4th division. He escaped without injury, aside from a gassing that kept him in the hospital nine days. He left Waco for France Sept. 8 and is in the same unit as that of John Arnold, former Dane county jail turnkey. This company is now with the army of occupation.

Both Oscar and Raymond are big chaps. The older boy is six feet one inch tall and weighs 225 pounds. The younger is six feet tall and weighs 200.

MADISON, Wis., May 2 (AP)—Raymond Harrison, recently defeated for re-election as treasurer of the village of Cottage Grove, was found dead today in his automobile on a country road near Hope.

Former Village Officer Suicide; Books Short

COTTAGE GROVE, Wis.—Raymond Harrison, about 42, former treasurer of the village of Cottage Grove, committed suicide today following disclosures of a shortage of about $700 in village funds, Coroner Wayne Fisher said.

Harrison's body was found in his automobile on a township road about 2 miles southeast of Hope shortly before 7 this morning. A hose ran from the exhaust pipe into a rear window of the car, which was filled with carbon monoxide gas, the coroner declared.

Fisher said that the Cottage Grove village board reported several days ago that there was a shortage of about $700 in village funds handled by Harrison. Harrison had been defeated for re-election as village treasurer Apr.

2 and his books had been audited since that time, it was said.

Harrison left his home about 1 a. m. today and after cutting off a piece of hose from a gasoline pump at the Farmers' Oil Co-operative here, drove into the country and committed suicide, Fisher said.

A suicide note, left by Harrison, was found by the man's wife shortly after he had gone, and Mrs. Harrison and W. M. Adamson, Cottage Grove lumber dealer, a friend of Harrison, searched all night for the man. They found him dead this morning.

Fisher said that Harrison had been a carpenter contractor. He was a member of the Cottage Grove Presbyterian church and the local American Legion post.

Survivors, besides his wife, are one son, Dale, 16; two daughters, Beverly, 10; Beth, 3; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harrison; and one brother, Oscar, all of Cottage Grove; and two sisters, Alma and Helen. The body was taken to the Dyrud funeral home, Madison.

The claim the books are short was proved false — "Madison (WI) Capital Times" 2 May 1940 p 1

Harrison, Contractor, Kills Self

Raymond Harrison, 40, contractor and former Cottage Grove treasurer, committed suicide early today in his car on a town road two miles southeast of Hope, Coroner Wayne Fisher announced after an investigation. Harrison was about $700 short in his village accounts, Fisher reported.

The former village official had been missing from his home since 1 a. m. today, Fisher said. The body was found in the car about six hours later by Mrs. Harrison, W. M. Adamson, and I. J. Witte, all of Cottage Grove, after several hours' search.

Mr. Harrison had cut a piece of hose from a pump at the Farmers' Cooperative oil station in Cottage Grove. The hose was found connected to the exhaust and pushed through a window to carry carbon monoxide fumes into the car, Fisher said.

Mr. Harrison held the village treasurer's office until April 2, but did not run for reelection then, the coroner said. Witte, who is a Cottage Grove supervisor, revealed the village board started an audit of the books two weeks ago.

Harold Duckert, former village president, has been auditing the books, Witte said. Duckert said he would not finish the audit for another week, and while admitting the "books weren't okay," would not comment on the reported deficit until the check was completed.

Mr. Harrison was a carpenter contractor who had been handling several house jobs recently in Madison. He was a member of the American Legion and the Cottage Grove Presbyterian church. During the war he was rescued after the sinking of the troopship Tuscania, and was landed with other survivors in Ireland. He was a member of the Tuscania survivors' group. Survivors include the widow; three children, Dale, 16; Beverly, 10, and Beth Ann, 3; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harrison, Cottage Grove; a brother, Oscar, Cottage Grove, and two sisters. The body was taken to the Dyrud funeral home.

Harrison Services To Be On Sunday

COTTAGE GROVE, Wis.—Funeral services for Raymond Harrison, 40, former treasurer of the village of Cottage Grove, will be held Sunday at 1:15 at the Dyrud funeral home, Madison, and at 2 in the Bryn Maur Presbyterian church here, with the Rev. Louis Boltina, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Cottage Grove cemetery.

Harrison committed suicide Thursday morning following disclosures of a shortage of about $700 in village funds, Coroner Wayne Fisher said.

Mrs. Elma Naset, Chicago, sister of Harrison, said her brother had been despondent for about a year. A veteran of the World war and a survivor of the sinking of the troopship, Tuscania, he had been affected by the war news during recent months, and he had also been worried regarding financial difficulties in his contracting business and illness in his family, Mrs. Naset said.

Harrison was a member of the Deerfield Masonic lodge, the American Legion and the Tuscania Survivors' association.

He is survived by his wife; three children, Dale, 16; Beverly, 10, and Beth Ann, 3; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harrison, Cottage Grove; a brother, Oscar, Cottage Grove, and two sisters, Mrs. George Schultz, Cottage Grove, and Mrs. Naset.

Audit Clears Harrison of Shortage Charge

A complete audit of the finances of the village of Cottage Grove cleared Raymond Harrison, contractor and former village treasurer, of any shortage, village officials said Saturday night.

After Harrison committed suicide Thursday with his auto's carbon monoxide, Coroner Wayne Fisher said Harrison was about $700 short in his village accounts.

But Harold Duckert, former village president, who had been auditing the village books, said Saturday night there was no shortage. At the time of Harrison's death, Duckert admitted the "books weren't okay" but he explained Saturday night he meant they were not "regular" in the bookkeeping sense of the word.

COTTAGE GROVE BOY ON TUSCANIA TELLS STORY

Raymond Harrison Describ's Rescue In Letter to Mother; Jumps From Lifeboat: Crushed Between Destroyer and Ship

Raymond Harrison of Cottage Grove was one of the Wisconsin soldiers aboard the transport Tuscania when it was sunk by a German submarine. His name was among the first reported in the list of survivors and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Harrison, were the first to learn of their son's safety thru The State Journal. He is now somewhere in France with Co. E, 107th Supply Train. The following letter, written to his mother, describes his rescue and subsequent events after the survivors were landed:

Somewhere in France,
March 30, 1918.

Dear Mother:

I received your letter of March 8 wanting me to tell you more about the sinking of the Tuscania. Well, here goes. The ship was going at a pretty good speed and was riding pretty smooth. I was sitting on D deck talking to one of my pals. We were talking about the good times that we were going to have when we got home again, when all of a sudden we heard a loud crash and all the lights went out. We all jumped up and grab-things to eat and also cigarettes. I was beginning to feel pretty sick just at that time so I could not eat anything. I finally had to get up in one of the hammocks that was in the destroyer, and went to sleep.

I woke up after sleeping four hours by hearing an awful noise. I certainly was scared then, for I thought that the destroyer was hit by a torpedo, but I found out that they were only letting the anchor down. We then got off from the destroyer and boarded a tug boat, which took us to the harbor.

Next we marched to a camp about a mile away. There the British soldiers gave us something to eat and a place to sleep.

Names Sent to Washington

Then our officers took all our names and these were sent in to Washington. We stayed in that camp for two days and then we took a boat across the Irish sea. That only took us about three hours. Then we took a train for a camp in the lower part of England. We stayed there for quite a while. Then we moved from there across the English channel. We had a nice bed our life belts and made our way up to the outer deck. We then went to the places where we belonged.

There was a certain detail that was appointed to lower the life boats. We were pretty anxious for our life-boat to come down, for we did not know how long the ship would stay up. There was quite a bit of time put in because they were not used to lowering the boats, and it was about half an hour before I got into the boat that was assigned to me.

Destroyer Crushes Lifeboat

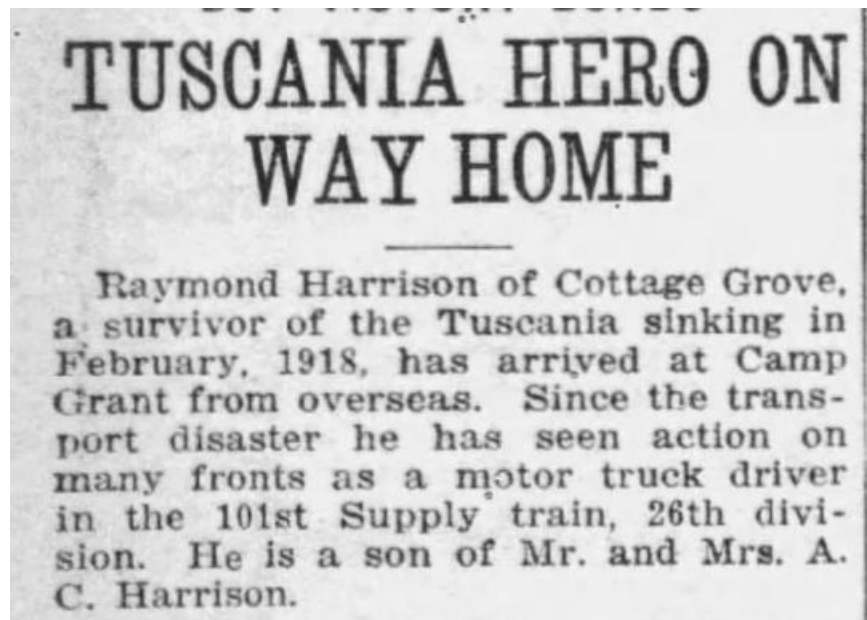

Just when our boat hit the water, a destroyer pulled up to the ship to take off the men. The life boat was between the ship and the destroyer, and the men just managed to get out of the life boat when it was all smashed to pieces. I went down below in the destroyer and there they were, passing around trip across and we landed in a French port. We then marched to a camp a couple of miles from town. We stayed there two nights and then left for the place we are now in.

We were on the trains two days and one night. The riding was not of the best for we traveled in box cars. That is the way they move soldiers over here. The town we are now in is not very large. It is a town that the U. S. government took charge of, and we had to clear it up. That was not much of a job for we had quite a few men working every day. We sleep in small rooms above barns and houses. They do not use tents very much over here for they are too easy to be seen at a distance. Our company is getting ready to move to a larger camp now. There we will settle down to hard work, but then that is what we expected.

Life

His lifeboat was almost smashed between the Tuscania & a rescuing destroyer. He went below deck on the destroyer to find food & cigarettes, but feeling ill, went back to the top deck & slept in a hammock. He was awoken 4 hours later by a loud noise, which was the anchor being lowered at port. He took a tug to shore & then went to a camp a mile away. East Senior Dies as Car Hits Truck

An East high school senior, Dale B. Harrison, 17, Cottage Grove, was fatally injured early Sunday when his car collided with a heavy freight truck at the intersection of Highways 12, 18, and 51 near the Dutch Mill. The youth, alone in the car, was headed homeward when his car met a Moland Trucking co. truck driven by Walter Hall, 2, Stevens Point. The heavy truck, headed west, carried the car 110 feet down the road, demolishing it. The truck tipped over, and the engine of the Harrison car caught fire. Hall escaped with bruises. Harrison was living when Deputies Paul Lapple and Joe Walker took him into Madison, but died before he could be brought to a hospital. Coroner Wayne Fisher said he would not call an inquest. Fisher said the truck driver and a witness, R. H. Gullickson, living near the intersection, both said the youth drove through the red light into the truck's path. Harrison had been playing with an orchestra at Mt. Horeb Saturday night. He was to have graduated from East high school this June, and had been active in the school band. Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Raymond Harrison, and two sisters, Beverly and Beth, both at home.
