Veterans re-organize

Members of the 32nd Division, the famed Red Arrow Division and veterans of World War I met to re-organize their group Monday at the Elks Club. The Red Arrow Division was the first to leave Kenosha during the war and the sixth division of 94 that went to France. The group departed July 21, 1917, for Camp Douglas, Wis., and later transferred to Camp McArthur, Tex., where the 32nd was officially formed. They went to France in February, 1918, and were later described by General Pershing as "one of four elite divisions of the American Expeditionary Forces." Shown here, seated from left, are Howard G. Coates, Milton L. Belles, secretary-treasurer, Karl W. Hultenius and A. Walker Perkins, chairman of the permanent memorial fund committee. Standing, from left, are George Degen and Harry F. Metten. Emil J. Larsen, president, was not present for the photo.

Karl Hultenius: survivor

They bombed his boat

By JERRY KUYPER
Staff Writer

He missed the sinking of the Titanic, but six years later he made the sinking of the S.S. Tuscania.

Karl Hultenius, 86, 1121 83rd St., was on the Tuscania when Germans torpedoed it 60 years ago this week, on Feb. 5, 1918, in the North Channel between Ireland and Scotland.

Hultenius was in the army, on his way to France to fight Germans during World War I.

In 1912 he had booked passage on the Titanic, for America, from his homeland of Sweden. "I was supposed to have been on that ship," said Hultenius, "but somehow or other I wasn't placed on it so I missed the sinking."

The British vessel sank on its maiden voyage after striking an iceberg April 14, 1912, off the coast of Newfoundland.

Loss of life on the Tuscania wasn't as extensive as on the Titanic. Of the 2,156 aboard, 266 died. The Tuscania was in a convoy of eight destroyers and a cruiser when the torpedo struck the starboard side of the ship.

Hultenius was below deck with his brother, Rudolph, eating. "My brother and I hadn't eaten yet so we were sitting there about 5 in the afternoon when we got hit. The ship turned over to its side and somebody yelled for everybody to get up on deck."

IT WAS CHAOS topside. The lifeboats on the right side of the ship had been shattered by the explosion. Those on the left side were difficult to lower into the channel waters due to the suction caused by the sinking ship.

Hultenius helped load some men onto the lifeboats and then started to search for his brother. He couldn't find him. What he found though, on one end of the ship, was a rowboat. Since all the lifeboats, with 65 men in each, had already been launched, he and six other men lowered their rowboat into the channel that separates the Irish Sea from the Atlantic Ocean. They found three other men in the water, hauled them aboard, and started hoping.

They were hoping to hit land — but which land, they didn't know. "We didn't know where we were," said Hultenius. "It got dark soon and we couldn't see a thing. We drifted a lot. We had no idea whatsoever where we were. For all we knew we were off the coast of Germany. Nobody ever told us our destination on that ship. We just knew we were being sent over to fight."

SO WHEN THE TORPEDO struck, Hultenius and other soldiers on board weren't sure if the nearest continent would be Europe, Africa or Asia. As it turned out they were closer to Europe, just off the coast of Scotland. It took the rowboat until 5 a.m. the next day to wash ashore on a rocky beach.

"We didn't know which country we were in but we just started walking, anyway," said Hultenius. They walked into a Scottish village where they were treated to breakfast in a post office and a bed at the local hotel.

They remained in the village several weeks, searching for survivors from the lifeboats and burying the dead from those same boats.

"A lot of lives were lost when those lifeboats crashed into rocks offshore," said Hultenius. "Our litt le boat was lucky and made it through to safety," he said.

After recuperating, Hultenius decided to rejoin his military company, stationed in the south of England. He set out for the company never expecting to see his brother again. There was some surprise and cheer when one of the first to greet him at company headquarters was none other than Rudolph.

"Rudolph thought I had died and I thought he had died," said Hultenius, "but here we both were alive." Rudolph lived until his natural death a year ago in kenosha at the age of 81.

AFTER THE 2,000-pound torpedo hit the Tuscania below the water line, Rudolph had joined the others on deck. Spaces on the lifeboats filled up fast and Rudolph wasn't fast enough selecting a seat. He remained aboard the sinking Tuscania. That was his good fortune. Three British ships swung close enough to the doomed destroyer to allow men to leap from the sinking vessel to safety. And Rudolph was one of those. He and the rescued were taken aboard either the H.M.S. Grasshopper, H.M.S. Mosquito or H.M.S. Pigeon and taken below for a drink of whiskey.

Few Tuscania survivors are left. Hultenius is among only a few dozen still living.

He has never ventured back to Scotland or to the vicinity of his adventure, nor does he care to. The Tuscania still lies at the bottom of the North Channel, under 300 feet of water some 10 miles from the spot where Hultenius beached his rowboat 60 years ago.

Arrived in a rowboat with 9 other men on the isle of Islay, Scotland – he & brother Rudolph had been eating dinner when the torpedo struck – helped with Islay burials – "Kenosha (WI) News" Wednesday 8 Feb 1978 p 17

ORDER POLICE TO START ROUND-UP

Local Exemption Boards Tell Sheriff and Police to Seek Delinquents from Army Service.

CITY HAS SHORT LIST

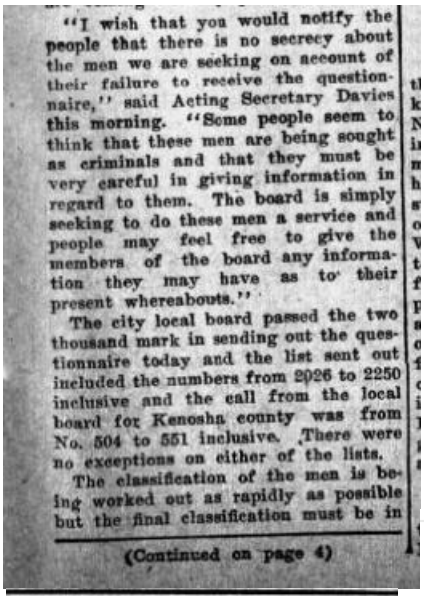

Only Little Over Two Per Cent of Men to Whom First Questionnaire Was Sent Are Not Accounted For—Many Are In Military Service Now.

The order to pick up delinquents who have failed to make proper return of the questionnaire was sent to the sheriff and the chief of police by the local draft boards today and for the next six weeks these officials are expected to give a lot of their time seeking men wanted for miltiary service who have failed to respond. The county turned over to the sheriff a list of ten men whose names were made public on Wednesday and within an hour after the list had returned to the sheriff three of the number had been accounted for and one of them had filed his questionnaire. Deputies are going out this afternoon in an effort to round up the other men and it is expected that every one of the men still in Kenosha county will be rounded up. Some of the men declared to the sheriff that they had forwarded the questionnaire by mail and that it had been lost in the mail. A very small percentage of the delinquents are thought to have left the county.

The chief of police had a list of twenty names as the first offering of the city local board. However, from the twenty men sought but six were charged with avoiding service, as the other fourteen men were in government service either with the army in the field or in camp or with the various departments of the government in Washington or other cities. This list included Sydney J. Maddock, who is making a conspicuous success handling a big department of war relief in Washington. His questionnaire will undoubtedly come in in good time and no anxiety is felt for him; Leslie H. Leininger, who is in the government service at Columbus, Ohio, and who is probably out on field work and detained from sending in his blank; Dr. Albert J. Randall, who is now a commissioned officer in the Canadian army and awaiting the order for over-seas service; Dr. Howard Morrisey, who is with the dental reserves somewhere in America.

Men included in the list who were volunteers with the army are: Elmer Williams, Joseph C. Mayer, Carl F. Taube, Walter F. Bain, Lester Crook, Hjalmar Hultenius, Charles Bushman and Frank Hanna. These men are all in service and it may be some days before the questionnaire reaches them and they have a chance to return it. Until formal orders are received showing that these men are already in the service of the army they must be held as delinquent by the local board. Francesco Locante, who was listed as delinquent informed the board this morning that he had entrusted the return of his questionnaire to a local attorney and it is expected to come in during the day. The list is thus reduced to Sam Chiapetta, Joseph Metallo, Edward Hanson, Mato Horvat, Ancenxio Zorletti, Savenn Zarsnkowski.

On account of the large alien population of Kenosha it was feared that Kenosha would have a very large percentage of deliquencies in the return of the questionnaire, but the foreign born citizens are quick to learn the ways of the board and their returns are coming in very promptly.

"I wish that you would notify the people that there is no secrecy about the men we are seeking on account of their failure to receive the questionnaire," said Acting Secretary Davies this morning. "Some people seem to think that these men are being sought as criminals and that they must be very careful in giving information in regard to them. The board is simply seeking to do these men a service and people may feel free to give the members of the board any information they may have as to their present whereabouts."

The city local board passed the two thousand mark in sending out the questionnaire today and the list sent out included the numbers from 2026 to 2250 inclusive and the call from the local board for Kenosha county was from No. 504 to 551 inclusive. There were no exceptions on either of the lists.

The classification of the men is being worked out as rapidly as possible but the final classification must be in the hands of the district boards. The local records are all being kept in an excellent order and the great work of getting men in Kenosha city and county into the right classes will be worked out in short order after the records are turned over. It is expected that it will take another month to complete the sending out and the filling up of the questionnaire.

Telegrams from Washington today brought the report that fourteen more victims of the Tuscania were laid at rest in a little Irish village on Tuesday afternoon but the same report says that the government is now making vigorous efforts to get some facts in regard to two hundred and twenty-eight soldiers who sailed on the Tuscania who have not been accounted for. Vagrant reports were still coming in today telling of survivors. Congressman H. A. Cooper and Sydney Maddock were eagerly watching every list that came into the war department but up to noon today they had received no word of the safety of Corporal Arthur Junker or Private Karl Hultenius of Kenosha. "We are still hopeful that these two boys' names will be among the list of survivors which may come in later," was the comfort which Congressman Cooper held out in his telegram just after noon today.

"For Old Glory".

"Old Glory" shines with new brilliancy in Kenosha. Its stripes have been dyed anew with the crimson blood of Kenosha's manhood, its blue has been made deeper with the loyalty of their devotion and its stars are tipped with new luster by the willingness of their sacrifice.

Grief has enshrouded the city as it has become certain that three of its soldiers have already paid the last "full measure of devotion" to the cause of freedom but beneath that sorrow every heart has quickened with a new thrill as they saw "Old Glory" and realized that Kenosha blood had given it a new splendour. Corporals Otto Mowrey and Arthur Junker and Private Karl Hulkenius have brought by their supreme sacrifice an honor to Kenosha, which years cannot dull—they have added a brilliancy to the hundreds of flags which float in Kenosha, which time can never dim.

These three Kenosha heroes have sacrificed to the full—at the very threshold of life, they have laid it down, that others might enjoy freedom and they have willingly made the sacrifice. But had they lived beyond the three score years and ten, had they gone from honor to honor, they could not have accomplished more in life than they did in the short span of years, which they were granted. The value of life is measured not in years but in deeds and in a score of years, these Kenosha heroes have done more than many have accomplished in prime and dotage. They have "fought a good fight and finished the course" unflinchingly.

Nearly a hundred and fifty years ago a mere slip of a boy was called upon to make a similar sacrifice. When English tyranny refused him even the honors of military execution, when life was about to be cut short almost before it was well started, Nathan Hale won fame in death when he said "I regret that I have but one life to give for my country." Death ended his brilliant career but his influence became the torch which lighted all the colonies to heroic defense of their liberties. Through his dying he accomplished more than he could have accomplished by living to be middle-aged or even old.

The 'boys in blue'' recall a similar scene when war threatened again to dim the splendor of the flag. They remember how by his tragic death Colonel Elsworth, at Alexandria, united the North and won undying glory by risking all—and losing—that the stars in the flag might keep their brilliancy. When Spanish insolence sent to a watery grave a score of brave American youths, their martyrdom to duty was the clarion call to freedom-loving America to keep sacred her heritage as the defender of the oppressed.

The Kenosha soldiers who found death on the ''Tuscania'' have followed in the footsteps of these heroes. They have brought to this city an honor which could only be purchased with their life's blood. By their sacrifice they have placed Kenosha among the first score of cities of this nation whose manhood was first called upon in this war to sacrifice to the full for the benefit of their liberty and of ours.

These Kenosha soldiers, like Samson, have done more in their death than they could have accomplished by living. They have marked out with their own life blood the trail which we must follow. They have thrown down to us, whom they volunteered to protect a challenge which shall not be answered until a democratic peace shall have made a repetition of the Tuscania disaster an impossibility.

When the waves of the Atlantic closed over the bodies of these Kenosha soldiers, a new significance was added to the flag for us. Let that new luster burn itself so deeply into our very souls that we shall turn with renewed energy to every effort that shall tend toward the winning of the war and the protection of the sacred liberties for which they offered all. Let every gleam from ''Old Glory'' cause us to renew our pledge of fidelity to the cause for which they died. Let it rekindle the fires of patriotism and prevent them from ever burning low; let it increase our resolve our resolve to make any sacrifice, which our cause—the cause of right and freedom—may demand. This is the faith we must keep with our dead.

Then, if we shall keep our trust, truly they shall not have died in vain.

MOWREY DEATH BRINGS ANXIETY

Kenosha Corporal Had Been Reported as "Saved" In Official Message from Washington.

PARENTS CAN'T UNDERSTAND

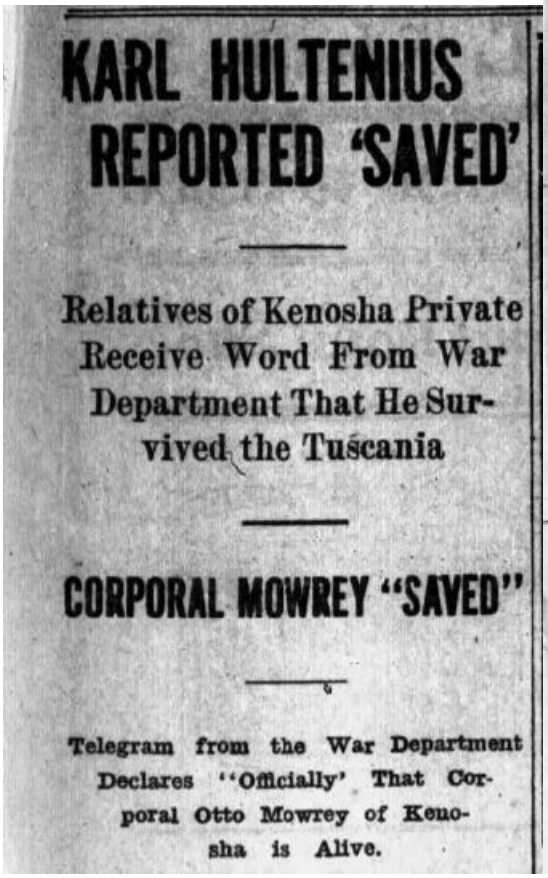

No Further Reports Are Received In Regard to Other Men Whose Names Have Not Appeared in List of Survivors or Missing from Tuscania.

Telegrams from Washington today brought nothing to relieve the anxiety of the relatives of Corporal Arthur Junker and Private Karl H. Hultenius who were named in the list of missing lis tof the transport "Tuscania." No further lists of the "known dead" reached Kenosha today and the short lists of "additional survivors" which have been given out in Washington did not contain the names of any of the Kenosha men from whom news is still anxiously awaited. The fact that the names of Corporal Junker and Private Hultenius do not appear in the list of the known dead has brought a new hope that their names may yet be received as among the survivors.

Nothing has been heard which has cleared up the doubt which surrounded the fate of Private John Mitchell. Although messages from the adjutant general on last Saturday evening announced John Mitchell as one of the survivors his name has been placed among the missing and anxiety is still felt for him.

KARL HULTENIUS REPORTED 'SAVED'

Relatives of Kenosha Private Receive Word From War Department That He Survived the Tuscania

CORPORAL MOWREY "SAVED"

Telegram from the War Department Declares "Officially' That Corporal Otto Mowrey of Kenosha is Alive.

Karl Hultenius, Kenosha man who was a private in Company B of the 107th Supply Train, who has been persistently reported as "missing" in reports of the sinking of the transport Tuscania, may be safe "over there." Relatives of the young soldier on Thursday announced that they had received from the War Department in Washington a telegram signed by the adjutant general which declared that Private Karl Hultenius was announced in the list of survivors of the sunken transport. The message is similar to other messages which have been received by the relatives of young men from Kenosha who were passengers on the ill-fated transport.

Corporal Otto A. Mowrey of Kenosha, who was reported to have been buried in Grave No. 1 in a trench on the coast of Scotland, is now declared "officially" to be one of the survivors of the Tuscania. Following demands for information sent by relatives of Corporal Mowrey in Kenosha the War Department on Thursday afternoon sent a telegram to Mrs. Sally Mowrey, the mother of the young soldier. This message said that Corporal Otto A. Mowrey was "officially" announced as one of the survivors of the Tuscania.

Unofficial messages from Washington declare that the announcement of the burial of Corporal Otto Mowrey on Wednesday was due to a "garbled and misleading dispatch." This dispatch stated that one of the men buried was Otto M. Wrey. Previous to this a man bearing this name and coming from Coleman, Texas, had been reported as a survivor.

Members of the Mowrey family today appeared to be convinced that Corporal Mowrey is alive and on his way over to the big front in France.

Several letters from men who were aboard the Tuscania have come through to Kenosha. These are "soldier's letters" and they bear no post mark and it is supposed that they were sent out by the chief of staff at Hoboken, New Jersey, after the men were known to have landed somewhere on the other side. The letters tell nothing of the torpedoing of the transport or the battle for life by the Kenosha boys. It is probable that another week will pass before any direct word comes from Ireland or England from any of the Kenosha boys who were aboard the Tuscania and who escaped.

The coming of this late message declaring that Private Hultenius is safe brings hope that later messages may tell of the safety of Corporal Arthur Junker, who as yet has not been heard from. He was reported on the list of the missing, but his name does not appear anywhere on the list of the 'known dead" and there is hope that some belated report may indicate that he too was among those saved when the big transport went down off the Irish coast.

Mayor Charles H. Pfennig with a view of showing official grief over the possible loss of the Kenosha boys aboard the Tuscania, has directed that the City Hall flag be placed at half mast.

The mayor intimated that just as soon as official reports were received showing definitely the fate of the Kenosha boys, that some action would be taken to officially recognize their services to the city and to the nation.

Reports from Washington today indicate that there were still returns of survivors being sent into the department of war, but on the short lists received there did not appear any further names of Kenosha men who are known to have sailed with the Tuscania.

It is admitted that several troop ships sailed about the time that the Tuscania sailed and it is expected that within a few days word will be received announcing the safe arrival in France of a number of men who were supposed to have sailed on the Tuscania but who took some other transport. This is thought to be the fact in regard to Captain Edward Dayton. Not a word has been received from him by any of his relatives or friends since two weeks ago today. It is believed that he must have sailed for the big front about the time his messages stopped coming to Kenosha.

In the list given out by the War Department early today were the names of more than a hundred survivors. Many of the parents of these boys some days ago received telegrams from the department declaring that the boys were alive and on their way to France, but the official publication of the list came as interesting news to their friends. The list of Kenosha men included in the latest War Department list of the survivors include:

Tuscania Men to Relive Days of '18 Sinking

Kenosha Veterans on Ship Torpedoed Going to Convention

Kenosha will join with Milwaukee when more than 100 survivors of the torpedoed troop transport Tuscania will meet in Milwaukee February 5 to celebrate the fourteenth anniversary of their rescue from one of the World war's major sea disasters.

In Kenosha there are 31 members of the division that was on hand the Tuscania at the time, and many of these are planning on attending the meeting in Milwaukee at the Randolph hotel.

The Kenoshans are Henry M. Kleist, Norbert M. Tyson, Frank Tanking, H. Anderson, August Zura, Otto Mowry, Elmer Williams, Karl Hultenius, Rudolph Hultenius, Hodgeson Vale, Claude Forbes, Henry Huetten, Frank Lane, Edward W. Schmidt, Ernest Bolton, Harvey Earl, Lawrence Garglas, Fred Johnke, Louis Ed. Regnier, Robert F. Riley, Fred Mitchell, Otto Nelson, Victor J. Novak, Dominic Leonetti, Harold Bresnahan, Ray Stephenson, William Seltrecht, Henry Werner, Leo Hopper, Floyd Hill, and Fred A. Scholey.

Taking Reservations

Scholey is taking reservations for the Kenosha men for the banquet and meeting in Milwaukee. These should be telephoned to 2-3131 or 2-1184.

At Milwaukee the veterans will pay tribute to the 225 American soldiers, most of them from Wisconsin and Michigan, who perished, and will drink a toast to 1,954 comrades who were rescued.

The Tuscania Survivors' association, with headquarters in Milwaukee, will be host at the annual meeting, which will be featured this year by message of good will from the commander of the German submarine which sank the Tuscania.

Other features will be the appearance of the Wauwatosa drum corps of 42, champions of the American Legion, and presentation of souvenir medals to all attending members by the Cunard line, owners of the Tuscania.

Shipdeck is Reproduced

The medals picture the deck and cabin of the Tuscania, as it appeared with its cargo of soldiers.

A recital of the presentation of medals for valor in the rescue, given by the association in the last year, will be made.

Formally presented by American Legion posts, they went to Lieut. Com. John M. Smith of H. M. S. "Grasshopper," Lieut. Com. T. B. Fallowes, of H. M. S. "Mosquito" and Lieut. Com. K. E. Eddis of H. M. S. "Pigeon," presented posthumously.

Officers All Milwaukeeans

Of the 1,000 members of the association, 15 live in Milwaukee. All the officers are Milwaukee residents. They are M. W. Collins, 2735 N. Bartlett street, president; L. V. Zimmerman, 5502 W. Washington boulevard, vice-president, and Tracey Greene, 5362 N. Thirty-sixth street, secretary.

To Mr. Zimmerman, on behalf of the association, Dr. Wilhelm Meyer, commander of the U-77 that sent the Tuscania down, has written his greetings and well wishes for the annual survivors' reunion.

Written from Saarbrucken, Germany, the latter gives an insight into German political affairs. It says in part:

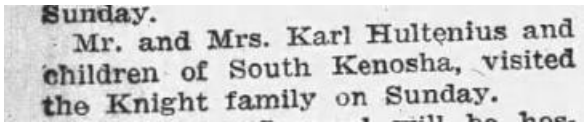

"Here in Germany our circumstances are becoming worse from day to day. Politically we are threatened on the one side by French imperialism, from another by Russian bolshevism.

Will Fight for Liberty

"The inner political situation regarding the frenzied payment of tribute to former enemy powers is such that in consequence we are stripped to a degree that threatens to knock down our economic stability. We have now over 5,000,000 unemployed and still more factories are being closed and workers laid off.

"That under these circumstances still further reparations be paid is impossible. The Versailles treaty must be annulled, otherwise there will be no peace in Europe. We Germans, and especially we former front line soldiers, do not further desire to live in servitude, and we will hazard everything to bring about again the freedom of our people."

Injuries Fatal to Pedestrian Struck by Car

Two Hurt in Another Accident; Seven Crashes Overnight

Struck by a car and hurled to the pavement as he was crossing Sheridan road less than three blocks from his home last night, Albert Rehbein, 41, 7206 Sheridan road, died in the Kenosha hospital several hours later with a blood clot on his lung.

Karl Hultenius, 46, Rhode street, Kenosha county, driver of the car which struck Rehbein, was not held. He told police he did not see Rehbein until he had struck him. No eyewitness of the crash has been found, but attempts are being made to locate two boys who rushed into a nearby store to report the crash and summon an ambulance.

The accident, which occurred at the intersection of Sheridan road and Seventy-fifth street about 8 o'clock last night, was one of a series of seven reported in the city and county overnight. Six of the crashes took place in the city, two persons being painfully injured in one of these.

Hultenius was traveling north on Sheridan road when Rehbein, who was returning home, attempted to cross the street from west to east. Hultenius, who told officers the traffic lights were showing green, said he failed to see Rehbein until the latter was directly in his path. Rehbein was five feet from the east curb when he was struck.

Thrown Eight Feet

The body was thrown eight feet by the impact. Hultenius stopped his car within 25 feet of the point of the accident, officers said.

Two boys who have not yet been located rushed into a nearby drugstore to summon medical aid, while a group of men, arriving on the scene soon afterward, carried the unconscious form of the victim into the same store for emergency treatment.

Police rushed Rehbein to the Kenosha hospital, where he was treated by Dr. J. F. Hastings for bruises about the head and right arm. A thorough examination revealed that he was suffering from a possible brain injury, but the latter did not appear serious. No other injuries were disclosed by the examination, and Rehbein appeared to be resting comfortably, giving no hint of a possible critical injury.

Turns for Worse

At 10 o'clock, two hours after the crash, his condition still appeared normal, but at 12:30 he took a sudden turn for the worse. Oxygen was administered, but he failed to rally, and shortly before 1 a. m. he was pronounced dead of a blood clot in the lung.

He had never gained consciousness after the crash.

Coroner James A. Crossin and Deputy Coroner Jay Glerum, together with police, continued their investigation today in an attempt to secure witnesses to the crash. The question of an inquest will be determined Monday.

Albert Charles Rehbein, long an employe of the Simmons company, was widely known in Kenosha.

He was born in Menominee, Mich., June 17, 1892, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Rehbein. In childhood, he moved to Marinette, Wis., with his parents, where he spent his early life and received his education.

The story continues with more details about Rehbein ... "Kenosha (WI) News" Saturday 2 Dec 1933 p 1

No Witnesses in Car Death

Rehbein Case Evidence Shows Accidental Death, Coroner Says

Because no eye-witnesses have been discovered in the accident in which Albert Charles Rehbein was fatally injured Friday night, Coroner Joseph Crossin today declared he had made no decision regarding the holding of an inquest.

The two young men who helped Karl Hultenius, driver of the car that struck Rehbein as the latter was walking across the street, said they did not see the accident. They merely helped lift the injured man to the curb, they said.

Hultenius was not held. Coroner Crossin declared that the evidence secured in his investigation thus far revealed that Rehbein walked across the street against the traffic lights.

Funeral services for Rehbein will be held from the Hansen runeral home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with burial following in the family plot in Green Ridge cemetery.

The child was rushed to the Kenosha hospital where he was treated for bruises on his head and face.

Tuscania Vets Pick Kenosha for 1940 Meet

National Tuscania Survivors Assn. to Stage Reunion Here Feb. 3-5

Kenosha will be host to the 1940 convention of the National Tuscania Survivors association Feb. 3-5, it was announced here today by Frank Tanking, newly-elected president of the association.

The Kenosha bid for the 22nd annual convention was presented at the executive board meeting in Milwaukee and was accepted. Ray Stephenson, also of Kenosha, is the association secretary.

Dr. Fred Vater, Milwaukee, is chairman of the executive board.

The association stages its annual reunion on the anniversary of the sinking of the Allied transport Tuscania with a loss of 226 American soldiers. The ship carried a large consignment of Wisconsin troops, and there were 350 Wisconsin survivors of the war-time naval tragedy. There were 31 Kenosha soldiers on board the ship who survived.

Convention Here in 1934

Kenosha was last host to the national convention in 1934, and the 1939 meeting was held at Minneapolis. In Kenosha the reunion brought together survivors of the sinking who joined in the hand of friendship extended to sailors of the German navy who were their enemies during the war.

It was at the time of the convention in Chicago in 1933 when efforts were made to bring the commander of the German U-boat which sank the Tuscania to America for the convention. He is Capt. Wilhelm Meyer. His failing health, however, prevented the trip.

Leo V. Zimmermann, Milwaukee, who is national historian of the association and who is also credited with being its founder, will assist the Kenosha officers in extending the invitations for the convention and reunion, and the Kenosha Chamber of Commerce will also cooperate.

Kenosha Survivors

The National Tuscania Survivors association was organized in 1926 in Milwaukee, and the 1,954 survivors of the sinking were listed as charter members. Today this number has been reduced considerably, but there are still several hundred members of the association who turn out for the reunion annually.

Here are the Kenosha members of the association listed at the time of the last reunion here:

Henry M. Kleist, Norbert M. Tyson, H. Anderson, August Zura, Otto Mowry, Elmer W. Williams, Karl Hjelmar Hultenius, Rudolph A. Hultenius, Hodgeson Vale, Claude H. Forbes, Henry W. Huetten, Frank M. Tuscania Sinking Recalled as Vets Cancel Reunion

At an hour just before dawn 25 years ago Friday an American troopship, the Tuscania, was torpedoed by a German submarine as it approached the Irish shore bearing American soldiers to Europe for the great conflict.

On board were many members of the Thirty-second Division, recruited from Michigan and Wisconsin. Included were 29 Kenosha soldiers, and when the word was flashed back to Washington that the ship had been sunk there was many an anxious heart in Kenosha.

The loss of life was small, however, and one Kenosha soldier gave up his life. He was Arthur Junker. The others from Kenosha suffered no more than a soaking while in the water waiting to be picked up by convoy ships that rushed to the rescue of the Tuscania survivors.

Growing out of this incident was the Tuscania Survivors Association, an organization of veterans of the sinking. Fred A. Scholey, Kenosha, is a former national president of the association. Each year the men got together on the anniversary date and staged a reunion. The meeting was scheduled for Beloit tomorrow, but it has been canceled because of the war.

Here is the list of Kenosha men on board the ship when it was torpedoed:

Hans Anderson, Francis Anderson, Joe Bartol, Claude H. Forbes, William Garner, Floyd S. Hill, Carl Hultenius, Rudolph Hultenius, Leo Hopper, Henry W. Huetten, Arthur Junker, Charles Knaup, Albert Larson, Domenic Leonetti, John Mitchell, Otto Mowrey, Otto Nelson, Louis Regnier, Robert Riley, Fred A. Mark 30th Year For Company M

Thirty years ago this morning, Company M, Fourth Wisconsin Infantry, marched through Kenosha to the railway station and embarked on a trip from which many never returned.

Company M was the first infantry unit to be furnished by Kenosha during the war, although a cavalry troop, later converted to an artillery battery under Capt. John S. Coney, had left previously. The company was recruited personally by its company commander, Captain Ed Dayton, after other recruiters had given up the attempt as impossible.

The company trained at Camp Douglas, Wisconsin, Camp MacArthur, Texas, and Camp Merritt, New Jersey, before beginning its eighteen months of combat service at the front in France. In addition to Capt. Dayton, it was staffed by Lieutenants Asbury H. Vale and Francis A. Singer.

Part of the company sailed to Europe on the liner Tuscania which was torpedoed and sunk en route. Cpl. Arthur Junker was lost in this action, one of Kenosha's first casualties.

New Tuscania List Compiled

An updating of Kenosha's list of S. S. Tuscania survivors was offered today by John J. Young, 7401 41st Ave.

Young was one of four Kenoshans who attended a reunion of the survivors of the World War I sinking of the British troopship at Milwaukee Cudworth American Legion Post clubhouse last week. Other Kenoshans who attended the meeting that marked the 40th anniversary of the tragedy were Hans Andersen, Claude Forbes and Otto Mowrey.

In the sinking of the ship in the north channel off the Irish coast on Feb. 5, 1918, 226 American soldiers lost their lives. In 1926, a group of the survivors formed the National Tuscania Survivors Association in a meeting at Milwaukee, and since that time reunions have been held on an annual basis.

In the meeting all officers of the association were re-elected. They are President Harry Livens, Milwaukee; Secretary-treasurer Edward T. Lauer, Wauwatosa; Historian Leo V. Zimmermann, Milwaukee, and Chaplain Harry Vanderburg, Mukwonago.

Young's new listing of the present Kenosha survivors of the disaster includes in addition to the four who attended the reunion: William L. Garner, Floyd S. Hill, Leo Hopper, Karl Hultenius, Rudolph Hultenius, Henry W. Huetten, Charles W. Knaup, John Mitchell, Louis E. Regnier, Norbert M. Tyson, Frank H. Tanking, Fred Young and August Zura. Young pointed out that in the intervening years since the troopship was sunk by German torpedoes, many of the members of the association have died and many have moved away from this area. He said that he is interested in securing a complete listing of the known survivors.

M Troop roster from WWI found

The names of the 154 officers and men of Company M, Fourth Wisconsin Infantry who answered their country's call to arms on July 15, 1917, were not available to the News when a story on the 50th anniversary of the unit appeared this summer.

They have since been found and turned over for publication through the courtesy of Frank H. Tanking, 4226 Wilson Rd., a member of the unit.

Both Troop E, a cavalry unit, and Troop M were sent into service in World War I at the same time. A history of both units, which were composed mainly of Kenosha men, was published last July 24, but only the Troop E roster was available.

Listed here are the officers and men of Troop M:

The Kenosha County 32nd Division Red Arrow Club of World War I conducted the graveside services under A. Walker Perkins, acting for president Emil J. Larsen, who was absent.

Veterans, relatives and spectators rimmed the memorial oval to hear the opening prayer by chaplain Harry F. Metten; the pledge of allegiance, and the long list of World War I veterans who died abroad and at home.

John D. Davies recited the moving poem, "In Flanders Field," and the memorial wreath was placed by Karl Hultenius, Kenosha, and David Goldstein, Chicago, to mark the 50th club observance of rites for departed comrades.

Officers for the coming year were elected at a business session following. Louis M. Metten is president; Walter C. Karrmann, secretary-treasurer, and Harry F. Metten, chaplain.

Sunk by a U-boat

46 Kenosha soldiers on board the fated S.S. Tuscania in WWI

OLD KENOSHA

KENOSHA HISTORY CENTER PHOTOS

The S.S. Tuscania, which was sun by a German U-boat in World War I, with 46 Kenoshans on board. One, Arthur C. junker, perished.

BY DIANE GILES
FOR THE KENOSHA NEWS

Families of those going into combat have always endured the stress and worry that goes with loving someone who serves their country.

In 1918, Kenoshans held their collective breath as the U.S. War Department announced the sinking of the ocean liner SS Tuscania, sunk by a German U-boat submarine.

The Tuscania had the same fate as another Cunard Line ship, the SS Lusitania, which was sunk by a German sub three years earlier with Kenoshan businessman Charles Jeffrey on board.

This time there were 46 Kenoshans – Army officers and doughboys headed for Liverpool and ultimately the war zone in France – on board the Tuscania, among of the 2,013 soldiers and 384 crewmen traveling the icy depths of the Irish Sea. She was the first troopship to be torpedoed in World War One, struck on Tuesday, Feb. 5, 1918 after 12 days at sea.

For the complete roster of Kenosha soldiers on board see this story at kenoshanews.com.

The Kenoshans were in the Truck B, 107th Supply Train; Headquarters, 107 Supply Train; 1st Sanitary Squad, 32nd Div.; 107th Engineers; and the 58th Aero Squadron.

By the following Saturday, the government wired official reports to the Kenosha News building of the names of local survivors, covering a full 30 percent of the Kenosha boys.

Fear of fates unknown

Paper trail glitches put fear into the hearts of service families here.

At first, Otto Mowrey was reported as missing, but on Feb. 11, the family received word he was saved. Then on Feb. 13, Kenosha News received word that Mowrey was among 18 U.S. soldiers buried with military honors on the Scottish coast.

Except he wasn't.

John Mitchell was on a survivor list and also on the missing list.

Karl Hultenius, too, was reported as missing. The Hultenius family got notice that Karl had been saved on Feb. 15.

These stories made other Tuscania families in Kenosha apprehensive, not knowing what to think.

Censored cables and letters home from the servicemen ultimately curbed families' fears.

It wasn't until February 26 that the long delayed casualty list from the Tuscania disaster was released and it contained only one name from Kenosha: Corporal Arthur C. Junker.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1865 in Kenosha is named for Junker and another WWI Kenoshan casualty Corporal William Ball.

Floyd Hill's account

The first serviceman to send a cable home was Pvt. Floyd S. Hill, oldest son of William and Hulda Hill.

Later that year he sent a letter to the editor of The Spy, Kenosha High School's yearbook, which was published in the 1918 edition.

He wrote: "On the fateful fifth day of February at about 2 p.m., land was sighted on both sides of us. Everyone was in high spirits and we spend the greater part of the afternoon admiring the rocky coastlines of Ireland and Scotland...

"At 4:30 the order came to go below for supper and immediately after supper to get our life belts on and get on deck. We all laughed at the precaution and joked among ourselves about what little chance there was of the Kaiser's U-Boats getting the great "Tuscania".

"After supper, about 5:30 pm, I went below and sat on my bunk for a little chat with my friend Corporal Seltrecht before going on deck. We had sat there about fifteen minutes when there was a terrific explosion, and the great ship trembled like a leaf and suddenly took a great list to starboard. The shock of the explosion nearly threw us off of our bunk, and as the torpedo struck right in the engine room, every light went out and we were left to find our way out of the sleeping quarters in the dark...

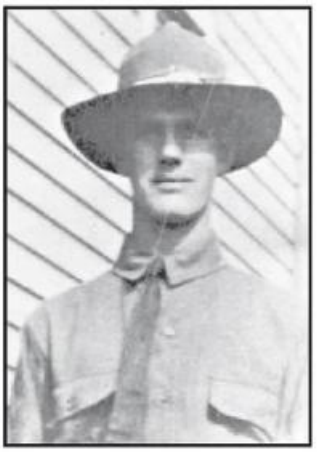

"After what seemed like ages, I finally found myself on the upper deck where the life boats to which my company had been assigned were supposed to be, only to find that the boats had been rendered useless by the force of the explosion. Things looked pretty dark for us, but no one in my company despaired."

When the order of "every man for himself" had been given, Hill and several of his comrades went over the side and found themselves in a lifeboat. They bailed with their hats like madmen when it was discovered that the lifeboat was leaking. In this manner, they kept the boat afloat for four hours.

A British trawler shone a light on them and when it came alongside, the soldiers scrambled on board. Soaked, cold and miserable, they were given hot tea and some fell asleep in the kitchen.

They landed the next day in Larne, Ireland where villagers gave them dry clothes and warm food.

"All the boys who landed at Larne will always have a warm spot in their hearts for the Irish people," Hill concluded.

Cpl. Arthur C. Junker, the only Kenosha soldier to die of the 46 Kenoshans on board the S.S. Tuscania.

Excerpts from the diary of Kenoshan Fred A. Scholey told a similar tale.

"Feb. 4 – Everybody sleeping in their clothes as ordered... During the night we met our convoy of seven destroyers, and this morning we are in the center of the bunch, 19 ships in all.

"Feb. 5 – The S.S. Tuscania was torpedoed off the coast of Ireland at eight minutes to 6 p.m. the torpedo hitting on the starboard side and exploding in the engine room."

Scholey was on Deck D and made his way to Deck B where his lifeboat was located. As he reached there, he saw their lifeboat lowered, but the ship's crew was in it. The next lifeboat was lowered with no one in it and the ropes broke, making it impossible to lower any more boats for his squad.

"Many of the boys jumped or slid down the ropes into the water, but as the boat was sinking slowly, I, with several others of our squad, began to sing and smoke."

About 8 p.m. the destroyer Mosquito came to the rescue and most of Scholey's squad got on board.

"I had hold of the rope to slide down, when an officer came to me saying there was a sick man he wanted to help down. I stepped aside, giving him the rope, which he used for himself and as the destroyer began to pull away, I was left behind."

"The emergency lights went out, leaving everything in darkness; and as the boat listed more, I prepared myself for death with the thoughts of the loved one at home."

But Scholey's luck held. About 9:15 p.m., the destroyer Pigeon came to the rescue and took him on board.

Curious shoppers sample new Bashas'

By Erin Zlomek
ERIN.ZLOMEK@ARIZONAREPUBLIC.COM

Bashas' supermarkets opened its first store in Surprise at 5 a.m. Wednesday and had welcomed nearly 1,500 customers by noon.

Decorated with pumpkins, candy corn-shaped balloons and ghoulish figures for Halloween, the store at 15367 W. Waddell Road anchors the Marley Park Commercial center in DMB Associates' upscale Marley Park community.

Many curious Surprise residents browsed the store Wednesday to fill up on free samples and to see whether the chain had an edge over nearby Fry's and Safeway.

Surprise and Rancho Gabriela resident Eunice Royal strolled the aisles armed with a pen and paper and took notes.

"I'm doing comparative shopping," she said. "So far, Wal-Mart beats them on prices. I wouldn't buy meats or vegetables at Wal-Mart, but I would go there for the staples."

Royal said she was most impressed with the Bashas' location, within walking distance of several housing developments, including her own. She also proudly held up a microwavable Swanson Foods' chicken pot pie, which she said is her favorite fast-food dish, but nearly impossible to find at Wal-Mart.

Surprise resident Jack Hultenius, his daughter, Penny McFeely, and great-granddaughter Emelie McFeely, 3, also shopped around.

Hultenius said he, too, thought Bashas was pricier than his local Fry's, but said he was impressed by several of the store's features, such as the in-store child care play center. At the center, parents can drop off their kids for up to 90 minutes while they shop.

The 49,000-square-foot store also features a pharmacy, a full-service deli, a Chinese food-to-go bar, a Starbucks, a Chase Bank and a natural-choice section that features health supplements, vitamins and organic foods, Bashas' spokeswoman Alison Bendler said.

The store employs about 100 people, many of whom are transfers from other Bashas' stores, Bendler said.

Also going in at the Marley Park Commercial center will be Martineau Family and Cosmetic Dentistry, Euphoria Salon and Day Spa, OH! Formaggio Pizza, H & R Block, Great Clips, Nails of the World, State Farm Insurance and Vogue Bistro. Other tenants have yet to be announced.

Her husband is a Navy veteran who studied for one year at the Milwaukee State Teachers' college. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bedore of 2721 Buchanan road, Mr. Bedore will enter Spencerian college in Milwaukee in the fall.

Details which added to the beauty of the ceremony included church decorations and traditional music. Bouquets of gladioli were on the altar and a white carpet was laid the length of the aisle. Music was by Mrs. Walter Starr, soloist, and Mrs. Schneider, organist, whose selections were "O Perfect Love" and "The Day of Golden Promise."

Colonial Gown

Miss Hultenius wore a white gown of musseline de soie fashioned on colonial lines. It had a high neckline with bertha collar, and a three-tiered skirt extended into a train. Her fingertip veil was of net and held by a halo crown of lace. She carried white roses arranged in a round bouquet. Karl Hultenius gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Carl Hultenius was matron of honor in a pink gown made like that of the bride except that the skirt, plain in front, had a tier of ruffles down the back. Pink and white roses made up both her bouquet and headdress.

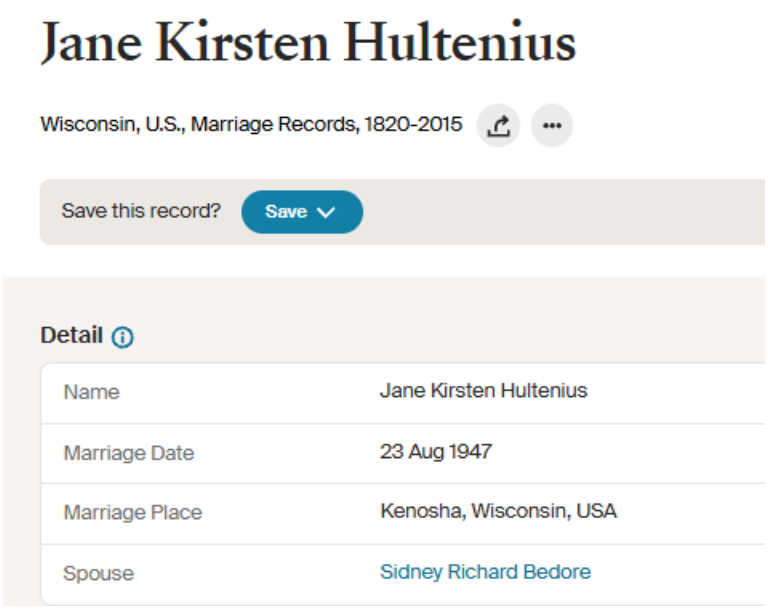

Blue ensembles like that of the matron of honor were worn by Miss Norma Lee Hultenius, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. James Phillips, bridesmaids. Carl Hultenius, brother of the bride, was best man, and Walter Roemer and James Phillips were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bedore received about 250 uests at the Simmons clubhouse after their wedding. Mrs. Bedore changed to a light grey frock, white hat and grey accessories when they left for a week's trip through Wisconsin. They will be at home at 5704 Thirty-third avenue, when they return.

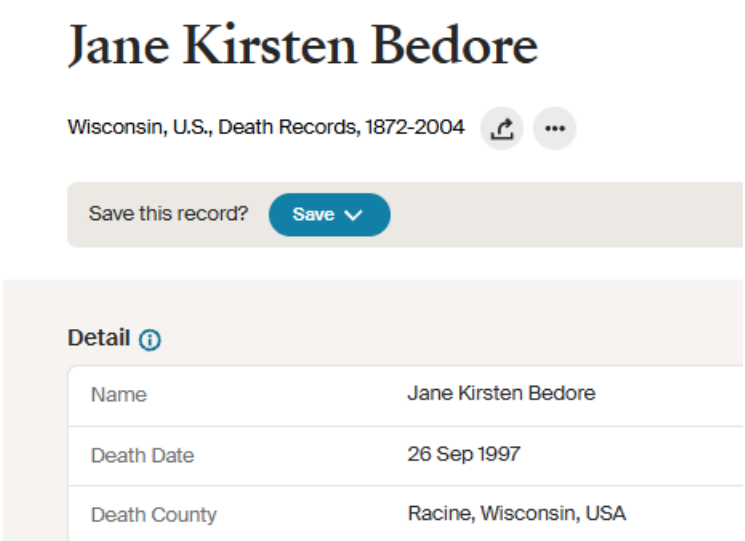

MRS. SIDNEY BEDORE — Rites at Bethany Lutheran church at 5 on Saturday afternoon united the former Miss Jane Hultenius and Mr. Bedore.
